This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. WHAT WE ARE TRYING TO DO.

Every Corporation as represented by its Trustees and Officers should have an ideal, a standard of Work, a goal of achievement toward which it should constantly strive. Here is what the

New York Life Insurance Company is trying to do:

1. To issue the best Life Insurance Contract.
2. To make the Promptest and Fullest Report of its Business and Conditions.
3. To do Business under the Supervision of Every Insurance Department in the World.
4. To have the Best, and the Best Organized Agency Force.
5. To insure as many good risks as Possible.

A Vigorous and Consistent Pursuit of these ideals has given the NEW YORK LIFE

1. The Largest Insurance Business, and
2. The Largest Annual Income of Any Life Company in the world.

For details address any of the Company's 200 Branch Offices, or

TIDE TABLES.

To find the time of high water for any place given in the table below, apply the correction opposite the place to the times of high water for its respective port given for every day on the twelve calendar pages of this Almanac. Add the correction to time of high water when it is plus, and subtract it when it is minus. Example: To find time of high water at Rockland, Me., on January 8, 1905:

Time of high water at Boston, January 8 ..... 0 56 a. m.
Correction for Rockland, Me. (see below)..... 0 26

Time of high water at Rockland, Me., January 8..... 0 30 a. m.

Corrections to times of high water at Boston for:	Correction.	Corrections to times of high water at New-York for:	Correction.	Corrections to times of high water at Charleston for:	Correction.

*Subtract or add 11h. 58m. 2s. for the previous or succeeding passage as required. Add 9.83s. for each hour east of Washington and subtract same for each hour west.

The azimuths in the above table, applied properly to the magnetic bearing of Polaris at the time of its greatest elongation east or west, will give the true variation of the magnetic needle from a true north direction, and will be of great use to all surveyors and engineers. When the elongation is east the azimuth will be east, and vice versa. At the present time the line of "No Variation" of the needle runs southeasterly from near Toledo, Ohio, to a point on the Atlantic Coast about fifty miles southwest of Cape Fear, N. C. East of that line the north end of the needle points west of a true north, and west of that line east of the true north. The country ma therefore be divided into eastern and western magnetic regions. In the "Eastern Region" the bearing of Polaris at its western elongation, if eastward, added to the azimuth, gives the desired variation west, but if westward, the bearing taken from the azimuth gives the variation west. The bearing of Polaris at its eastern elongation will be eastward, and the azimuth subtracted therefrom gives the variation west. In the "Western Region" the bearing of Polaris at its eastern elongation, if westward, added to the azimuth, gives the variation east; but if eastward, the bearing taken from the azimuth gives the variation east. The bearing of Polaris at its western elongation will be westward, and diminished by the azimuth gives the variation east. The azimuths in the table, given for two degree zones, are practically sufficient for all the United States except Alaska. For intermediate latitudes, and dates, the azimuths may be found by proportion sufficiently correct, or exactly by the formula, log sine azimuth equal log sine Polar distance of Polaris, minus log cosine latitude. The surveyor or engineer is on the line of "No Variation" when the bearing of Polaris at greatest elongation is the same as the azimuth

STANDARD TIME.

For the convenience of the railroads and business in general a standard of time was established by mutual agreement in 1883, and it is by this method of calculation that trains are now run and local time is regulated. In accordance with this system the United States, extending from 65° to 125° west longitude, is divided into four time sections, each of 15° of longitude, exactly equivalent to one hour (7½° or 30m. on each side of a meridian), commencing with the 75th meridian. The first or eastern section includes all territory between the Atlantic Coast and an irregular line drawn from Buffalo to Charleston, S. C., the latter city being its southernmost point. The second or central section includes all the territory between this eastern line and another irregular line extending from Bismarck, N. D., to the mouth of the Rio Grande. The third or moun ain section includes all the territory between the last named line and nearly the western borders of Idaho, Utah and Arizona. The fourth or Pacific section includes all the territory of the United States between the boundary of the mountain section and the Pacific Coast. Inside of each of these sections Standard time is uniform, and the time of each section differs from that next to it by exactly one hour.

The following is the table of times based upon the meridian used by the United States and Canada:

Name of time.	Degrees.	Central Meridian—from Greenwich.	Nearest place.
Intercolonial	60	4 hours west	About 3½ east of Halifax, N. S.
Eastern	75	5 hours west	Between New-York and Philadelphia.
Central	90	6 hours west	St. Louis and New-Orleans.
Mountain	105	7 hours west	Denver, Col.
ific	120	8 hours west	1½ east of Sacramento, Cal.
Sitka	135	9 hours west	¼ east of Sitka, Alaska.
..ii	150	10 hours west	½ west of the Island of Tahiti.
Hawaiian	157½	10h. 31m. west	Near centre of Molokai.

CHINESE CALENDAR.

The year 1905 corresponds nearly to the year 4602 of the Chinese Era, which is the 42d year of the 76th cycle of 60 years:

EXPLANATION AS TO TIME USED IN TABLES OF THIS ALMANAC.

In the astronomical tables only the seasons, moon's phases and high water are given in Standard time. All the others are given in mean or local time. It is obvious that to express the time of rising and setting of the sun and moon in Standard time would limit the usefulness of such data to the single point or place for which they were computed, while in mean time it is practically correct for places as widely separated as the width of the continent, and persons having the mean time may easily ascertain the correct Standard time of any event by making use of the following table:

To obtain Standard time, add or subtract the figures given to the mean or local time.

TO FIND THE TIME OF GREATEST ELONGATION OF POLARIS.

By adding the numbers in the annexed table for any given latitude to the time of meridian passage of Polaris (the Pole Star), the time of its greatest western elongation is found. If the same number be subtracted, instead of added, we get the time of greatest eastern elongation. At the time of either elongation the magnetic bearing may be taken with the transit compass, using that elongation which occurs at night. The eastern elongations occur at night from April 1 to October 11, and the western elongations occur at night all the rest of the year. Correct local time is to be used, and bearings on the star taken promptly on time; but an error of half a minute or even a minute in the timepiece will not invalidate the bearing, as Polaris moves then nearly vertically.

ECLIPSES.

There will be four eclipses this year, two of the sun and two of the moon, as follows:

I. A partial eclipse of the moon February 19. This will be invisible in the United States, except in the Pacific possessions; visible in Europe, Asia and Africa.

II. An annular eclipse of the sun March 6; invisible in the United States; visible in Australia, Indian and Antarctic oceans; partially in South Africa and Madagascar. The southernmost islands of the Philippines mark the northern boundary of the eclipse area, where there will be only a contact of limbs.

III. A partial eclipse of the moon on the evening of August 14 and morning of the 15th; visible in the United States, and generally in North and South America, Europe and Africa. The moon will pass through the northern limb of the earth's shadow, and therefore the eclipse will be upon the southern limb of the moon, eclipsing 3.4 digits of her diameter, or about one-third, as shown in the annexed figure. Visible as follows:

Phase of eclipse.	Inter-colonial Standard time.	Eastern Standard time.	Central Standard time.	Mountain Standard time.	Pacific Standard time.	Hawaiian Standard time.
	H. M.	H. M.	H. M.	H. M.	H. M.

Moon enters Umbra, or dark shadow, at a.....	10 39 pm	9 39 pm	8 39 pm	7 39 pm	6 39 pm	Invisible
Middle or greatest eclipse, at c	11 41 pm	10 41 pm	9 41 pm	8 41 pm	7 41 pm	Invisible
Moon leaves Umbra, or dark shadow, at b.....	0 43 am	11 43 pm	10 43 pm	9 43 pm	8 43 pm	Invisible
Moon leaves Penumbra, or light shadow	2 17 am	1 17 am	0 17 am	11 17 pm	10 17 pm	Invisible

Very slight diminution in brilliancy can be detected in the moon during the time it is in the Penumbra, and even during the time it is in the Umbra her complete outline can easily be traced.

IV. A total eclipse of the sun August 30; visible as a partial eclipse generally east of a line from Austin, Tex., through Denver, Col., to Helena, Mont. West of this line no phase of the eclipse will be visible. The eclipse will begin at the time of sunrise along the general line of the Atlantic Coast from Cape Hatteras up to Cape Charles, and thence to Washington and Harrisburg, Penn., to Toronto, Canada. The middle or greatest partial eclipse will occur at sunrise along a line running from De Funiac Springs, Fla., through or near Montgomery, Ala.; Birmingham, Ala.; Lexington, Ky.; Springfield, Ill.; Dubuque, Iowa, and St. Paul, Minn., to Lake of the Woods, the western terminus of the belt of totality. From this point the path of the total eclipse varies easterly through James Bay and Labrador, thence on across the Atlantic, through Northern Spain, the Mediterranean Sea, Northern Africa, across the Red Sea, and ends on the east coast of Arabia. The following is the standard time of the different phases:

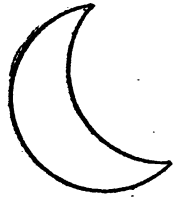
*Sun rises eclipsed.



SOLAR ECLIPSE OF AUGUST 30.

THE PLANETS.

Mercury will be brightest—

(1). As a morning star, west of the sun, January 12 to 15 and September 18 to 22, rising shortly before the sun.

(2) As an evening star, east of the sun, March 23 to 28 and December 1 to 3, setting shortly after the sun.

Greatest western elongations of Mercury: January 22, 24° 29'; May 21, 25° 26'; September 15, 17° 54'.

Greatest eastern elongations of Mercury: April 4, 19° 11'; August 2, 27° 18'; November 27, 21° 41'.

Venus will be brightest March 21 as an evening star, and June 2 as a morning star. (See table of the planets.) The close approach of Venus to the moon and other planets will be noted in the table of phenomena, which see. She will present a slightly gibbous phase at the beginning of the year, which will gradually diminish to a half-moon phase on February 14, when she is at her greatest angular distance ("greatest elongation") east of the sun—46° 41'—although she will from that time steadily approach the sun; she will at the same time increase in brilliancy until March 21 because of her decreasing distance from the earth. At this time only about one-quarter of the hemisphere presented to the earth will be illuminated. From that time on her brilliancy will decrease until April 27 when she will be at inferior conjunction with the sun, or between us and that body. After April 27 she must be looked for in the east in the morning, her illuminated crescent toward the sun and the cusps up. Her apparent diameter will steadily decrease during the remainder of the year, though on June 2 she will be at her brightest again. An opera glass, field glass or small telescope will show her phases at these times. On July 6 she will again be at her greatest angular distance (45° 44') from the sun, but west. See table of rising and setting of the planets, and for her movement among the stars or through the constellations see the table giving the place of the planets for the Sundays of the year.)

Mars will be brightest May 8, when he will pass the meridian at midnight, being at "opposition," or 180° from the sun. He will be brighter, because nearer, at each succeeding opposition from this on to his opposition in 1907, when he will occupy about the same relative position that he did at the time of his opposition in 1892. At that time Mars will be at his least distance from the sun, while the earth is at its greatest distance, or, in astronomical terms Mars will be at Perihelion and earth at Aphelion, and thus the two planets must be separated by the least distance possible. At such times Mars is something like 30,000,000 miles nearer to us than when these conditions are reversed.

Jupiter will be brightest November 24, when he will be at opposition. The eclipses of the satellites of Jupiter will take place to the right of the planet, in an inverting telescope, up to May, and after that upon the left. The satellites will not be easily seen between the last of March and the first of June, as the planet will be in conjunction with the sun May 4. Only the reappearances from the shadow, or an eclipse, will be seen from January to March in the case of the two inner moons, and from June to December the disappearances.

Saturn will be brightest August 23, when he will pass the meridian at midnight. The ring system of this planet can be observed to better advantage during January than later on.

Uranus will be brightest June 24. Neptune will be brightest December 31.

MORNING STARS—WEST OF SUN.

INFERIOR PLANETS.

Mercury (☿), until March 9, from April 23 to June 24, August 29 to October 12 and after December 15.

Venus (♀), after April 27.

SUPERIOR PLANETS.

Mars (♂), until January 26.

Jupiter (♃), from May 4 to August 29.

Saturn (♄), from February 12 to May 24.

Uranus (♅), until March 25 and after December 26.

Neptune (♆), from June 30 to October 4.

EVENING STARS—EAST OF SUN.

INFERIOR PLANETS.

Mercury, from March 9 to April 23, June 24 to August 29, and October 12 to December 15.

Venus, until April 27.

SUPERIOR PLANETS.

Mars, after January 26.

Jupiter, until May 4 and after August 29.

Saturn, until February 12 and after May 24.

Uranus, from March 25 to December 26.

Neptune, until June 30 and after October 4.

Explanation.—To ascertain when any star or constellation will be on the upper meridian, add the numbers opposite in the column "for meridian passage" to the figures in the column "Sidereal noon" in the table for surveycrs and engineers for the desired date, interpolating for dates between those given. Note whether the figures be "Morn" or "Eve." If "Morn" and the sum is more than 12 hours, the result will be evening of the same day; if "Eve." and the sum is more than 12 hours, the result will be morning of the next day. Having found the time of meridian passage, for the rising subtract and for the setting add the numbers opposite the name of the star in the column headed "For rising and setting," observing the directions as to "Morn" and Eve." as given above. Those stars marked —— in the last column are circumpolar and do not rise or set in the latitude of New-York City. Stars having an asterisk (*) in the last column are only to be seen in the far south and when near the meridian, as the vapors of the horizon will obscure them at rising or setting.

To tell how high up from the nearest point of the horizon a star will be at its meridian passage, subtract the declination of the star from 90°, and if the result is less than the latitude of the place of the observer that star will neither rise nor set, but is circumpolar, and the difference between that result and the latitude shows the star's altitude above the north point of the horizon or below the southern horizon. Or, (90° — dec.) —latitude = altitude or elevation of the star above the nearest point of the horizon at meridian passage for stars of a south declination. Examples:

Sidereal noon, November 5..... 10 23 p. m.
Fomalhaut in "meridian" column.... 22 48

9 11 p. m. of the 6th = Time of meridian passage.

9 11 p. m.
4 0 in "Rising and setting" column.

9 11 p. m.

5 11 p. m. = Time of rising.

1 11 a. m. of the 7th = Time of setting.

Declination of Fomalhaut = 30° south; therefore 90° — 30° = 60° — 40° = 20° = altitude of Fomalhaut in latitude 40° north at the time of the meridian passage of that star. To measure celestial distances with the eye, keep in mind that one-third of the distance from the zenith to the horizon is 30°. For smaller measurements use the "Pointers" in the "Big Dipper," which are nearly 5° apart—a convenient celestial unit because always in sight. The "Yardstick" or "Ell and Yard" in Orion, or the "Kings," is just 3° long, or 1½° each way from the central star (see Star table). When the declination of a star is such as to bring it nearer to the zenith than to the horizon at meridian passage, use its zenith distance to locate it. The difference between latitude and declination = zenith distance. If declination is greater than latitude, such difference is to be counted northward (otherwise southward) from zenith.

Note.—The time for the phenomena given in the table on the preceding page is for the geocentric event, and as seen from the earth's surface the error may be as much as 21m., more or less; but the given time is near enough for all purposes and places.

Explanatory.—The sign ☌ signifies conjunction, or when an imaginary line from the north star through one of two planets or bodies in the same quarter of the heavens will also pass through the other one.

In the case of the moon and any other body, when the distance apart is 16′ or less there is apt to be an occultation, as the moon's apparent semi-diameter is about 16′. This will be the case on December 30, when the centre of the moon and of Mars are only 4′ of arc apart. This occultation will be visible everywhere between the latitudes 32°— and 34°+, where these bodies are above the horizon at 5h. 31m. p. m., Washington mean time.

The inferior planets are said to be at "greatest elongation" when they attain their greatest angular distance east or west of the sun. Planets are said to be "stationary" when they are in that portion of their orbit whence their motion is in the same direction as our line of vision, and hence they can have no apparent motion to us. Bodies are at Perihelion when nearest the sun, and at Aphelion when furthest from him. The sign ☍ signifies opposition, or 180° east or west from the sun.

The sign □ signifies quadrature, or 90° east or west from the sun.

SITUATION OF THE PRINCIPAL PLANETS.

Planet.	Jan.	Feb.	Mar.	Apr.	May.	June	July.	Aug.	Sept.	Oct.	Nov.	Dec.

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

PREAMBLE.

We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defence, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I.

Congress and Its Powers.

Section 1. All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

Sec. 2. The House of Representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several States, and the electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State Legislature. No person shall be a Representative who shall not have attained the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen. Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of Representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each State shall have at least one Representative, and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New-Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New-York six, New-Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five and Georgia three. When vacancies happen in the representation from any State, the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies. The House of Representatives shall choose their Speaker and other officers, and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

Representatives, How Chosen.

Sec. 3. The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen by the Legislature thereof, for six years; and each Senator shall have one vote. Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the Senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year; of the second class, at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class, at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen by resignation or otherwise during the recess of the Legislature of any State, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies. No person shall be a Senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen. The Vice-President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no vote unless they be equally divided. The Senate shall choose their other officers, and also a President pro tempore in the absence of the Vice-President, or when he shall exercise the office of President of the United States. The Senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose, they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside, and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present. Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States; but the party convicted shall, nevertheless, be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment and punishment, according to law.

Senators, Choice, Organization, Impeachment Trials.

Sec. 4. The times, places and manner of holding elections for Senators and Representatives shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing Senators. The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

Elections to Congress—Assemblings.

Sec. 5. Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide. Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy, and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal. Neither house, during the session of Congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

Sec. 6. The Senators and Representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the Treasury of the United States. They shall, in all cases except treason, felony and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place. No Senator or Representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

Compensations and Privileges.

Sec. 7. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills. Every bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the President of the United States; if he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such reconsideration two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of that house it shall become a law. But in all cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the President within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless Congress by their adjournment prevents its return, in which case it shall not be a law. Every order, resolution or vote to which the concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the same shall take effect shall be approved by him, or, being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

Revenue Bills—Procedure—President's Action.

Sec. 8. The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises, to pay the debts and provide for the common defence and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States; to borrow money on the credit of the United States; to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States and with the Indian tribes; to establish a uniform rule of naturalization, and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States; to coin money, regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights and measures; to provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States; to establish postoffices and postroads; to promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing for limited times to authors and inventors the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries; to constitute tribunals inferior to the Supreme Court, to define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offences against the laws of nations; to declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water; to raise and support armies, but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years; to provide and maintain a navy, to make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces; to provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections and expel invasions; to provide for organizing, arming and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the States respectively the appointment of the officers and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress; to exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular States, and the acceptance of Congress, become the seat of government of the United States, and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent of the Legislature of the State in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dockyards, and other needful buildings; and to make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this Constitution in the Government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

General Powers of Congress.

Creation of New States.

Sec. 3. New States may be admitted by the Congress into this Union; but no new State shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other State; nor any State be formed by the junction of two or more States, or part of States, without the consent of the Legislature of the States concerned as well as of the Congress. The Congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States, or of any particular State.

Guaranty of Republican Government.

Sec. 4. The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion, and on application of the Legislature, or of the executive (when the Legislature cannot be convened) against domestic violence.

ARTICLE V.

Amendments to Constitution.

Action by Congress—Ratification.

The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several States, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which in either case shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress; provided that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article; and that no State, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate.

ARTICLE VI.

Supreme Authority of Constitution.

Debts and Treaties—Official Oaths—No Religious Test.

All debts contracted and engagements entered into before the adoption of this Constitution shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution as under the confederation. This Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every State shall be bound thereby, anything in the Constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding. The Senators and Representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several State legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several States, shall be bound by oath or affirmation to support this Constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII.

Ratification of Constitution.

Nine States Sufficient to Establish.

The ratification of the convention of nine States shall be sufficient for the establishment of this Constitution between the States so ratifying the same.

Done in convention by the unanimous consent of the States present, the seventeenth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven, and of the independence of the United States of America the twelfth. In witness whereof we have hereunto subscribed our names.

AMENDMENTS.

Earlier Amendments.

(The first ten amendments were proposed at the first session of the 1st Congress of the United States which was begun and held at the city of New-York on March 4, 1789, and were adopted by the requisite number of States.—1 vol. Laws of U. S., p. 72. They together constitute a Bill of Rights.) The following is the preamble and resolution: Congress of the United States begun and held at the city of New-York, on Wednesday, the 4th of March, 1789. The conventions of a number of the States having at the time of their adopting the Constitution expressed a desire, in order to prevent misconstruction or abuse of its powers, that further declaratory and restrictive clauses should be added; and as extending the ground of public confidence in the government will best insure the beneficent ends of its institution—

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, two-thirds of both houses concurring, That the following articles be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States as amendments to the Constitution of the United States, all or any of which articles, when ratified by three-fourths of said Legislatures, to be valid to all intents and purposes as part of said Constitution, namely:

ARTICLE I.—Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

ARTICLE II.—A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

ARTICLE III.—No soldier shall in time of peace be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE IV.—The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated, and no warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the persons or things to be seized.

ARTICLE V.—No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces or in the militia when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.

ARTICLE VI.—In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel for his defence.

ARTICLE VII.—In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed $20, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury shall be otherwise re-examined in any court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

ARTICLE VIII.—Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

ARTICLE IX.—The enumeration in the Constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

ARTICLE X.—The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

ARTICLE XI.—(Proposed by Congress held at Philadelphia, December 2, 1793; ratification declared by President, January 8, 1798.) The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another State, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign State.

ARTICLE XII.—(Proposed at first session of VIIIth Congress, in Washington, October 17, 1803; ratification announced by Secretary of State, September 25, 1804.)

Election of President and Vice-President.

The electors shall meet in their respective States and vote by ballot for President and Vice-President, one of whom at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same State with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the persons voted for as President, and in distinct ballots the persons voted for as Vice-President, and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President, and of all persons voted for as Vice-President, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted; the person having the greatest number of votes for President shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three on the list of those voted for as President, the House of Representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the President. But in choosing the President, the vote shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the Vice-President shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President. The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice-President shall be the Vice-President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed, and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the Senate shall choose the Vice-President; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of President shall be eligible to that of Vice-President of the United States.

Amendments Following Civil War.

ARTICLE XIII.—(Proposed by Congress February 1, 1865; ratification announced by Secretary of State, December 18, 1865.) Section 1. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

Sec. 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

ARTICLE XIV.—(Proposed by Congress June 16, 1866; ratification announced by Secretary of State, July 25, 1868.) Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States, and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Sec. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Sec. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President or Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; but Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each house, remove such disability.

(Note.—On June 7, 1898, President McKinley approved of an act of Congress which declared that "the disabilities imposed by Section 3, XIVth Amendment of the Constitution, heretofore incurred, are hereby removed.")

Sec. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing the insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

Sec. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

ARTICLE XV.—(Proposed by Congress February 27, 1869; ratification announced by Secretary of State, March 30, 1870.) Section 1. The right of the citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude.

Sec. 2. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

THE PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION LAW.

The Presidential succession is fixed by Chapter 1 of the acts of the XLIXth Congress, first session. In case of the removal, death, resignation or inability of both the President and Vice-President, then the Secretary of State shall act as President until the disability of the President or Vice-President is removed or a President is elected. If there be no Secretary of State, then the Secretary of the Treasury will act, and the remainder of the order of succession is as follows: The Secretary of War, Attorney-General, Postmaster-General, Secretary of the Navy and Secretary of the Interior. The Acting President must, upon taking office, convene Congress, if not at the time in session, in extraordinary session, giving twenty days' notice. This act applies only to such Cabinet officers as shall have been appointed by the advice and consent of the Senate, and are eligible under the Constitution to the Presidency.

The act of Congress raising the Department of Agriculture to the rank of an executive department and giving its head a seat in the President's Cabinet and the act creating the Department of Commerce and Labor were both passed subsequently to the Presidential succession act. By intention or inadvertence Congress did not extend the provisions of the succession act to these two additional Cabinet officers. There is no warrant for considering the Secretary of Agriculture and the Secretary of Commerce and Labor as in the line of succession. But no judicial interpretation has yet been made of the provisions of the Succession Law and of the acts creating the eighth and ninth executive departments.

UNITED STATES MILITARY ACADEMY.

SUPERINTENDENT, BRIGADIER GENERAL A. L. MILLS, U. S. A.

The United States Military Academy at West Point was founded in 1802. Each Congress district and Territory, the District of Columbia and Porto Rico is entitled to have one cadet at the academy. Each State is also entitled to have two cadets at the academy from the State at large. Forty are also appointed from the United States at large. The appointments (except those from the United States at large and from the District of Columbia) are made by the Secretary of War at the request of the Senator, Representative or Delegate in Congress and the person appointed must be an actual resident of the State, District or Territory from which the appointment is made. The appointments from the United States at large and from the District of Columbia are specially conferred by the President. The appointment of the cadet from Porto Rico is made by the President on the recommendation of the Resident Commissioner from Porto Rico. The number of students is thus limited to 522.

Appointments are required by law to be made one year in advance of date of admission, and may be made either after competitive examination or given direct, at the option of the Representative. For each candidate appointed there may be nominated two alternates, who will be examined with the regular nominee, and one of whom may be admitted in the event of the latter's failure to pass the prescribed preliminary examinations. Appointees to the Military Academy must be between seventeen and twenty-two years of age at date of admission, at least five feet three inches in height, weigh 100 pounds, be unmarried, free from any infectious or moral disorder, and, generally, from any deformity, disease or infirmity; must be well versed in reading, in writing, including orthography, in arithmetic, and have a knowledge of the elements of English grammar, of descriptive geography (particularly of the United States), and of the history of the United States. The course of instruction requires four years, and is largely mathematical and professional.

The principal subjects taught are mathematics, French, drawing, tactics of all arms of the service, natural and experimental philosophy, chemistry, mineralogy, geology and electricity, history, international, constitutional and military law, Spanish, and civil and military engineering and science of war. Academic duties commence September 1 and continue until June 1. Examinations are held in each December and June, and cadets deficient in either conduct or studies are discharged. From about the middle of June to the end of August cadets live in camp, engaged only in military duties and receiving practical military instruction. Cadets are allowed but one leave of absence during the four years' course and, as a rule, it is granted at the expiration of the first two years. The pay of a cadet, with commutation for ration, is $609 50 a year, and with proper economy is sufficient for his support. Upon graduating cadets are commissioned as second lieutenants in the United States Army.

MANNER OF APPLICATION.—Applications may be made at any time, by letter, to the Secretary of War, to have the applicant's name registered for submission to the proper Representative when a vacancy occurs. The application must exhibit the full name, date of birth and permanent abode of applicant, with the number of the Congress district in which his residence is situated. Immediately after his admission, and before receiving his warrant of appointment, the cadet must sign the following engagement for service, in the presence of the Superintendent or some officer deputed by him: "I, ——— ———, of the State (or Territory of) ———, aged ——— years ——— months, do hereby engage (with the consent of my parent or guardian) that, from the date of my admission as a cadet of the United States Military Academy, I will serve in the Army of the United States for eight years, unless sooner discharged by competent authority. In the presence ——— ——— ———." The candidate must then take the following oath or affirmation: "I, ——— ———, do solemnly swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States, and bear true allegiance to the National Government; that I will maintain and defend the sovereignty of the United States paramount to any and all allegiance, sovereignty or fealty I may owe to any State or country whatsoever, and that I will at all times obey the legal orders of my superior officers, and the rules and articles governing the armies of the United States."

NOTES.—Under Sec. 1,261, Revised Statutes, an aide-de-camp to a major-general is allowed $200 a year in addition to the pay of his rank, not to be included in computing the service increase; an aide-de-camp to a brigadier-general, $150 a year, and an acting commissary of subsistence $100 a year. Assistant surgeons are entitled to pay of captain after five years' service, service to be reckoned from date of acceptance of appointment or commission.

Retired officers receive 75 per cent of pay (salary and increase) of their rank. Retired officers detailed for duty at colleges under the act of November 3, 1893, are entitled to the full pay of officers of corresponding rank. Those detailed under other laws are not entitled to anything beyond their retired pay.

Mileage, from and after July 1, 1898, is allowed to officers travelling on duty under orders at the rate of seven cents per mile, by the shortest usually travelled routes. Commutation of quarters is paid at the rate of $12 per month per room.

The monthly pay of enlisted men in the Army is as follows: Artillery, infantry and cavalry—Privates, $13; corporals, $15; sergeants, $18; first sergeants, $25. Engineers and ordnance—Corporals, $20; sergeants, $34. The pay increases $1 per month each year during the term of the first five years' enlistment. For the second term of enlistment the pay is $2 per month above that of the last year of the first enlistment. The pay of others on the first year of enlistment is, Ordnance sergeant, commissary sergeant and post quartermaster sergeant, $34; hospital steward, $45; acting hospital steward, $25; senior veterinary surgeon, $100; junior veterinary surgeon, $75. There is, in addition, a clothing allowance. Twenty per cent increase on pay proper of all enlisted men is allowed in time of war. Enlisted men when retired are entitled to 75 per cent of the pay which they receive in active service.

NAVAL PAY TABLE.

Section 13 of the Navy Personnel bill, which became a law on March 3, 1899, provided that "after June 30, 1899, commissioned officers of the line of the Navy and of the Medical and Pay Corps shall receive the same pay and allowances, except forage, as are or may be provided by or in pursuance of law for officers of corresponding rank in the Army: Provided, that such officers when on shore duty shall receive the allowances, but 15 per centum less pay than when on sea duty; but this provision shall not apply to warrant officers commissioned under Section 12 of this act. Provided further, that when naval officers are detailed for shore duty beyond seas they shall receive the same pay and allowances as are or may be provided by or in pursuance of law for officers of the Army detailed for duty in similar places." The pay of officers of the Army of and below the rank of colonel is increased 10 per cent for each five years of service in the grade, until the increase amounts to 40 per cent of the original pay, when no further increase may be made. The pay of a retired officer is 75 per cent of the highest pay of his grade on the active list.

The relative rank between officers of the Navy (whether on the active or retired list) and officers of the Army is as follows: Admiral with general, rear admiral with major general and brigadier general, captain with colonel, commander with lieutenant colonel, lieutenant commander with major, lieutenant with captain, lieutenant of junior grade with first lieutenant, ensign with second lieutenant. The following is the pay table:

UNITED STATES NAVAL ACADEMY.

Situated at Annapolis, Md.

SUPERINTENDENT, CAPTAIN WILLARD H. BROWNSON, U. S. N.

Nomination.—The students of the Naval Academy are styled midshipmen. Two midshipmen are allowed for each Senator, Representative and Delegate in Congress, two for the District of Columbia, and five each year from the United States at large. The appointments from the District of Columbia and five each year at large are made by the President. One midshipman is allowed from Porto Rico, who must be a native of that island. The appointment is made by the President, on the recommendation of the Governor of Porto Rico.

The Congressional appointments are equitably distributed, so that in regular course each Senator, Representative and Delegate in Congress may appoint one midshipman during each Congress. After June 30, 1913, each Senator, Representative and Delegate in Congress will be allowed to appoint only one midshipman instead of two.

The course for midshipmen is six years—four years at the academy, when the succeeding appointment is made, and two years at sea, at the expiration of which time the examination for final graduation takes place. Midshipmen who pass the examination for final graduation are appointed to fill vacancies in the lower grades of the line of the navy and of the Marine Corps, in the order of merit as determined by the Academic Board of the Naval Academy.

The Naval Appropriation act of March 4, 1903, prescribed this method of nominations: "The Secretary of the Navy shall as soon as practicable after the fifth day of March in each year notify in writing each Senator, Representative and Delegate in Congress of any vacancy which may be regarded as existing in the State, district or Territory which he represents, and the nomination of a candidate to fill such vacancy shall be made upon the recommendation of the Senator, Representative or Delegate. Such recommendation shall be made by the first day of June of that year, and if not so made the Secretary of the Navy shall fill the vacancy by the appointment of an actual resident of the State, district or Territory in which the vacancy exists, who shall have been for at least two years immediately preceding his appointment an actual bona fide resident of the State, district or Territory in which the vacancy exists and shall have the qualifications otherwise prescribed by law.

"And provided further, that the Superintendent of the Naval Academy shall make such rules, to be approved by the Secretary of the Navy, as will effectually prevent the practice of hazing; and any cadet found guilty of participating in or encouraging or countenancing such practice shall be summarily expelled from the Academy, and shall not thereafter be reappointed to the corps of cadets or be eligible for appointment as a commissioned officer in the army or navy or Marine Corps until two years after the graduation of the class of which he was a member."

Candidates allowed for Congressional districts, for Territories and for the District of Columbia must be actual residents of the districts or Territories, respectively, from which they are nominated. All candidates must, at the time of their examination for admission, be between sixteen and twenty years old.

Entrance Examinations.—The following examinations for admission are held:

1. The general examination, to be held on the third Tuesday in April, under the supervision of the Civil Service Commission, at points named by the Commission.

2. A second examination to be held at Washington, D. C., only, on the second Tuesday in May, under the supervision of the Civil Service Commission.

3. A third examination will be held at Annapolis, Md., only, on the third Tuesday in June, under the supervision of the Superintendent of the Naval Academy.

Candidates are examined mentally only at the examinations held under the supervision of the Civil Service Commission. All those qualifying mentally who are entitled to appointment in order of nomination will be notified by the Superintendent of the Academy when to report at the Academy for physical examination, and if physically qualified will be appointed. Should any special examination be authorized by the Secretary, other than above, it will be immediately after the third Tuesday in June.

Under the law, candidates failing to pass the entrance examination will not be allowed another examination for admission to the same class unless recommended for re-examination by the Board of Examiners. The Civil Service Commission only conducts the examination of candidates whose names have been furnished by the Navy Department. All correspondence relative to the nomination and examination of candidates should be addressed to the Bureau of Navigation, Navy Department. Candidates will be examined physically at the Naval Academy by a board composed of three medical officers of the navy. To be accepted applicants must be free from infectious or moral disorder and, generally, from any deformity, disease or infirmity. No one will be admitted manifestly under size for his age. Five feet is the minimum height prescribed for acceptance. When any candidate who has been nominated upon the recommendation of a Senator, Member or Delegate of the House of Representatives is found, upon examination, to be physically or mentally disqualified for admission, the Senator, Member or Delegate shall be notified to recommend another candidate, who shall be examined according to the provisions of the preceding section.

Candidates are required to enter the Academy immediately after passing the prescribed examinations. No leave of absence is granted midshipmen of the fourth class. Each midshipman must sign articles binding himself to serve in the U. S. Navy eight years (including his time of probation at the Naval Academy), unless sooner discharged.

The pay of a midshipman is $500 a year, beginning on admission.

Graduate Appointments.—Appointments to fill all vacancies that may occur during a year in the lower grades of the line of the Navy and of the Marine Corps are made from the midshipmen, graduates of the year, at the conclusion of their six years' course, in the order of merit as determined by the Academic Board. At least fifteen appointments from such graduates will be made each year. To surplus graduates who do not receive such appointments will be given a certificate of graduation, an honorable discharge and one year's sea pay, as provided for midshipmen.

NOTE.—Consular agencies are attached above to the consulates of which they are branch offices. Abbreviations used are: (C. G.), Consul General; (V. C. G.), Vice-Consul General; (C.), Consul; (V. C.), Vice-Consul; (C. A.), Commercial Agent; (A.), Consular Agent. [1]Also Minister Resident. [2]Allowed to engage in business. All consular officials not receiving fixed salaries have the same privilege. [3]Also Diplomatic Agent. [4]Also Secretary of Legation. The aggregate of official fees, when not exceeding $2,500, is retained by officers not receiving a salary fixed by law; any surplus over $2,500 is turned into the Treasury. Consuls who receive a fixed salary retain notarial fees only, and are accountable to the government for all official fees received by them.

On September 20, 1895, an executive order was issued incorporating in the Federal Civil Service the Consular Service to the extent embraced in this paragraph: "It is hereby ordered that any vacancy in a consulate or commercial agency now or hereafter existing, the salary of which is not more than $2,500, nor less than $1,000, or the compensation of which, if derived from official fees, exclusive of notarial and other unofficial receipts, does not exceed $2,500, nor fall below $1,000, shall be filled (1) by a transfer or promotion from some other position under the Department of State of a character tending to qualify the incumbent for the position to be filled; or (2) by appointment of a person not under the Department of State, but having previously served thereunder to its satisfaction in a capacity tending to qualify him for the position to be filled; or (3) by the appointment of a person who, having furnished the customary evidence of character, responsibility, and capacity, and being thereupon selected by the President for examination, is found upon such examination to be qualified for the position."

THE FIFTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS

Reciprocity with Cuba.

An act approved December 17, 1903, entitled "An act to carry into effect a convention between the United States and the Republic of Cuba, signed December 11, 1902, provides that whenever the President of the United States shall receive satisfactory evidence that the Republic of Cuba has made provision to give full effect to the articles of the convention between the United States and Cuba, signed on December 11, 1902, he is authorized to issue his proclamation declaring that he has received such evidence, and thereupon on the tenth day after exchange of ratifications of such convention between the United States and the Republic of Cuba, and so long as the said convention shall remain in force, all articles of merchandise being the product of the soil or industry of the Republic of Cuba, which are now imported into the United States free of duty, shall continue to be so admitted free of duty, and all other articles of merchandise being the product of the soil or industry of the Republic of Cuba imported into the United States shall be admitted at a reduction of 20 per centum of the rates of duty thereon, as provided by the tariff act of the United States, approved July 24, 1897, or as may be provided by any tariff law of the United States subsequently enacted. The rates of duty herein granted by the United States to the Republic of Cuba are and shall continue during the term of said convention preferential in respect to all like imports from other countries. Provided, that while said convention is in force no sugar imported from the Republic of Cuba, and being the product of the soil or industry of the Republic of Cuba, shall be admitted into the United States at a reduction of duty greater than 20 per centum of the rates of duty thereon, as provided by the tariff act of the United States, approved July 24, 1897, and no sugar the product of any other foreign country shall be admitted by treaty or convention into the United States while this convention is in force at a lower rate of duty than that provided by the tariff act of the United States, approved July 24, 1897. And provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be held or construed as an admission on the part of the House of Representatives that customs duties can be changed otherwise than by an act of Congress, originating in said House.

Section 2 provides that so long as said convention shall remain in force, the laws and regulations adopted, or that may be adopted, by the United States to protect the revenues and prevent fraud in the declarations and proofs, that the articles of merchandise to which said convention may apply are the product or manufacture of the Republic of Cuba, shall not impose any additional charge or fees therefor on the articles imported, excepting the consular fees established, or which may be established, by the United States for issuing shipping documents, which fees shall not be higher than those charged on the shipments of similar merchandise from any other nation whatsoever; that articles of the Republic of Cuba shall receive, on their importation into the ports of the United States, treatment equal to that which similar articles of the United States shall receive on their importation into the ports of the Republic of Cuba; that any tax or charge that may be imposed by the national or local authorities of the United States upon the articles of merchandise of the Republic of Cuba, embraced in the provisions of said convention, subsequent to importation and prior to their entering into consumption into the United States, shall be imposed and collected without discrimination upon like articles whencesoever imported.

[For concessions allowed by Cuba on imports from the United States, see text of Cuban Reciprocity Treaty, in Tribune Almanac for 1904.]

Government of Isthmian Canal Zone.

An act approved on April 28, 1904, entitled "An act to provide for the temporary government of the canal zone of Panama, and for other purposes," authorized the President, upon the acquisition of the property of the New Panama Canal Company and the payment to the Republic of Panama of the ten millions of dollars provided by Article XIV of the treaty between the United States and the Republic of Panama, the ratifications of which were exchanged on February 26, 1904, to be paid to the latter government, to take possession of and occupy on behalf of the United States the zone of land and land under water of the width of ten miles, extending to the distance of five miles on each side of the centre line of the route of the canal to be constructed thereon, which said zone begins in the Caribbean Sea three marine miles from mean low-water mark and extends to and across the Isthmus of Panama into the Pacific Ocean to the distance of three marine miles from mean low-water mark, and also of all islands within said zone, and in addition thereto the group of islands in the Bay of Panama named Perico, Naos, Culebra, and Flamenco, and, from time to time, of any lands and waters outside of said zone which may be necessary and convenient for the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation, and protection of the said canal, or of any auxiliary canals or other works necessary and convenient for the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and protection of said enterprise, the use, occupation and control whereof were granted to the United States by Article II of said treaty. The said zone is hereinafter referred to as "the Canal Zone." The payment of the ten millions of dollars provided by Article XIV of said treaty shall be made in lieu of the indefinite appropriation made in the third section of the act of June 28, 1902, and is hereby appropriated for said purpose.

Section 2 provides that until the expiration of the LVIIIth Congress, unless provision for the temporary government of the Canal Zone be sooner made by Congress, all the military, civil and judicial powers, as well as the power to make all rules and regulations necessary for the government of the Canal Zone, and all the rights, powers and authority granted by the terms of said treaty to the United States, shall be vested in such person or persons and shall be exercised in such manner as the President shall direct for the government of said zone, and maintaining and protecting the inhabitants thereof in the free enjoyment of their liberty, property and religion.

Chinese Exclusion.

Section 5 of the general deficiency appropriation act, approved April 27, amended section 1 of the act of Congress, approved April 29, 1902, entitled "An act to prohibit the coming into and to regulate the residence within the United States, its territories, and all territory under its jurisdiction, and the District of Columbia, of Chinese and persons of Chinese descent," to read as follows:

"All laws in force on April 29, 1902, regulating, suspending or prohibiting the coming of Chinese persons or persons of Chinese descent into the United States, and the residence of such persons therein, including sections 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 13 and 14 of the act entitled 'An act to prohibit the coming of Chinese laborers into the United States,' approved September 13, 1888, be, and the same are hereby, re-enacted, extended and continued, without modification, limitation or condition; and said laws shall also apply to the island territory under the jurisdiction of the United States, and prohibit the immigration of Chinese laborers, not citizens of the United States, from such island territory to the mainland territory of the United States, whether in such island territory at the time of cession or not, and from one portion of the island territory of the United States to another portion of said island territory. Provided, however, that said laws shall not apply to the transit of Chinese laborers from one island to another island of the same group; and any islands within the jurisdiction of any State or the District of Alaska shall be considered a part of the mainland under this section."

Shipping Trade with the Philippines.

An act approved April 15, entitled "An act to regulate shipping in trade between ports of the United States and ports or places in the Philippine Archipelago, between ports or places in the Philippine Archipelago, and for other purposes," provided that on or after July 1, 1906, no merchandise, except supplies for the army or navy, shall be transported by sea, under penalty of forfeiture thereof, between ports of the United States and ports or places in the Philippine Archipelago, directly or via a foreign port, or for any part of the voyage, in any other vessel than a vessel of the United States. But this section shall not be construed to prohibit the sailing of any foreign vessel between any port of the United States and any port or place in the Philippine Archipelago. Provided, that no merchandise other than that imported in such vessel from some foreign port which has been specified on the manifest as for another port, and which shall not have been unloaded, shall be carried between a port of the United States and a port or place in the Philippine Archipelago. On and after July 1, 1906, no foreign vessel shall transport passengers between ports of the United States and ports or places in the Philippine Archipelago either directly or by way of a foreign port, under a penalty of $200 for each passenger so transported and landed.

But these sections shall not apply to the transportation of merchandise or passengers between ports or places in the Philippine Archipelago. Until Congress shall have authorized the registry as vessels of the United States of vessels owned in the Philippine Archipelago, the government of the Philippine Islands is hereby authorized to adopt, from time to time, and enforce regulations governing the transportation of merchandise and passengers between ports or places in the Philippine Archipelago.

Nor shall they apply to the voyage of a vessel between a port of the United States and a port or place in the Philippine Archipelago begun before July 1, 1906; nor to vessels owned by the United States.

On and after the passage of the act the same tonnage taxes shall be levied, collected and paid upon all foreign vessels coming into the United States from the Philippine Archipelago which are required by law to be levied, collected and paid upon vessels coming into the United States from foreign countries. Provided, however, that until July 1, 1906, the provisions of law restricting to vessels of the United States the transportation of passengers and merchandise, directly or indirectly, from one port of the United States to another port of the United States, shall not be applicable to foreign vessels engaging in trade between the Philippine Archipelago and the United States. And provided further, that the Philippine commission shall be authorized and empowered to issue licenses to engage in lighterage or other exclusively harbor business to vessels or other craft actually engaged in such business at the date of the passage of this act, and to vessels or other craft built in the Philippine Islands or in the United States, and owned by citizens of the United States or by inhabitants of the Philippine Islands.

This act shall not be construed to impair or affect any privilege guaranteed to Spanish ships and merchandise by the treaty of peace between the United States and Spain signed at the city of Paris on December 10, 1898, and ratified April 11, 1899.

The Secretary of Commerce and Labor shall, from time to time, issue regulations for the enforcement of this act, except as otherwise provided in section 3. Provided, that such of the navigation laws of the United States as are in force in the Philippine Archipelago in regard to vessels arriving in the Philippine Islands from the mainland territory and other insular possessions of the United States shall continue to be administered by the proper officials of the government of the Philippine Islands.

Oversea Transportation of Public Supplies.

An act approved April 28, entitled "An act to require the employment of vessels of the United States for public purposes," provided that, after June 27, 1904, vessels of the United States, or belonging to the United States, and no others, shall be employed in the transportation by sea of coal, provisions, fodder, or supplies of any description, purchased pursuant to law, for the use of the army or navy unless the President shall find that the rates of freight charged by said vessels are excessive and unreasonable; in which case contracts shall be made under the law as it now exists. Provided, that no greater charges be made by such vessels for transportation of articles for the use of the said army and navy than are made by such vessels for transportation of like goods for private parties or companies.

Merchant Marine Commission.

An act approved April 28 created a Merchant Marine Commission, composed as follows: Five members of the Senate of the United States and five members of the House of Representatives, to be appointed by the presiding officer of each house of Congress, respectively; two of the members of the Senate and two of the members of the House of Representatives to be members of the minority party.

This commission was authorized to investigate and to report to the Congress on the first day of its next session what legislation, if any, is desirable for the development of the American merchant marine and American commerce, and also what change, or changes, if any, should be made in existing laws relating to the treatment, comfort and safety of seamen, in order to make more attractive the seafaring calling in the American merchant service.

Army Legislation—Military Secretary.

The Army Appropriation act, approved April 23, provided that the officers of the Adjutant-General's Department, except the Adjutant-General, and the officers of the Record and Pension Office shall hereafter constitute one department of the army, to be known as the Military Secretary's Department; and the Adjutant-General's Office and the Record and Pension Office, heretofore constituting bureaus of the War Department, shall hereafter constitute a consolidated bureau, to be known as the Military Secretary's Office of the War Department. The officers so consolidated shall be borne on one list in the order of rank held by them, and those of them who hold permanent appointments as officers of the Adjutant-General's Department or of the Record and Pension Office shall be entitled to promotion below the grade of brigadier-general, as now provided by law and in the order of their standing on said list. Except as otherwise provided herein, the laws now in force shall continue to govern the appointment, promotion and detail of all officers of the consolidated department hereby created. Provided, that the officers of the said consolidated department shall be subject to the supervision of the chief of staff in all matters pertaining to the command, discipline or administration of the existing military establishment. Provided further, that no appointments or details to the grade of assistant adjutant-general with the rank of major shall be made until the number of officers of that grade shall be reduced to less than ten, and thereafter the number of officers of said grade in the consolidated department shall be ten. Provided further, that of the officers consolidated as hereinbefore provided, the senior in rank, who shall be chief of the consolidated department, and the title of whose office is hereby changed to that of the military secretary, shall hereafter have the rank of major-general, and the second senior of said officers shall hereafter have the rank of brigadier-general. Provided further, that when the office of military secretary with the rank of major-general shall hereafter become vacant, it shall not be filled with said rank, and thereafter the chief of the Military Secretary's Department shall have the rank of a brigadier-general with the title of the military secretary, and there shall be only one officer above the rank of colonel in said department. Except as hereinafter provided, the remaining offices of the consolidated department shall retain the titles they now bear. Provided further, that when the office of adjutant-general shall become vacant the vacancy so created on the active list of the army shall not be filled, and thereafter the several officers now designated by the title assistant adjutant-general and by the title assistant chief of the Record and Pension Office shall be designated by the title military secretary. Provided further, that the chief of the Military Secretary's Department shall be a member of the Board of Commissioners of the United States Soldiers' Home.

Porto Rico Regiment.

The same act provided for a Porto Rico provisional regiment of infantry, composed of two battalions, of four companies each, to include the enlisted men of the then existing regiment in the service June 13, 1904, and officers as herein provided. The field officers shall be detailed from the officers of the regular army of the same grade, and shall receive the pay and emoluments of their grade. The present officers of the regiment below the grade of field officers who are mentally, morally and physically qualified and have proved efficient in their respective positions may be reappointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate (and such officers shall be entitled to preference in such appointments), for a provisional term of four years. Officers so reappointed shall be eligible for promotion in the regiment up to and including the rank of captain, upon examination as to their fitness for such promotion. Vacancies then existing or thereafter occurring in the grade of second lieutenant may be filled by the President, in his discretion, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, by the appointment of citizens of Porto Rico, for the provisional term of four years, whose qualifications for commissions shall be established by such examination as the President may prescribe, who shall also be eligible for promotion in the regiment up to and including the rank of captain, upon an examination as to their fitness. Vacancies not filled as hereinbefore provided by the reappointment or promotion of the present officers or by the appointment or promotion of citizens of Porto Rico shall be filled by detail from the line of the infantry of the army of the same grade with the vacancy to be filled. Men hereafter enlisted in the regiment shall be citizens of Porto Rico, and shall be enlisted for a term of two years; and, except in the case of non-commissioned officers, shall not be re-enlisted in time of peace. The names of all enlisted men who have served honorably in the regiment shall be kept at the headquarters of the regiment, and these men shall be regarded as a reserve, to be specially considered in time of war. The pay and allowances of officers and enlisted men of the regiment shall be the same as authorized for like grades in the regular army.

The Retired List.

The same act provides that any officer of the army below the grade of brigadier-general who served with credit as an officer or as an enlisted man in the regular or volunteer forces during the Civil War prior to April 9, 1865, otherwise than as a cadet, and whose name is borne on the official register of the army, and who has heretofore been, or may hereafter be, retired on account of wounds or disability incident to the service, or on account of age, or after forty years' service, may, in the discretion of the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, be placed on the retired list of the army, with the rank and retired pay of one grade above that actually held by him at the time of retirement. Provided, That this act shall not apply to any officer who received an advance of grade since the date of his retirement, or who has been restored to the army and placed on the retired list by virtue of the provisions of a special act of Congress; and the Secretary of War may assign retired officers of the army, with their consent, to active duty in recruiting, for service in connection with the organized militia in the several States and Territories, upon the request of the Governor thereof, as military attachés, upon courts-martial, courts of inquiry and boards, and to staff duties not involving service with troops; and such officers while so assigned shall receive the full pay and allowances of their respective grades.

Army Chaplains.

An act approved April 21 provided that hereafter the President may, from time to time, select from among the chaplains of the army any chaplains having not less than ten years' service, in the grade of captain, who shall have been commended as worthy of special distinction for exceptional efficiency by the regimental or district commanders with whose commands they may be serving as chaplains, approved through regular military channels, and may, with the advice and consent of the Senate, promote such regimental or artillery chaplains to be chaplains with the grade, pay and allowances of major; every such promotion being made with a view to active service until the statutory age for the compulsory relinquishment thereof, except in cases of physical disability incurred in the line of duty. Provided, That the total number in active service so promoted shall not at any time exceed fifteen, and that the remaining chaplains shall have the grade, pay and allowances of captain, mounted, after they shall have completed seven years of service. And provided further, That all persons who may hereafter be appointed as chaplains shall have the grade, pay and allowances of first lieutenant, mounted, until they shall have completed seven years of service.

Military Instructors.

An act approved April 21 amended Section 1,025 of the Revised Statutes, concerning the detail of officers of the army and navy to educational institutions, so as to permit the President to detail, under the provisions of that act, and in addition to the officers of the army and navy now authorized to be detailed under the existing provisions of said act, such retired officers and non-commissioned officers of the army and navy of the United States as in his judgment may be required for that purpose, to act as instructors in military drill and tactics in schools in the United States and Territories where such instructions shall have been authorized by the educational authorities thereof, and where the services of such instructors shall have been applied for by said authorities. No detail shall be made under this act to any school unless it shall pay the cost of commutation of quarters of the retired officers or non-commissioned officers detailed thereto and the extra-duty pay to which they may be entitled by law to receive for the performance of special duty. Provided, That no detail shall be made under the provisions of this act unless the officers and non-commissioned officers to be detailed are willing to accept such position. Provided further, That they shall receive no compensation from the government other than their retired pay. The Secretary of War is authorized to issue, at his discretion and under proper regulations to be prescribed by him, out of ordnance and ordnance stores belonging to the government, and which can be spared for that purpose, upon the approval of the Governors of the respective States and Territories, such number of the same as may be required for military instruction and practice by such school, and the Secretary shall require a bond in each case for double the value of the property for the care and safekeeping thereof, and for the return of the same when required.

The Naval Appropriation Act, approved April 27, provided for these increases in the naval establishment:

Increase of the Navy.

One first class battleship, carrying the heaviest armor and most powerful armament for a vessel of its class upon a trial displacement of not more than 16,000 tons; to have the highest practicable speed and great radius of action, and to cost, exclusive of armor and armament, not exceeding $4,400,000.

Two first class armored cruisers, each of not more than 14,500 tons trial displacement, and carrying the heaviest armor and most powerful armament for a vessel of its class; to have the highest practicable speed and great radius of action, and to cost, exclusive of armor and armament, not exceeding $4,400,000 each.

Three scout cruisers, of not more than 3,750 tons trial displacement, carrying the most powerful ordnance of vessels of their class; to have the highest speed compatible with good cruising qualities and great radius of action, and to cost, exclusive of armament, not exceeding $1,800,000 each.

Two colliers, to be capable of accompanying the battle fleet; to carry five thousand tons of cargo coal, loaded, and to have a trial speed of not less than sixteen knots, to cost not exceeding $1,250,000 each. Said colliers to be built in navy yards, one on the Pacific and the other on the Atlantic Coast, the same to be designated by the Secretary of the Navy.

The Secretary of the Navy was also authorized, in his discretion, to contract for or purchase subsurface or submarine torpedo boats in the aggregate of but not exceeding $850,000. Provided, That prior to said purchase or contract for said boats any American inventor or owner of a subsurface or submarine torpedo boat may give reasonable notice and have his, her or its subsurface or submarine torpedo boat tested by comparison or competition, or both, with a government subsurface or submarine torpedo boat or any private competitor, provided there be any such, and thereupon the board appointed for conducting such tests shall report the result of said competition or comparison, together with its recommendations, to the Secretary of the Navy, who may purchase or contract for subsurface or submarine torpedo boats in a manner that will best advance the interests of the United States in torpedo or submarine warfare. And provided further, That before any subsurface or submarine torpedo boat is purchased or contracted for it shall be accepted by the Navy Department as fulfilling all reasonable requirements for submarine warfare and shall have been fully tested to the satisfaction of the Secretary of the Navy.

Acts approved on April 1 and April 28 provided for the appointment of an additional district judge for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, and for an additional associate justice of the Supreme Court of New-Mexico.

New Federal Judges.

An act approved April 28 provided for the appointment of four additional judges of the United States Court in the Indian Territory—one for each of the four Territorial Districts. It also provided that said judges shall have the authority, exercise the powers, perform the duties, and receive the salary of other judges of said court, and shall each serve for a term of four years from date of appointment, unless said offices are sooner abolished by law. Neither the additional judges, nor their successors in office, shall be members of the Court of Appeals for the Indian Territory, but they shall hold such courts, in their respective districts, as may be directed by the Court of Appeals of the Indian Territory, or majority of the judges thereof in vacation. Provided, That none of said judges shall have power to appoint clerks of courts, United States commissioners, or United States constables in said districts, and hereafter at least three terms of court shall be held in each year, at each place of holding court in the Indian Territory, the times to be fixed in the manner now provided by law. All the laws of Arkansas heretofore put in force in the Indian Territory are hereby continued and extended in their operation, so as to embrace all persons and estates in said Territory, whether Indian, freedmen, or otherwise, and full and complete jurisdiction is hereby conferred upon the district courts in said Territory in the settlements of all estates of decedents, the guardianships of minors and incompetents, whether Indians, freedmen or otherwise.

Cotton Boll Weevil.

An act approved January 15 provided that so much of the act entitled "An act making appropriations for the Department of Agriculture for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1904," approved March 3, 1903, as relates to the emergency appropriation to enable the Secretary of Agriculture to stamp out and eradicate the foot-and-mouth disease and other contagious diseases of animals, to be used for no other purpose, be, and the same is hereby, amended to read as follows:

"Emergency appropriation: To enable the Secretary of Agriculture to stamp out and eradicate the foot-and-mouth disease and other contagious diseases of animals, and to meet the emergency caused by the ravages of the Mexican cotton boll weevil and other insects and diseases affecting cotton, and for no other purpose, $500,000, which sum shall remain available until the close of the fiscal year 1905. Provided, That of this sum not to exceed $250,000 may be expended by the Secretary of Agriculture in such manner as he shall deem best, in co-operation with State experiment stations and practical cotton growers if the Secretary of Agriculture shall deem it advisable, to meet the emergency caused by the ravages of the Mexican cotton boll weevil and other insects and diseases affecting cotton, and the remainder of the $500,000 herein appropriated (not less than $250,000, however) shall be used exclusively to stamp out and eradicate foot-and-mouth disease and other contagious diseases of animals."

Capitol Improvement.

The Sundry Civil Appropriation Act, approved April 28, provided that a joint commission, composed of three Senators, namely, George P. Wetmore, of Rhode Island; Russell A. Alger, of Michigan, and Arthur P. Gorman, of Maryland, and three members of the House of Representatives of the LVIIIth Congress, namely, Joseph G. Cannon, of Illinois; William P. Hepburn, of Iowa, and James D. Richardson, of Tennessee, which is hereby created, is authorized to inquire and report to Congress at its next session plans in detail and estimates of cost for the extension and completion of the Capitol building, in accordance with the original plans therefor by the late Thomas U. Walter, with such modifications thereof as they may deem advantageous or necessary, and for each and every purpose connected therewith, including the employment of such professional and other services as they may deem requisite, and for such other expenses as said joint commission may authorize or incur, there is hereby appropriated the sum of $50,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary; and the Superintendent of the Capitol Building and Grounds, under the direction and supervision of said commission, or such commission as shall be authorized by Congress, shall conduct the making of all contracts for said construction, whenever and not before the same shall be authorized by Congress, after proper advertisements and the reception of bids, and said superintendent, subject to the direction and approval of such commission, shall employ such professional and personal services in connection with said work, when authorized as aforesaid, as may be necessary.

The same act provided that to acquire a site for and toward the construction of a fireproof building for committee rooms, folding rooms and other offices for the United States Senate and for necessary office rooms for Senators, to be erected on square numbered 686, in the city of Washington, D. C., bounded by B-st. northeast, First-st. northeast, C-st. northeast, and Delaware-ave. northeast, $750,000; and said site shall be acquired and said building constructed under the direction and supervision of a commission, which is hereby created, to be composed of three Senators, namely, Shelby M. Cullom of Illinois, Jacob H. Gallinger of New-Hampshire and Francis M. Cockrell of Missouri, and said building shall be constructed in accordance with architectural plans to be secured by said commission in such way as they may deem advisable. The cost of said building, exclusive of site, shall not exceed $2,250,000; the construction thereof and letting of contracts therefor, including employment of skilled and other services, shall be under the control of the Superintendent of the Capitol Building and Grounds, subject to the direction and supervision of said commission.

Lewis and Clark Exposition.

An act approved April 13 authorized the government to participate in the celebration at Portland, Ore., of the 100th anniversary of the exploration of the Oregon country by Lewis and Clark. It provided that foreign exhibits for the Portland Exposition of 1905 shall be admitted free of import duties; that the executive departments, the National Museum, the Smithsonian Institution and the Library of Congress shall be exhibitors at that exposition; that a government building or buildings be erected at a cost not to exceed $250,000; that Alaska, Hawaii and the Philippine Islands be encouraged and assisted to make exhibits, and that 250,000 gold dollars be struck in commemoration of the said exposition.

Miscellaneous.

Among the other acts and joint resolutions passed were the following: Incorporating the Carnegie Institution of Washington; amending the homestead laws as to certain unappropriated and unreserved lands in Nebraska (opening up reservations in that State to settlement); increasing to $100 a month the pension rate for total blindness; amending and codifying the laws relating to municipal corporations in the District of Alaska; providing for second and additional homestead entries; providing for the circulation, free of postage, of reading matter for the blind; regulating the practice of medicine and surgery in the Indian Territory; authorizing the Commissioners of the General Land Office to transmit original papers to be used as evidence; extending the exemption from head tax to citizens of Newfoundland entering the United States; making appropriation for national trophy and medals for rifle contests; extending to January 1, 1906, the time in which States may file Spanish War reimbursement claims; relieving obligers on bonds given to the United States upon the exportations to the Philippine Islands prior to November 26, 1901, of articles subject to internal revenue tax; protecting exhibitors of foreign literary, artistic or musical works at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition; regulating the sale of exhibits at St. Louis admitted free of duty; providing for the withdrawal, free of duty under bond, from the Louisiana Purchase Exposition of any articles and materials donated to incorporated institutions established for religious, philosophical, educational, scientific or literary purposes, or to any State or municipal corporation; authorizing the Director of the Census to co-operate with the Secretary of State of the State of Michigan and with officials of other States in taking the census of manufactures; donating gun carriages to the Connecticut commissioners for the care and preservation of Fort Griswold; granting to the State of Oregon certain lands to be used for maintaining and operating a fish hatchery; amending the act of Congress of March 11, 1902, relating to homesteads; validating certain original homestead entries and extending the time to make final proofs thereon; authorizing the payment of the Choctaw and Chickasaw townsite fund, and for other purposes; enabling the Secretary of the Treasury to pay the State of Vermont money appropriated by the act of Congress of July 1, 1902, and to adjust mutual claims between the United States and the State of Vermont; providing for the restoration or maintenance of channels, or of river and harbor improvements, and for other purposes; and providing for the collection of commercial, sanitary and other statistics in the Territory of Hawaii.

TREATIES WITH FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

AN ISTHMIAN CANAL ROUTE SECURED.

The Hay-Varilla Convention.

The Senate ratified on February 23, by a vote of 66 to 14, a treaty with the Republic of Panama for the construction of a ship canal to connect the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. Every Republican Senator voted for ratification or was paired in favor of it. Fourteen Democratic Senators voted for ratification and fourteen against it. Two Democrats were paired in favor of the treaty and three against it. The sixteen Democrats supporting the convention were Bacon and Clay, of Georgia; Berry and Clarke, of Arkansas; Foster and McEnery, of Louisiana; Mallory and Taliaferro, of Florida; Cockrell and Stone, of Missouri; Money, of Mississippi; Clark and Gibson, of Montana; McCreary, of Kentucky; Simmons, of North Carolina, and Latimer, of South Carolina.

The text of the treaty is as follows:

ARTICLE I.—The United States guarantees and will maintain the independence of the Republic of Panama.

ARTICLE II.—The Republic of Panama grants to the United States in perpetuity the use, occupation and control of a zone of land and land under water for the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and protection of said canal of the width of ten miles, extending to the distance of five miles on each side of the centre line of the route of the canal to be constructed; the said zone beginning in the Caribbean Sea three marine miles from mean low water mark and extending to and across the Isthmus of Panama into the Pacific Ocean to a distance of three marine miles from mean low water mark, with the proviso that the cities of Panama and Colon, and the harbors adjacent to said cities, which are included within the boundaries of the zone above described, shall not be included within this grant. The Republic of Panama further grants to the United States in perpetuity the use, occupation and control of any other lands and waters outside of the zone above described which may be necessary and convenient for the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and protection of the said canal, or of any auxiliary canals or other works necessary and convenient for the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and protection of the said enterprise.

The Republic of Panama further grants in like manner to the United States in perpetuity all islands within the limits of the zone above described, and in addition thereto the group of small islands in the Bay of Panama, named Perico, Naos, Culbera and Flamenco.

ARTICLE III.—The Republic of Panama grants to the United States all the rights, power and authority within the zone mentioned and described in Article II of this agreement, and within the limits of all auxiliary lands and waters mentioned and described in said Article II, which the United States would possess and exercise if it were the sovereign of the territory within which said lands and waters are located, to the entire exclusion of the exercise by the Republic of Panama of any such sovereign rights, power or authority.

ARTICLE IV.—As rights subsidiary to the above grants the Republic of Panama grants in perpetuity to the United States the right to use the rivers, streams, lakes and other bodies of water within its limits for navigation, the supply of water or water power or other purposes, so far as the use of said rivers, streams, lakes and bodies of water and the waters thereof may be necessary and convenient for the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and protection of the said canal.

ARTICLE V.—The Republic of Panama grants to the United States in perpetuity a monopoly for the construction, maintenance and operation of any system of communication by means of canal or railroad across its territory between the Caribbean Sea and the Pacific Ocean.

ARTICLE VI.—The grants herein contained shall in no manner invalidate the titles or rights of private land holders or owners of private property in the said zone, or in or to any of the lands or waters granted to the United States by the provisions of any article of this treaty, nor shall they interfere with the rights of way over the public roads passing through the said zone or over any of the said lands or waters, unless said rights of way or private rights shall conflict with rights herein granted to the United States, in which case the rights of the United States shall be superior. All damages caused to the owners of private lands or private property of any kind by reason of the grants contained in this treaty, or by reason of the operations of the United States, its agents or employes, or by reason of the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and protection of the said canal, or of the works of sanitation and protection herein provided for, shall be appraised and settled by a joint commission appointed by the governments of the United States and the Republic of Panama, whose decisions as to such damages shall be final and whose awards as to such damages shall be paid solely by the United States. No part of the work on said canal or the Panama railroad, or on any auxiliary works relating thereto and authorized by the terms of this treaty, shall be prevented, delayed or impeded by or pending such proceedings to ascertain such damages. The appraisal of said private lands and private property and the assessment of damages to them shall be based upon their value before the date of this convention.

ARTICLE VII.—The Republic of Panama grants to the United States within the limits of the cities of Panama and Colon, and their adjacent harbors, and within the territory adjacent thereto, the right to acquire by purchase or by the exercise of the right of eminent domain, any lands, buildings, water rights or other properties necessary and convenient for the construction, maintenance, operation and protection of the canal and of any works of sanitation, such as the collection and disposition of sewage, and the distribution of water in the said cities of Panama and Colon, which, in the discretion of the United States may be necessary and convenient for the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and protection of the said canal and railroad. All such works of sanitation, collection and disposition of sewage and distribution of water in the cities of Panama and Colon shall be made at the expense of the United States, and the government of the United States, its agents or nominees shall be authorized to impose and collect water rates and sewerage rates, which shall be sufficient to provide for the payment of interest and the amortization of the principal of the cost of said works within a period of fifty years, and upon the expiration of said term of fifty years the system of sewers and water works shall revert to and become the properties of the cities of Panama and Colon respectively, and the use of the water shall be free to the inhabitants of Panama and Colon, except to the extent that water rates may be necessary for the operation and maintenance of said system of sewers and water.

Sanitation.

The Republic of Panama agrees that the cities of Panama and Colon shall comply in perpetuity with the sanitary ordinances whether of a preventive or curative character prescribed by the United States, and in case the government of Panama is unable or fails in its duty to enforce this compliance by the cities of Panama and Colon with the sanitary ordinances of the United States, the Republic of Panama grants to the United States the right and authority to enforce the same.

The same right and authority are granted to the United States for the maintenance of public order in the cities of Panama and Colon, and the territories and harbors adjacent thereto in case the Republic of Panama should not be, in the judgment of the United States, able to maintain such order.

ARTICLE VIII.—The Republic of Panama grants to the United States all rights which it now has or hereafter may acquire to the property of the new Panama Canal Company and the Panama Railroad Company, as a result of the transfer of sovereignty from the Republic of Colombia to the Republic of Panama over the Isthmus of Panama, and authorizes the New Panama Canal Company to sell and transfer to the United States its rights, privileges, properties and concessions, as well as the Panama Railroad, and all the shares or part of the shares of that company; but the public lands situated outside of the zone described in Article II of this treaty, now included in the concessions to both said enterprises and not required in the construction or operation of the canal, shall revert to the Republic of Panama, except any property now owned by o in the possession of said companies within Panama or Colon, or the ports or terminals therof.

ARTICLE IX.—The United States agrees that the ports at either entrance of the canal and the waters thereof, and the Republic of Panama agrees that the towns of Panama and Colon shall be free for all time, so that there shall not be imposed or collected custom house tolls, tonnage, anchorage, lighthouse, wharf, pilot, or quarantine dues, or any other charges or taxes of any kind upon any vessel using or passing through the canal, or belonging to or employed by the United States, directly or indirectly, in connection with the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and protection of the main canal, or auxiliary works, or upon the cargo, officers, crew or passengers of any such vessels, except such tolls and charges as may be imposed by the United States for the use of the canal and other works, and except tolls and charges imposed by the Republbic of Panama upon merchandise destined to be introduced for the consumption of the rest of the Republic of Panama, and upon vessels touching at the ports of Colon and Panama, and which do not cross the canal.

Canal Zone Ports.

The government of the Republic of Panama shall have the right to establish in such ports and in the towns of Panama and Colon such houses and guards as it may deem necessary to collect duties on importations destined to other portions of Panama and to pprevent contraband trade. The United States shall have the right to make use of the towns and harbors of Panama and Colon as places of anchorage, and for making repairs, for loading, unloading, depositing or transshipping cargoes either in transit or destined for the service of the canal and for other works pertaining to the canal.

ARTICLE X.—The Republic of Panama agrees that there shall not be imposed any taxes, national, municipal, departmental, or of any other class, upon the canal, the railways and auxiliary works, tugs and other vessels employed in the service of the canal, storehouses, work shops, offices, quarters for laborers, factories of all kinds, warehouses, wharves, machinery and other works, property and effects appertaining to the canal or railroad and auxiliary works, or their officers or employes, situated within the cities of Panama and Colon, and that there shall not be imposed contributions or charges of a personal character of any kind upon officers, employes, laborers and other individuals in the service of the canal and railroad and auxiliary works.

ARTICLE XI.—The United States agrees that the official dispatches of the government of the Republic of Panama shall be transmitted over any telegraph and telephone lines established for canal purposes, and used for public and private business at rates not higher than those required from officials in the service of the United States.

ARTICLE XII.—The government of the Republic of Panama shall permit the immigration and free access to the lands and workshops of the canal and its auxiliary works of all employes and workmen of whatever nationality, under contract to work upon or seeking employment upon or in any wise connected with the said canal and its auxiliary works, with their respective families, and all such persons shall be free and exempt from the military service of the Republic of Panama.

ARTICLE XIII.—The United States may import at any time into the said zone and auxiliary lands, free of custom duties, imposts, taxes, or other charges, and without any restrictions, any and all vessels, dredges, engines, cars, machinery, tools, explosives, materials, supplies, and other articles necessary and convenient in the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and protection of the canal and auxiliary works, and all provisions, medicines, clothing, supplies and other things necessary and convenient for the officers, employes, workmen and laborers in the service and employ of the United States, and for their families. If any such articles are disposed of for use outside of the zone and auxiliary lands granted to the United States, and within the territory of the republic, they shall be subject to the same import or other duties as like articles imported under the laws of the Republic of Panama.

ARTICLE XIV.—As the price or compensation for the rights, powers and privileges granted in this convention by the Republic of Panama to the United States, the government of the United States agrees to pay to the Republic of Panama the sum of ten million dollars ($10,000,000) in gold coin of the United States on the exchange of the ratification of this convention, and also an annual payment during the life of this convention of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) in like gold coin, beginning nine years after the date aforesaid.

Compensation.

The provisions of this article shall be in addition to all other benefits assured to the Republic of Panama under this convention.

But no delay or difference of opinion under this Article or any other provisions of this treaty shall affect or interrupt the full operation and effect of this convention in all other respects.

ARTICLE XV.—The joint commission referred to in Article VI shall be established as follows:

The President of the United States shall nominate two persons, and the President of the Republic of Panama shall nominate two persons, and they shall proceed to a decision; but in case of disagreement of the commission (by reason of their being equally divided in opinion) an umpire shall be appointed by the two governments who shall render the decision. In the event of the death, absence or incapacity of a commissioner or umpire, or of his omitting, declining or ceasing to act, his place shall be filled by the appointment of another person in the manner above indicated. All decisions by a majority of the commission, or by the umpire, shall be final.

ARTICLE XVI.—The two governments shall make adequate provision by future agreement for the pursuit, capture, imprisonment, detention and delivery within said zone and auxiliary lands to the authorities of the Republic of Panama of persons charged with the commitment of crimes, felonies or misdemeanors without said zone, and for the pursuit, capture, imprisonment, detention and delivery without said zone to the authorities of the United States of persons charged with the commitment of crimes, felonies and misdemeanors within said zone and auxiliary lands.

ARTICLE XVII.—The Republic of Panama grants to the United States the use of all the ports of the republic open to commerce as places of refuge for any vessel employed in the canal enterprise, and for all vessels passing or bound to pass through the canal, which may be in distress and be driven to seek refuge in said ports. Such vessels shall be exempt from anchorage and tonnage dues on the part of the Republic of Panama.

ARTICLE XVIII.—The canal, when constructed, and the entrances thereto shall be neutral in perpetuity, and shall be opened upon the terms provided for by Section 1, of Article III of, and in conformity with all the stipulations of, the treaty entered into by the governments of the United States and Great Britain on November 18, 1901.

ARTICLE XIX.—The government of the Republic of Panama shall have the right to transport over the canal its vessels and its troops and munitions of war in such vessels, at all times, without paying charges of any kind. The exemption is to be extended to the auxiliary railway for the transportation of persons in the service of the Republic of Panama, or of the police force charged with the preservation of public order outside of said zone, as well as to their baggage, munitions of war and supplies.

ARTICLE XX.—If by virtue of any existing treaty in relation to the territory of the Isthmus of Panama, whereof the obligations shall descend or be assumed by the Republic of Panama, there may be any privilege or concession in favor of the government or the citizens and subjects of a third power relative to an interoceanic means of communication which in any of its terms may be incompatible with the terms of the present convention, the Republic of Panama agrees to cancel or modify such treaty in due form, for which purpose it shall give to the said third power the requisite notification within the term of four months from the date of the present convention, and in case the existing treaty contains no clause permitting its modification or annulment, the Republic of Panama agrees to procure its modification or annulment in such form that there shall not exist any conflict with the stipulations of the present convention.

ARTICLE XXI.—The rights and privileges granted by the Republic of Panama to the United States in the preceding articles are understood to be free of all anterior debts, liens, trusts, or liabilities, or concessions or privileges to other governments, corporations, syndicates or individuals, and consequently, if there should arise any claims on account of the present concessions and privileges or otherwise, the claimants shall resort to the government of the Republic of Panama and not to the United States for any indemnity or compromise which may be required.

Wyse and New Panama Concessions.

ARTICLE XXII.—The Republic of Panama renounces and grants to the United States the participation to which it might be entitled in the future earnings of the Canal under Article XV of the concessionary contract with Lucien N. B. Wyse now owned by the New Panama Canal Company and any and all other rights or claims of a pecuniary nature arising under or relating to said concession, or arising under or relating to the concessions to the Panama Railroad Company or any extension or modification thereof; and it likewise renounces, confirms and grants to the United States, now and hereafter, all the rights and property reserved in the said concessions which otherwise would belong to Panama at or before the expiration of the terms of ninety-nine years of the concessions granted to or held by the above mentioned party and companies, and all right, title and interest which it now has or may hereafter have in and to the lands, canal, works, property and rights held by the said companies under said concessions or otherwise, and acquired or to be acquired by the United States from or through the New Panama Canal Company, including any property and rights which might or may in the future either by lapse of time, forfeiture or otherwise, revert to the Republic of Panama under any contracts or concessions, with said Wyse, the Universal Panama Canal Company, the Panama Railroad Company and the New Panama Canal Company.

The aforesaid rights and property shall be and are free and released from any present or reversionary interest in or claims of Panama and the title of the United States thereto upon consummation of the contemplated purchase by the United States from the New Panama Canal Company shall be absolute, so far as concerns the Republic of Panama, excepting always the rights of the Republic specifically secured under this treaty.

ARTICLE XXIII.—If it should become necessary at any time to employ armed forces for the safety or protection of the Canal, or of the ships that make use of the same, or the railways and auxiliary works, the United States shall have the right, at all times and in its discretion, to use its police and its land and naval forces or to establish fortifications for these purposes.

ARTICLE XXIV.—No change either in the government or in the laws and treaties of the Republic of Panama shall, without the consent of the United States, affect any right of the United States under the present convention, or under any treaty stipulation between the two countries that now exists or may hereafter exist touching the subject matter of this convenion.

If the Republic of Panama shall hereafter enter as a constituent into any other government or into any union or confederation of States, so as to merge her sovereignty or independence in such government, union or confederation, the rights of the United States under this convention shall not be in any respect lessened or impaired.

ARTICLE XXV.—For the better performance of the engagements of this convention and to the end of the efficient protection of the Canal and the preservation of its neutrality, the government of the Republic of Panama will sell or lease to the United States lands adequate and necessary for naval or coaling stations on the Pacific Coast and on the western Caribbean coast of the Republic at certain points to be agreed upon with the President of the United States.

ARTICLE XXVI.—This convention when signed by the plenipotentiaries of the contracting parties shall be ratified by the respective governments and the ratifications shall be exchanged at Washington at the earliest date possible.

Ratifications were exchanged at Washington on February 26.

COMMERCIAL RELATIONS WITH CHINA.

The Senate ratified unanimously on December 18, 1903, and the President proclaimed on January 13, 1904, a treaty with China for the extension of the commercial relations between China and the United States. The text of the convention is as follows:

ARTICLE I.—In accordance with international usage, and as the diplomatic representative of China has the right to reside in the capital of the United States, and to enjoy there the same prerogatives, privileges and immunities as are enjoyed by the similar representative of the most favored nation, the diplomatic representative of the United States shall have the right to reside at the capital of His Majesty the Emperor of China. He shall be given audience of His Majesty the Emperor whenever necessary to present his letters of credence or any communication from the President of the United States. At all such times he shall be received in a place and in a manner befitting his high position, and on all such occasions the ceremonial observed toward him shall be that observed toward the representatives of nations on a footing of equality, with no loss of prestige on the part of either. The diplomatic representatives of the United States shall enjoy all the prerogatives, privileges and immunities accorded by international usage to such representatives, and shall in all respects be entitled to the treatment extended to similar representatives of the most favored nation. The English text of all notes or dispatches from United States officials to Chinese officials, and the Chinese text of all from Chinese officials to United States officials shall be authoritative.

ARTICLE II.—As China may appoint consular officers to reside in the United States and to enjoy there the same attributes, privileges and immunities as are enjoyed by consular officers of other nations, the United States may appoint, as its interests may require, consular officers to reside at the places in the Empire of China that are now or that may hereafter be opened to foreign residence and trade. They shall hold direct official intercourse and correspondence with the local officers of the Chinese Government within their consular districts, either personally or in writing as the case may require, on terms of equality and reciprocal respect. These officers shall be treated with due respect by all Chinese authorities, and they shall enjoy all the attributes, privileges and immunities, and exercise all the jurisdiction over their nationals which are or may hereafter be extended to similar officers of the nation the most favored in these respects. If the officers of either government are disrespectfully treated or aggrieved in any way by the authorities of the other, they shall have the right to make representation of the same to the superior officers of their own government who shall see that full inquiry and strict justice be had in the premises. And the said consular officers of either nation shall carefully avoid all acts of offence to the officers and people of the other nation.

On the arrival of a consul duly accredited at any place in China opened to foreign trade it shall be the duty of the Minister of the United States to inform the Board of Foreign Affairs, which shall, in accordance with international usage, forthwith cause the proper recognition of the said consul and grant him authority to act

ARTICLE III.—Citizens of the United States may frequent, reside and carry on trade, industries and manufactures, or pursue any lawful avocation, in all the ports or localities of China which are now open or may hereafter be opened to foreign residence and trade; and, within the suitable localities at those places which have been or may be set apart for the use and occupation of foreigners, they may rent or purchase houses, places of business and other buildings, and rent or lease in perpetuity land and build thereon. They shall generally enjoy as to their persons and property all such rights, privileges and immunities as are or may hereafter be granted to the subjects or citizens of the nation the most favored in these respects.

ARTICLE IV.—The Chinese Government, recognizing that the existing system of levying dues on goods in transit, and especially the system of taxation known as likin, impedes the free circulation of commodities, to the general injury of trade, hereby undertakes to abandon the levy of likin and all other transit dues throughout the Empire and to abolish the offices, station and barriers maintained for their collection and not to establish other offices for levying dues on goods in transit. It is clearly understood that, after the offices, stations and barriers for taxing goods in transit have been abolished, no attempt shall be made to re-establish them in any form or under any pretext whatsoever.

The Likin System.

The government of the United States, in return, consents to allow a surtax, in excess of the tariff rates for the time being in force, to be imposed on foreign goods imported by citizens of the United States and on Chinese produce destined for export abroad or coastwise. It is clearly understood that in no case shall the surtax on foreign imports exceed one and one-half times the import duty leviable in terms of the final Protocol signed by China and the Powers on September 7, A. D. 1901; that the payment of the import duty and surtax shall secure for foreign imports, whether in the hands of Chinese or foreigners, in original packages or otherwise, complete immunity from all other taxation, examination or delay; that the total amount of taxation, inclusive of the tariff export duty, leviable on native produce for export abroad shall, under no circumstances, exceed 7½ per centum ad valorem.

Nothing in this article is intended to interfere with the inherent right of China to levy such other taxes as are not in conflict with its provisions.

Keeping these fundamental principles in view, the high contracting parties have agreed upon the following method of procedure:

The Chinese Government undertakes that all offices, stations and barriers of whatsoever kind for collecting likin, duties, or such like dues on goods in transit, shall be permanently abolished on all roads, railways and waterways in the nineteen provinces of China and the three Eastern provinces. This provision does not apply to the native customs offices at present in existence on the seaboard, at open ports where there are offices of the Imperial Maritime Customs, and on the land frontiers of China embracing the nineteen provinces and the three Eastern provinces.

Wherever there are offices of the Imperial Maritime Customs, or wherever such may be hereafter placed, native customs offices may also be established, as well as at any point either on the seaboard or land frontiers.

The government of the United States agrees that foreign goods on importation, in addition to the effective 5 per centum import duty as provided for in the Protocol of 1901, shall pay a special surtax of one and one-half times the amount of the said duty to compensate for the abolition of likin, of other transit dues besides likin, and of all other taxation on foreign goods, and in consideration of the other reforms provided for in this article.

The Chinese Government may recast the foreign export tariff with specific duties, as far as practicable, on a scale not exceeding 5 per centum ad valorem; but existing export duties shall not be raised until at least six months' notice has been given. In cases where existing export duties are above 5 per centum, they shall be reduced to not more than that rate. An additional special surtax of one-half the export duty payable for the time being, in lieu of internal taxation of all kinds, may be levied at the place of original shipment or at the time of export on goods exported either to foreign countries or coastwise.

Foreign goods which bear a similarity to native goods shall be furnished by the customs officers, if required by the owner, with a protective certificate for each package, on the payment of import duty and surtax, to prevent the risk of any dispute in the interior.

Native goods brought by junks to open ports, if intended for local consumption, irrespective of the nationality of the owner of the goods, shall be reported at the native customs offices only, to be dealt with according to the fiscal regulations of the Chinese Government.

Machine-made cotton yarn and cloth manufactured in China, whether by foreigners at the open ports or by Chinese anywhere in China, shall as regards taxation be on a footing of perfect equality. Such goods upon payment of the taxes thereon shall be gratned a rebate of the import duty and of two-thirds of the import surtax paid on the cotton used in their manufacture, if it has been imported from abroad, and of all duties paid thereon if it be Chinese grown cotton. They shall also be free of export duty, coast trade duty and export surtax. The same principle and procedure shall be applied to all other products of foreign type turned out by machinery in China.

A member or members of the Imperial Maritime Customs foreign staff shall be selected by the Governors-General and Governors of each of the various provinces of the Empire for their respective provinces, and appointed in consultation with the Inspector General of Imperial Maritime Customs, for duty in connection with native customs affairs, to have a general supervision of their working.

Cases where illegal action is complained of by citizens of the United States shall be promptly investigated by an officer of the Chinese Government of sufficiently high rank, in conjunction with an officer of the United States Government and an officer of the Imperial Maritime Customs, each of sufficient standing; and, in the event of it being found by the investigating officers that the complaint is well founded and loss has been incurred, due compensation shall be paid through the Imperial Maritime Customs. The high provincial officials shall be held responsible that the officer guilty of the illegal action shall be severely punished and removed from his post. If the complaint is shown to be frivolous or malicious, the complainant shall be held responsible for the expenses of the investigation.

When the ratifications of this treaty shall have been exchanged by the high contracting parties hereto, and the provisions of this article shall have been accepted by the Powers having treaties with China, then a date shall be agreed upon when the provisions of this article shall take effect and an imperial edict shall be published in due form on yellow paper and circulated throughout the Empire of China setting forth the abolition of all likin taxation, duties on goods in transit, offices, stations and barriers for collecting the same, and of all descriptions of internal taxation on foreign goods, and the imposition of the surtax on the import of foreign goods and on the export of native goods, and the other fiscal changes and reforms provided for in this article, all of which shall take effect from the said date. The edict shall state that the provincial high officials are responsible that any official disregarding the letter or the spirit of its injunction shall be severely punished and removed from his post.

Tariff.

ARTICLE V.—The tariff duties to be paid by citizens of the United States on goods imported into China shall be as set forth in the schedule annexed hereto and made part of this treaty, subject only to such amendments and changes as are authorized by Article IV of the present convention or as may hereafter be agreed upon by the high contracting parties hereto. It is expressly agreed, however, that citizens of the United States shall at no time pay other or higher duties than those paid by the citizens or subjects of the most favored nation..

Conversely, Chinese subjects shall not pay higher duties on their imports into the United States than those paid by the citizens or subjects of the most favored nation.

ARTICLE VI.—The government of China agrees to the establishment by citizens of the United States of warehouses approved by the proper Chinese authorities as bonded warehouses at the several open ports of China, for storage, repacking, or preparation for shipment of lawful goods, subject to such necessary regulations for the protection of the revenue of China, including a reasonable scale of fees according to commodities, distance from the custom house and hours of working, as shall be made from time to time by the proper officers of the government of China.

Mining Concessions.

ARTICLE VII.—The Chinese Government, recognizing that it is advantageous for the country to develop its mineral resources, and that it is desirable to attract foreign as well as Chinese capital to embark in mining enterprises, agrees, within one year from the signing of this treaty, to initiate and conclude the revision of the existing mining regulations. To this end China will, with all expedition and earnestness, go into the whole question of mining rules; and, selecting from the rules of the United States and other countries regulations which seem applicable to the condition of China, will recast its present mining rules in such a way as, while promoting the interests of Chinese subjects and not injuring in any way the sovereign rights of China, will offer no impediment to the attraction of foreign capital nor place foreign capitalists at a greater disadvantage than they would be under generally accepted foreign regulations; and will permit citizens of the United States to carry on in Chinese territory mining operations and other necessary business relating thereto, provided they comply with the new regulations and conditions which will be imposed by China on its subjects and foreigners alike, relating to the opening of mines, the renting of mineral land, and the payment of royalty, and provided they apply for permits, the provisions of which in regard to necessary business relating to such operations shall be observed. The residence of citizens of the United States in connection with such mining operations shall be subject to such regulations as shall be agreed upon by and between the United States and China.

Any mining concession granted after the publication of such new rules shall be subject to their provisions.

ARTICLE VIII.—Drawback certificates for the return of duties shall be issued by the Imperial Maritime Customs to citizens of the United States within three weeks of the presentation to the customs of the papers entitling the applicant to receive such drawback certificates, and they shall be receivable at their face value in payment of duties of all kinds (tonnage dues excepted) at the port of issue; or shall, in the case of drawbacks on foreign goods re-exported within three years from the date of importation, be redeemable by the Imperial Maritime Customs in full in ready money at the port of issue, at the option of the holders thereof. But if, in connection with any application for a drawback certificate, the customs authorities discover an attempt to defraud the revenue, the applicant shall be dealt with and punished in accordance with the stipulations provided in the Treaty of Tien-Tsin, Article XXI, in the case of detected frauds on the revenue. In case the goods have been removed from Chinese territory, then the consul shall inflict on the guilty party a suitable fine to be paid to the Chinese Government.

ARTICLE IX.—Whereas the United States undertakes to protect the citizens of any country in the exclusive use within the United States of any lawful trade marks, provided that such country agrees by treaty or convention to give like protection to citizens of the United States:

Trade Marks, Patents.

Therefore the government of China, in order to secure such protection in the United States for its subjects, now agrees to fully protect any citizen, firm or corporation of the United States in the exclusive use in the Empire of China of any lawful trademark to the exclusive use of which in the United States they are entitled, or which they have adopted and used, or intend to adopt and use as soon as registered, for exclusive use within the Empire of China. To this end the Chinese Government agrees to issupe by its proper authorities proclamations, having the force of law, forbidding all subjects of China from infringing on, imitating, colorably imitating, or knowingly passing off an imitation of trade marks belonging to citizens of the United States, which shall have been registered by the proper authorities of the United States at such offices as the Chinese Government will establish for such purpose, on payment of a reasonable fee, after due investigation by the Chinese authorities, and in compliance with reasonable regulations.

ARTICLE X.—The United States Government allows subjects of China to patent their inventions in the United States and protects them in the use and ownership of such patents. The government of China now agrees that it will establish a Patent Office. After this office has been established and special laws with regard to inventions have been adopted it will thereupon, after the payment of the prescribed fees, issue certificates of protection, valid for a fixed term of years, to citizens of the United States on all their patents issued by the United States, in respect of articles the sale of which is lawful in China, which do not infringe on previous inventions of Chinese subjects, in the same manner as patents are to be issued to subjects of China.

ARTICLE XI.—Whereas the government of the United States undertakes to give the benefits of its copyright laws to the citizens of any foreign State which gives to the citizens of the United States the benefits of copyright on an equal basis with its own citizens:

Therefore the government of China, in order to secure such benefits in the United States for its subjects, now agrees to give full protection, in the same way and manner and subject to the same conditions upon which it agrees to protect trade marks, to all citizens of the United States who are authors, designers or proprietors of any book, map, print or engraving especially prepared for the use and education of the Chinese people, or translation into Chinese of any book, in the exclusive right to print and sell such book, map, print, engraving or translation in the Empire of China during ten years from the date of registration. With the exception of the books, maps, etc., specified above, which may not be reprinted in the same form, no work shall be entitled to copyright privileges under this article. It is understood that Chinese subjects shall be at liberty to make, print and sell original translations into Chinese of any works written or of maps compiled by a citizen of the United States. This article shall not be held to protect against due process of law any citizen of the United States or Chinese subject who may be author, proprietor or seller of any publication calculated to injure the well being of China.

ARTICLE XII.—The Chinese Government having in 1898 opened the navigable inland waters of the Empire to commerce by all steam vessels, native or foreign, that may be specially registered for the purpose, for the conveyance of passengers and lawful merchandise—citizens, firms and corporations of the United States may engage in such commerce on equal terms with those granted to subjects of any foreign power.

Inland River Commerce.

In case either party hereto considers it advantageous at any time that the rules and regulations then in existence for such commerce be altered or amended, the Chinese Governmnt agrees to consider amicably and to adopt such modifications thereof as are found necessary for trade and for the benefit of China.

The Chinese Government agrees that, upon the exchange of the ratifications of this Mukden and Antung, both in the province of Sheng-King, will be opened by China itself as places of international residence and trade. The selection of suitable localities to be set apart for international use and occupation and the regulations for these places set apart for foreign residence and trade shall be agreed upon by the governments of the United States and China after consultation together.

ARTICLE XIII.—China agrees to take the necessary steps to provide for a uniform national coinage which shall be legal tender in payment of all duties, taxes and other obligations throughout the Empire by the citizens of the United States as well as Chinese subjects. It is understood, however, that all customs duties shall continue to be calculated and paid on the basis of the Haikuan Tael.

ARTICLE XIV.—The principles of the Christian religion, as professed by the Protestant and Roman Catholic churches, are recognized as teaching men to do good and to do to others as they would have others do to them. Those who quietly profess and teach these doctrines shall not be harassed or persecuted on account of their faith. Any person, whether citizen of the United States or Chinese convert, who, according to these tenets, peaceably teaches and practises the principles of Christianity shall in no case be interfered with or molested therefor. No restrictions shall be placed on Chinese joining Christian churches. Converts and non-converts, being Chinese subjects, shall alike conform to the laws of China; and shall pay due respect to those in authority, living together in peace and amity; and the fact of being converts shall not protect them from the consequences of any offence they may have committed before or may commit after their admission into the church, or exempt them from paying legal taxes levied on Chinese subjects generally, except taxes levied and contributions for the support of religious customs and practices contrary to their faith. Missionaries shall not interfere with the exercise by the native authorities of their jurisdiction over Chinese subjects; nor shall the native authorities make any distinction between converts and non-converts, but shall administer the laws without partiality so that both classes can live together in peace.

Missionary societies of the United States shall be permitted to rent and to lease in perpetuity, as the property of such societies, buildings or lands in all parts of the Empire for missionary purposes and, after the title deeds have been found in order and duly stamped by the local authorities, to erect such suitable buildings as may be required for carrying on their good work.

ARTICLE XV.—The government of China having expressed a strong desire to reform its judicial system and to bring it into accord with that of Western nations, the United States agrees to give every assistance to such reform and will also be prepared to relinquish extra territorial rights when satisfied that the state of the Chinese laws, the arrangements for their administration, and other considerations warrant it in so doing ARTICLE XVI.—The government of the United States consents to the prohibition by the government of China of the importation into China of morphia and of instruments for its injection, excepting morphia and instruments for its injection imported for medical purposes, on payment of tariff duty, and under regulations to be framed by China which shall effectually restrict the use of such import to the said purposes. This prohibition shall be uniformly applied to such importation from all countries. The Chinese Government undertakes to adopt at once measures to prevent the manufacture in China of morphia and of instruments for its injection.

ARTICLE XVII.—It is agreed between the high contracting parties hereto that all the provisions of the several treaties between the United States and China which were in force on January 1, A. D. 1900, are continued in full force and effect except in so far as they are modified by the present treaty or other treaties to which the United States is a party.

The present treaty shall remain in force for a period of ten years beginning with the date of the exchange of ratifications and until a revision is effected as hereinafter provided.

It is further agreed that either of the high contracting parties may demand that the tariff and the articles of this convention be revised at the end of ten years from the date of the exchange of the ratifications thereof. If no revision is demanded before the end of the first term of ten years, then these articles in their present form shall remain in full force for a further term of ten years reckoned from the end of the first term, and so on for successive periods of ten years.

The English and Chinese texts of the present treaty and its three annexes have been carefully compared; but, in th event of there being any difference of meaning between them, the sense as expressed in the English text shall be held to be the correct one.

ANNEX I.—As citizens of the United States are already forbidden by treaty to deal in or handle opium, no mention has been made in this treaty of opium taxation.

Annexes. As the trade in salt is a government monopoly in China, no mention has been made in this treaty of salt taxation.

It is, however, understood, after full discussion and consideration, that the collection of inland dues on opium and salt and the means for the protection of the revenue therefrom and for preventing illicit traffic therein are left to be administered by the Chinese Government in such manner as shall in no wise interfere with the provisions of Article IV of this treaty regarding the unobstructed transit of other goods.

ANNEX II.—Article IV of the Treaty of Commerce between the United States and China of this date provides for the retention of the native customs offices at the open ports. For the purpose of safeguarding the revenue of China at such places, it is understood that the Chinese Government shall be entitled to establish and maintain such branch native customs offices at each open port, within a reasonable distance of the main native customs offices at the port, as shall be deemed by the authorities of the Imperial Maritime Customs at that port necessary to collect the revenue from the trade into and out of such port. Such branches, as well as the main native customs offices at each open port, shall be administered by the Imperial Maritime Customs as provided by the Protocol of 1901.

ANNEX III.—The schedule of tariff duties on imported goods annexed to this treaty under Article V is hereby mutually declared to be the schedule agreed upon between the representatives of China and the United States.

An extensive tariff schedule, with rules and provisos governing its administration, is appended to the treaty.

Minor Treaties.

Other treaties ratified and proclaimed were a naturalization convention with Hayti, and a convention with Great Britain acting in the name of the Sultan of Zanzibar, regarding light and harbor dues imposed on United States vessels entering the ports of Zanzibar and Pemba.

THE FEDERAL SERVICE.

CIVIL SERVICE LAWS.

The term "Civil Service Act" refers to an act of Congress "to regulate and improve the Civil Service of the United States," approved January 16, 1883, which gave the power to the President to appoint, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, three persons, not more than two of whom shall be adherents of the same party, as a commission, with authority to prescribe regulations in pursuance of and for the execution of the provisions of the rules and of the Civil Service Act. The act requires that the rules shall provide among other things for open competitive examinations for testing fitness of applicants for the public service, the filling of classified positions by selections from among those passing with highest grades, an apportionment of appointments in the departments at Washington among the States and Territories, a period of probation before absolute appointment, and the prohibition of the use of official authority to coerce the political action of any person or body. The act also provides for investigations touching the enforcement of the rules promulgated, and forbids, under penalty of fine or imprisonment, or both, the solicitation by any person in the service of the United States of contributions to be used for political purposes from persons in such service, or the collection of such contributions by any person in a government building.

The terms used in the regulations are: "Classified Service," referring to all that part of the executive Civil Service of the United States included within the provisions of the act; "Grade," referring to a group of employes or positions in the classified service arranged upon a basis of duties performed without regard to salaries received; "Class," referring to a group of employes or positions in any grade arranged upon the basis of salaries received, and "Excepted Position," referring to any position within the provisions of the Civil Service Act, but excepted from the requirement of competitive examination or registration for appointment thereto.

The rules promulgated by the President on May 6, 1896, as amended July 27, 1897, May 29, 1899 and April 15, 1903, show that almost everything in the District of Columbia between the grade of mere laborer or workman and the grade of Presidential appointment is included in the classified service. The following places are brought into the classification outside the District of Columbia: All executive officers and employes who are serving in a clerical capacity, or whose duties are in whole or in part of a clerical nature; or in the capacity of a watchman or messenger, or physician, hospital steward, nurse, or whose duties are of a medical nature; or as draughtsman, civil engineer, steam engineer, electrical engineer, computer or fireman; or in the service of the Supervising Architect's office in the capacity of superintendent of construction or of repair, or foreman; or in the service of the Treasury Department in any capacity. Outside the District of Columbia, as well as within the District, everything in the Treasury Department is classified. About six thousand classified positions in the navy yards are subject to the registration system, and about as many others of similar nature in the War Department are to be so subjected.

The following figures, based upon estimates made in 1902, show the approximate extent of the service: Positions in the executive Civil Service, 235,854; in executive departments and offices and the Government Printing Office at Washington, 20,931; in local offices and offices outside Washington, 214,923. Of positions in Washington 17,260 are classified "competitive," 286 are classified "excepted," 391 are above classification and 2,904 are below classification. Of positions in local offices and outside Washington 92,544 are classified "competitive," 11,870 are classified "excepted," 1,111 are above classification and 109,398 below classification or not yet classified. Summarizing for the entire service, 103,804 are classified "competitive," 12,156 are classified "exempted," 1,502 are above classification and 112,392 are below classification or not classified. Of the 12,156 positions in the classified service excepted either in whole or in part from examination 1,972 are in the Indian service and filled by Indians, about 4,471 are pension examining surgeons, and the remaining positions are largely those in which duty is performed in the character of deputy, as in the places of deputy collector of internal revenue, deputy marshal, etc., or those where the duties are of a confidential or fiduciary nature.

Admissions and Removals.

Examinations are held in every State and Territory at fixed times and places. They relate as nearly as possible to the duties to be performed and, wherever practicable, include practical tests. No one is certified for appointment whose standing in any examination is less than 70 per cent, except soldiers and sailors having preference under Section 1,754 of the Revised Statutes, who need obtain but 65 per cent. A certificate is given to each person examined, stating whether he or she passed or failed to pass. Upon requisition of an appointing officer the commission certifies the names of three eligibles for the position desired to be filled, and from the eligibles thus certified selections are made. Provision is also made in the rules for the filling of positions by promotion, reduction, reinstatement or transfer.

The revision of the rules promulgated by President Roosevelt on March 20, 1903, contains this limitation on the power of removal: "No person shall be removed from a competitive position, except for such cause as will promote the efficiency of the public service, and for reasons given in writing, and the person whose removal is sought shall have notice and be furnished a copy thereof, and be allowed a reasonable time for personally answering the same in writing; but no examination of witnesses nor any trial or hearing shall be required except in the discretion of the officer making the removal. Copy of such reasons, notice and answer, and of the order of removal, shall be made a part of the records of the proper department or office, as shall also the reasons for any change in rank or compensation, and the commission shall upon request be furnished with copies or the originals thereof."

The rules also forbid any person in the executive Civil Service "to use his official authority or influence for the purpose of interfering with an election or affecting the result thereof." They provide that no discrimination shall be exercised, threatened or promised by any person in the executive Civil Service against or in favor of an applicant, eligible or employe in the classified service because of his political or religious opinions or affiliations. Persons who served in the military or naval service of the United States and were discharged by reason of disabilities resulting from wounds or sickness incurred in the line of duty have under the rules a certain preference. They are released from all maximum age limitation, are eligible for appointment at a grade of 65 (while all others are obliged to obtain a grade of 70), and are certified to appointing officers before non-veterans. By two executive orders, one of July 3, 1902, and the other of March 26, 1903, President Roosevelt directed that appointments of all unclassified laborers in departments in Washington be made in accordance with registration tests for fitness, and extended those tests to laborers and workmen in the government employment in such other large cities as might be agreed on by heads of departments and the Civil Service Commission. Nov. 28, 1904, 355 additional places in customs service were put in classified list. In the last fiscal year 88,978 persons were examined, 66,214 passed and 27,782 were appointed to office.

In Porto Rico and Hawaii.

In pursuance of an act of Congress approved April 12, 1900, the civil authority of the United States succeeded the military in Porto Rico. Inasmuch as the executive officers and employes under this act became a part of the executive Civil Service of the United States they were held to come within the operations of the Civil Service act and rules. There are approximately 301 federal positions, of which 152 are subject to competitive educational examination, 81 subject to competitive registration, 20 are excepted and 48 are not subject to classification. In Hawaii the same classes of positions are embraced within the classified Civil Service as are included in that service in other Territories.

In the Philippines.

On September 19, 1900, the United States Philippine Commission passed an "act for the establishment and maintenance of an efficient and honest Civil Service in the Philippine Islands." The act provides for a Civil Service Board of three persons, which is authorized to prepare rules for appointments and promotions according to merit and by competitive examination as far as practicable. The act applies with few exceptions to all appointments of civilians to positions under the civil government, and vacancies in the highest positions must be filled by promotion. On November 30, 1900, the President issued an order directing the United States Civil Service Commission to render such assistance as may be practicable to the Philippine Civil Service Board. In accordance with this order the commission examined 1,174 persons for the Philippine service during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1902, and 584 during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903. Over 350 have been sent to the Philippines through the agency of the commission. These examinations were for positions requiring professional, technical, scientific or special clerical ability, as natives are appointed to all positions for which they are competent. The revised Civil Service rules provide that those who enter the Philippine Service are eligible for transfer to the home service after three years' employment in the Philippines.

POSTAL LAWS—GENERAL POSTAL INFORMATION.

Classes of Domestic Mail Matter.—Domestic mail is divided into four classes, as follows:

First Class—Letters, postal cards, private mailing cards and matter wholly or partly in writing, whether sealed or unsealed (except manuscript copy accompanying proof sheets or corrected proof sheets of the same), and all matter sealed or otherwise closed against inspection. Rates of postage—Two cents per ounce or fraction thereof. Postal cards, one cent each. "Post Cards" with written messages, conforming approximately to government postal cards in quality and weight and to the regulations prescribed by the Postmaster General, one cent each. On "drop" letters, two cents per ounce or fraction thereof, when mailed at letter carrier offices, or when mailed at offices which are not letter carrier offices, if rural free delivery has been established and the persons addressed can be served by rural carrier. The only drop letters entitled to the one cent drop letter rate of postage are those deposited in postoffices where neither letter carrier nor rural delivery service has been established and those deposited in postoffices where rural delivery service has been established, and the persons addressed cannot be served by rural carrier, because they reside beyond the limits of the rural delivery service.

Second Class—Newspapers and publications issued at stated intervals as often as four times a year, bearing a date of issue and numbered consecutively, issued from a known office of publication, and formed of printed paper sheets, without board, cloth, leather or other substantial binding. Such publications must be originated and published for the dissemination of information of a public character, or devoted to literature, the sciences, art, or some special industry. They must have a legitimate list of subscribers equal to 50 per cent of the number of copies regularly issued and circulated, and must not be designed primarily for advertising purposes, or for free circulation, or at nominal rates, or have the characteristics of books. Rate of postage—For publishers and news agents, one cent a pound or fraction thereof. For others than publishers and news agents one cent for each four ounces or fraction thereof.

Third Class—Books, periodicals and matter wholly in print (not included in second class), proof sheets, corrected proof sheets and manuscript copy accompanying the same. Rate of postage—One cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof. Seeds, scions, cuttings, roots and plants, and also correspondence of the blind printed in raised characters, and sent unsealed, are mailable at third class rates. The insertion of the date, name of the addressee and sender in writing does not impair the rights of a circular to the third class.

Fourth Class—Merchandise, namely, all matter not embraced in the other three classes, and which is not in its form or nature liable to destroy, deface or otherwise damage the contents of the mail bag, or harm the person of any one engaged in the postal service, and not above the weight provided by law. Rate of postage—One cent per ounce or fraction thereof.

Payment of Postage.—On first class matter the postage should be fully prepaid, but if two cents in stamps be affixed the matter will be dispatched with the deficient postage rated thereon, to be collected of addressee before delivery. Packages of first class matter exceeding four (4) pounds in weight must be fully prepaid; but letters and packages of first class matter weighing less than four (4) pounds when prepaid one full letter rate will be dispatched and the deficiency collected of the addressee. The fee is 8 cents, in addition to postage, and must invariably be prepaid.

Limit of Weight.—A package must not exceed four pounds in weight, unless it be a single book. Second class matter and fully prepaid first class matter are not subject to the four pound limitation.

Registry System.—All mailable matter may be registered if fully prepaid with ordinary postage stamps, but not matter addressed to fictitious names, other than legitimate trade names, initials or box numbers, or bearing vague and indefinite addresses. The registry fee is eight cents, in addition to the postage, both of which must invariably be prepaid.

Money Order System.—Fees for money orders are as follows: 8 cents to 30 cents for orders on Domestic form payable in the United States and Island possessions (Porto Rico, Hawaii, Guam and the Philippine Islands) the United States Postal Agency at Shanghai, in Canada, Cuba and Newfoundland, and in Barbados, Grenada, St. Lucia and St. Vincent (West Indies); 8 cents to 50 cents for International orders payable in Austria, Bahamas, Belgium, Bermuda, Bolivia, British Guiana, British Honduras, Chili, Costa Rica, Denmark, Egypt, Hungary, Jamaica, Japan, Leeward Islands, Liberia, Luxemburg, Mexico, Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Peru, Sweden, Switzerland, Transvaal and Trinidad; 10 cents to $1 for International orders payable in Apia (Samoa), Cape Colony, France, Germany, Great Britain, Greece, Honduras (Republic), Hongkong, Italy, New South Wales, Portugal, Queensland, Russia, Salvador, South Australia, Tasmania and Victoria. The maximum amount of a single order is $100. International money orders may be issued up to $100, which is the maximum, except for orders issued and payable in Cape Colony, for which the maximum amount is $50.

Postal Conventions.—Postal conventions are now in operation for the exchange of money orders between the United States and the following countries: Great Britain, Switzerland, Germany, France, Italy, Canada, Newfoundland, Jamaica, New South Wales, Victoria, New-Zealand, Queensland, Cape Colony, Windward Islands (Barbados, Grenada, St. Vincent and St. Lucia), Leeward Islands (Antigua, St. Christopher-Nevis, Dominica, Montserrat and the Virgin Islands), Belgium, Portugal (including the Azores and Madeira), Tasmania, Sweden, Norway, Japan, Denmark, Netherlands, Bahama Islands, Trinidad and Tobago, Austria-Hungary, British Guiana, Luxembourg, Bermuda, South Australia, Salvador, Chili, Honduras, Egypt, Hong Kong, British Honduras, Cuba, Russia, Mexico, Bolivia, Apia (Samoa), Costa Rica, Greece, Liberia, Peru and the Transvaal.

Special Delivery.—The regulations governing "rapid" or "special delivery" provide that any article of mailable matter bearing a 10c. special delivery stamp, in addition to the lawful postage, is entitled to immediate delivery on its arrival at any United States postoffice between the hours of 7 a. m. and 11 p. m., if the office be of the free delivery class, and between the hours of 7 a. m. and 7 p. m., and to the arrival of the last mail, provided this be not later than 9 p. m., if the office be other than a free delivery office. To entitle such a letter to immediate delivery the residence or place of business of the addressee must be within the regular letter carrier limits of a free delivery office, and within one mile of any other office. Special delivery articles are also delivered by rural carriers to bona fide patrons of their routes (those who have erected approved boxes), provided they live not exceeding one mile from the route. Special delivery stamps are not available for the payment of postage, nor can ordinary postage stamps be used to secure immediate delivery of mail matter.

Foreign Postage Rates.—The rates of postage to all foreign countries and colonies (except Canada, Cuba and Mexico) are as follows: Letters 15 grams (½ ounce), 5c.; postal cards, each, 2c.; double postal cards, each, 4c.; newspapers and other printed matter, per 2 ounces, 1c. Commercial papers: Packets not in excess of 10 ounces, 5c.; packets in excess of 10 ounces, for each 2 ounces or fraction thereof, 1c. Samples of merchandise: Packets not in excess of 4 ounces, 2c.; packets in excess of 4 ounces, for each 2 ounces or fraction thereof, 1c. Registration fee on letters or other articles, 8c.

Ordinary letters for any foreign country (except Canada and Mexico) must be forwarded whether any postage is prepaid on them or not. All other mailable matter must be prepaid, at least partially. Matter mailed in the United States addressed to Canada, Cuba or Mexico is subject to the same postage rates and conditions as it would be if it were addressed for delivery in the United States. Full prepayment is required upon all registered articles; and postage upon all articles other than letters is required to be prepaid, at least in part. If the postage is not prepaid in full, double the amount of the deficiency will be collected of the addressee when the article is delivered. The rate on "commercial papers" per 2 ounces is the same as for "printed matter," except that the lowest charge on any package, whatever its weight, is 5c. The rate on samples of merchandise per 2 ounces is also the same as for "printed matter," except that the lowest charge on any package, whatever its weight, is 2c.

Articles of every kind and nature which are admitted to the United States domestic mails are admitted, at our domestic postage rates and conditions, to the mails exchanged between the United States and the United States Postal Agency at Shanghai, China. Articles addressed for delivery at the following places in China, namely: Chefoo (Yentai), Chin-Kiang, Chung-King, Hankow, Hang-Chow, Ichang, Kaiping, Kaigan, Kinkiang, Nanking, New-Chwang, Ningpo, Ourga, Peking, Shanghai, Taku, Tienstin, Wenchow, Wuchang, Wuhu and Yentai, are transmissible in the mails made up at San Francisco, Seattle and Tacoma for the United States Postal Agency at Shanghai; but at places other than Shanghai additional charges for postage may be collected of the addressees upon the delivery of the articles.

Parcels Post.—The first parcels post convention between the United States and any country in Europe was signed between the United States and Germany on August 26, 1899, and went into operation October 1. It was the beginning of a postal service by means of which articles of merchandise may be exchanged by mail between the two countries, provided they are put up in packages which do not exceed 4 pounds 6 ounces in weight. The postage rate for parcels going from the United States to Germany is fixed at 12c. for each pound or fraction of a pound. The rate in Germany on parcels for the United States is fixed at 1 mark 40 pfennigs a parcel, whatever its weight. Provision is made for customs declaration and payment. The United States had parcels post conventions with several countries in Central and South America and the West India Islands, but this was the first convention made with any country in Europe. The law empowers the Postmaster General to make such conventions by and with the advice and consent of the President.

Postage Rates Between the United States, Cuba and Island Possessions.—All mail matter sent between the United States and Cuba, the Island of Guam, the Philippine Archipelago, or Tutuila (including all adjacent islands of the Samoan group which are possessions of the United States), or from one to another of these islands, is subject to the United States domestic classification, conditions and rates of postage.

NATURALIZATION LAWS.

Declaration of Intention.—An alien seeking naturalization as a citizen of the United States must declare on oath before a Circuit or District Court of the United States, or a District or Supreme Court of the Territories, or a court of record of any of the States having common law jurisdiction and a seal and a clerk, at least two years before his admission, that it is bona fide, his intention to become a citizen of the United States, and to renounce forever all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign State or ruler, and particularly to the one of which he may be at the time a citizen or subject.

Oath on Application for Admission.—At the time of his application for admission he must also declare on oath, before some one of the courts above specified, "that he will support the Constitution of the United States, and that he absolutely and entirely renounces and abjures all allegiance and fidelity to every foreign prince, potentate, State or sovereignty, and particularly, by name, to the prince, potentate, State or sovereignty of which he was before a citizen or subject."

Conditions of Citizenship.—It must appear to the satisfaction of the court to which the alien has applied for final admission that he has resided continuously within the United States for at least five years, and in the State or Territory where the court is held at least one year, and that during that time "he has behaved as a man of good moral character, attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States, and well disposed to the good order and happiness of the same."

Titles of Nobility.—If the applicant bears any hereditary title or belongs to any order of nobility, he must make an express renunciation at the time of his application.

Soldiers.—Any alien, twenty-one years of age, or over, who has served one year, or over, in the Regular or Volunteer Army of the United States and has been honorably discharged, may, upon application to a court as specified above, proof of one year's residence, good moral character and honorable discharge, be admitted a citizen of the United States.

Seamen.—Seamen who have declared their intention to become citizens, and who, subsequently to such declaration, have served three years on board a merchant vessel of the United States, may be admitted to citizenship.

Navy or Marine Corps.—Any alien, twenty-one years of age, or over, who has served five years, or over, in the United States Navy or United States Marine Corps and has been honorably discharged, may, upon application to a court as specified above, proof of good moral character, five years' service and honorable discharge, be admitted a citizen of the United States.

Wife.—A wife may become a citizen by her husband's naturalization, if she might herself be lawfully naturalized.

Minors.—Any alien under the age of twenty-one, who has resided in the United States three years next preceding his twenty-first birthday, and has continued to reside therein up to the time he makes application to be admitted a citizen, may, after he arrives at the age of twenty-one, and after he has resided five years within the United States, including the three years of his minority, be admitted a citizen; but he must make a declaration on oath and prove to the satisfaction of the court that for the two years next preceding it has been his bona fide intention to become a citizen.

Children of Naturalized Citizens.—The children of persons who have been duly naturalized, being under twenty-one at the time of the naturalization of their parents, shall, if dwelling in the United States, be considered as citizens.

Citizens' Children Born Abroad.—The children of persons who now are or have been citizens of the United States are considered as citizens, though they may be born out of the limits and jurisdiction of the United States.

Chinese.—The Naturalization laws of the United States have never allowed other than "free white persons" and "persons of African nativity or descent" to be naturalized. The naturalization of Chinamen is also expressly prohibited by Section 14, Chapter 126, Laws of 1882.

Protection of Naturalized Citizens.—Section 2,000 of the Revised Statutes of the United States expressly declares that "all naturalized citizens of the United States while in foreign countries are entitled to and shall receive from this Government the same protection of person and property which is accorded to native born citizens."

The Right of Suffrage.—The right to vote is conferred by the State, naturalization by the United States. In several States aliens who have declared their intentions enjoy the right to vote equally with naturalized or native born citizens. But the Federal Naturalization laws apply to the whole Union alike, and no alien may be naturalized until after five years' residence, except an honorably discharged soldier or a person whose parents have been naturalized while he was under twenty-one years of age, as above recited. Even after five years' residence and due naturalization he is not entitled to vote unless the laws of the State confer the privilege upon him.

Excluding Anarchists.—The act of March 3, 1903 (taking effect June 1, 1903), imposed these further restrictions on the naturalization of aliens: No person who disbelieves in or who is opposed to all organized government, or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining and teaching such disbelief in or opposition to all organized government, or who advocates or teaches the duty, necessity, or propriety of the unlawful assaulting or killing of any officer or officers, either of specific individuals or of officers generally, of the government of the United States or of any other organized government, because of his or their official character, or who has violated any of the provisions of this act, shall be naturalized or be made a citizen of the United States. All courts and tribunals and all judges and officers thereof having jurisdiction of naturalization proceedings or duties to perform in regard thereto shall, on the final application for naturalization, make careful inquiry into such matters, and before issuing the final order or certificate of naturalization cause to be entered of record the affidavit of the applicant and of his witnesses so far as applicable, reciting and reaffirming the truth or every material fact requisite for naturalization. All final orders and certificates of naturalization hereafter made shall show on their face specifically that said affidavits were duly made and recorded, and all orders and certificates that fail to show such facts shall be null and void.

Any person who purposely procures naturalization in violation of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than five thousand dollars, or shall be imprisoned not less than one nor more than ten years, or both, and the court in which such conviction is had shall thereupon adjudge and declare the order or decree and all certificates admitting such person to citizenship null and void. Jurisdiction is hereby conferred on the courts having jurisdiction of the trial of such offence to make such adjudication.

Any person who knowingly aids, advises or encourages any such person to apply for or to secure naturalization or to file the preliminary papers declaring an intent to become a citizen of the United States, or who in any naturalization proceeding knowingly procures or gives false testimony as to any material fact, or who knowingly makes an affidavit false as to any material fact required to be proved in such proceeding, shall be fined not more than five thousand dollars, or imprisoned not less than one nor more than ten years, or both.

PENSION LAWS AND STATISTICS.

To obtain a pension the applicant must file a claim with the Commissioner of Pensions, Washington, D. C. In a claim by the soldier he should set forth all his military or naval service, giving dates of enlistment and discharge. The prime requirement to establish a claim under act of July 14, 1862, usually termed the general law, is to show that the disability for which pension is claimed had its origin while in the service and line of duty; that it has existed as a disabling cause from date of discharge, and now exists in a degree pensionable under the law. In a claim under the act of June 27, 1890, the essential requirements are: A service of ninety days or more, an honorable discharge therefrom and proof that the disability for which pension is claimed is not due to claimant's own vicious habits, but it need not necessarily be of service origin. In a widow's claim it is necessary to show her legal marriage to the soldier, the date of his death, and, under the general law, that it was due to some cause of service origin. She must also show that she has remained his widow. If there are children of the soldier under sixteen years of age at the date of his death, their names should be given and the date of birth of each clearly shown. If any have died the date should be proved. In a widow's claim under the act of June 27, 1890, the requirement as to service is the same as under an invalid claim, and in addition thereto she must show a legal marriage to the soldier prior to the passage of the act, the fact of soldier's death (but it need not be shown to be due to service), her continued widowhood and that she is without other means of support than her daily labor. The act of May 9, 1900, amending the act of June 27, 1890, gives title to widows who are without means of support other than their daily labor and a net annual income of $250. A minor child's title to pension accrues only on the death or remarriage of the widow, which fact must be shown, in addition to the requirements in widow's claim. A dependent mother must show her relationship to the soldier, his celibacy, that he contributed to her support, that his death was due to some cause of service origin, the date of his death, and, under the general law, that she was dependent upon him at the date of his death. Under the act of June 27, 1890, it is only necessary to show dependence at date of filing claim and since then. A dependent father must show relationship by legal marriage to soldier's mother, the date of soldier's birth and of the mother's death, in addition to the requirements in the mother's claim. Applications rejected by a Board of Pension Surgeons may be reconsidered on the evidence of two physicians that disability exists. Pensions for privates range from $8 to $30 a month in most cases though $72 a month is granted to those who have lost both feet or both eyes, and $100 a month to those who have lost both hands.

The following executive order, issued March 15, 1904, further defined certain general conditions under which a claimant's disability may be presumed:

"Ordered: (1) In the adjudication of pension claims under said act of June 27, 1890, as amended, it shall be taken and considered as an evidential fact, if the contrary does not appear, and if all other legal requirements are properly met, that, when a claimant has passed the age of 62 years he is disabled one-half in ability to perform manual labor and is entitled to be rated at six dollars per month; after 65 years at eight dollars per month; after 68 years at ten dollars per month, and after 70 years at twelve dollars per month.

"(2) Allowances at higher rate, not exceeding twelve dollars per month, will continue to be made as heretofore, where disabilities other than age show a condition of inability to perform manual labor.

"(3) This order shall take effect April 13, 1904, and shall not be deemed retroactive. The former rules of the office fixing the minimum and maximum at 65 and 75 years, respectively, are hereby modified as above."

PATENT OFFICE STATISTICS.

In 1903 there were received 49,289 applications for mechanical patents, 770 applications for design patents, 154 applications for re-issues of patents, 2,504 applications for registration of trade marks, 1,234 applications for registration of labels, and 380 applications for registration of prints. There were 31,582 patents issued, including designs; 117 patents re-issued, 2,186 trade marks registered, 990 labels and 270 prints. The number of patents that expired was 21,797. The number of allowed applications awaiting the payment of final fees was 10,545. The number forfeited for non-payment of the final fees was 5,236. The total expenditures were $1,448,645 81. The receipts over expenditures were $193,556. The total balance to the credit of the Patent Office in the Treasury of the United States on January 1, 1904, was $5,682,540 61.

In proportion to population, more patents were issued to citizens of Connecticut than to those of any other State—1 to every 996. Next in order are the following: District of Columbia, 1 to every 1,063; Rhode Island, 1 to every 1,224; Colorado, 1 to every 1,335; Massachusetts, 1 to every 1,348; California, 1 to every 1,516; New-Jersey, 1 to every 1,533; New-York, 1 to every 1,589; Illinois, 1 to every 1,715; Ohio, 1 to every 1,928; Pennsylvania, 1 to every 2,004; Washington, 1 to every 2,252; Michigan, 1 to every 2,548; Missouri, 1 to every 3,173; Indiana, 1 to every 3,193; Arizona Territory, 1 to every 3,235; Montana, 1 to every 3,244; Nevada, 1 to every 3,256; Oregon, 1 to every 3,308; Wisconsin, 1 to every 3,342; Minnesota, 1 to every 3,495; Maryland, 1 to every 3,500; Iowa, 1 to every 3,559; New-Hampshire 1 to every 3,741; Utah, 1 to every 3,791; Nebraska, 1 to every 3,857; Delaware, 1 to every 4,198; Wyoming, 1 to every 4,205; South Dakota, 1 to every 4,364; Kansas, 1 to every 4,402; Oklahoma Territory, 1 to every 4,474; North Dakota, 1 to every 4,693; Idaho, 1 to every 5,055; Maine, 1 to every 5,106; Vermont, 1 to every 5,454; West Virginia, 1 to every 6,307; Texas, 1 to every 7,024; Kentucky, 1 to every 7,751; Florida, 1 to every 7,888; New-Mexico Territory, 1 to every, 8,491; Virginia, 1 to every 8,829; Louisiana, 1 to every 9,661; Tennessee, 1 to every 9,714; Georgia, 1 to every 10,074. The fewest patents granted in proportion to the number of inhabitants were in the following States and Territories: Mississippi, 1 to every 22,161; Alaska Territory, 1 to every 21,147; South Carolina, 1 to every 17,635; Arkansas, 1 to every 16,814; North Carolina, 1 to every 15,150; Alabama, 1 to every 13,646; Hawaii Territory, 1 to every 11,846; Indian Territory, 1 to every 10,887.

Of foreign patents, 1,065 were granted to residents of England; 1,053, Germany; 440, Canada; 321, France; 136, Austria-Hungary; 110, Scotland; 78, Switzerland; 76, Sweden; 59, Belgium; 50, Victoria; 48, New-Zealand; 46, Russia; 36, Denmark; 30, Italy; 24 each to Ireland and the Netherlands; 22, Mexico; 20, New South Wales; 18, Norway; 16, Transvaal; 10, Argentina; 9, Cuba; 8, South Australia; India and Spain, 7 each; Japan and Rumania, 6 each; Brazil and Queensland, 5 each; South Africa and Western Australia, 4 each; Algeria, Guatemala and Tasmania, 2 each; and Bolivia, British Honduras, British West Indies, Cape Colony, Chili, China, Costa Rica, Honduras, Jamaica, Java, Natal, Newfoundland, Portugal and Turkey, 1 each.

The Patent Office issued 31,690 patents during the year 1903, the largest annual issue in its entire history.

The total number of trade marks, prints and labels registered for the year 1903 was 3,446, the largest issue of certificates of registration in the history of the office.

PASSPORT REGULATIONS.

The law forbids the granting of a passport to any person not a citizen of the United States, or loyal resident of an insular possession of the United States. A person who has only made the declaration of intention to become a citizen cannot receive a passport. No one but the Secretary of State may grant and issue passports in the United States. A person who is entitled to receive a passport, if temporarily abroad, should apply to the diplomatic representative of the United States in the country where he happens to be, or, in the absence of a diplomatic representative, to the Consul-General of the United States, or, in the absence of both, to a consul of the United States. The necessary statements may be made before the nearest consular officer. Application for a passport by a person in one of the insular possessions of the United States should be made to the Chief Executive of such possession. The evidence required of a person making application abroad or in an insular possession of the United States is the same as that required of an applicant in the United States.

Such application, in the form of an affidavit, must be attested by an officer authorized to administer oaths. The applicant is required to state the date and place of his birth, his occupation, the place of his permanent residence, and within what length of time he intends to return to the United States with the purpose of residing and performing the duties of citizenship therein. The applicant must take the oath of allegiance to the Government of the United States. The application must be accompanied by a description stating the following particulars: Age, stature, forehead, eyes, nose, mouth, chin, hair, complexion, face, and by a certificate from at least one credible witness that the applicant is the person he represents himself to be, and that the facts stated in the affidavit are true to the best of the witness's knowledge and belief.

A person of the Chinese race, alleging birth in the United States, must accompany his application with supporting affidavits from at least two credible witnesses, preferably not of the Chinese race, having personal knowledge of the applicant's birth in the United States. A person born abroad whose father was a native citizen of the United States must show that his father was born in the United States, resided therein, and was a citizen at the time of the applicant's birth. The department may require that this affidavit be supported by that of one other citizen acquainted with the facts. A naturalized citizen must transmit his certificate of naturalization, or a duly certified copy of the court record thereof, with his application. He must state in his affidavit when and from what port he emigrated to this country, what ship he sailed in, where he has lived since his arrival in the United States, when and before what court he was naturalized, and that he is the identical person described in the certificate of naturalization.

If a woman making application is unmarried she should state that she has never been married. If she is the wife or widow of a native citizen of the United States the fact should be made to appear. If she is the wife or widow of a naturalized citizen she must transmit for inspection her husband's certificate of naturalization, must state that she is the wife (or widow) of the person described therein, and must set forth the facts of his emigration, naturalization and residence, as required in the rule governing the application of a naturalized citizen. A married woman's citizenship follows that of her husband so far as her international status is concerned. It is essential, therefore, that a woman's marital relations be indicated in her application for a passport, and that in the case of a married woman her husband's citizenship be established. The child of a naturalized citizen claiming citizenship through the naturalization of the parent must state that he or she is the son or daughter, as the case may be, of the person described in the certificate of naturalization, which must be submitted for inspection, and must set forth the facts of emigration, naturalization and residence, as required in the rule governing the application of a naturalized citizen. A resident of an insular possession of the United States who owes allegiance to the United States must state that he owes allegiance to the United States and that he does not acknowledge allegiance to any other government, and must submit affidavits from at least two credible witnesses having good means of knowledge in substantiation of his statements of birth, residence and loyalty.

A passport expires two years from the date of issuance. A new one will be issued upon a new application, and, if the applicant be a naturalized citizen, the old passport will be accepted in lieu of a certificate of naturalization, if the application upon which it was issued is found to contain sufficient information as to the naturalization of the applicant. When the applicant is accompanied by his wife, minor children or servant who would be entitled to receive a passport, it will be sufficient to state the fact, giving the respective ages of the children and the allegiance of the servant, when one passport will suffice for all. For any other person in the party a separate passport will be required. A woman's passport may include her minor children and servant under the above-named conditions. The term servant does not include a governess, tutor, pupil, companion or person holding like relations to the applicant for a passport. Professional and other titles will not be inserted in passports.

By act of Congress, a fee of $1 is required to be collected for every citizen's passport. That amount in currency or postal money order should accompany each application made by a citizen of the United States. Orders should be made payable to the disbursing clerk of the Department of State. Drafts or checks will not be accepted. Blank forms of application will be furnished by the department. The Secretary of State may refuse to issue a passport to any one who he has reason to believe desires it to further an unlawful or improper purpose.

Passports are not required in the Argentine Republic, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Chili, Colombia, Costa Rica, Denmark and possessions, Great Britain and possessions, Guatemala, Honduras, Japan, Liberia, Mexico, Nicaragua, Norway, Paraguay, Peru, Portugal and possessions, Salvador, Sweden and Uruguay. It is recommended, however, that Americans intending to visit those countries be provided with passports for convenience to travel without interruption. The laws of the following countries require that every foreigner must be provided with a passport before entering their domains: Austria-Hungary, Dominican Republic, Germany, Greece, Hayti, Netherlands and possessions, Persia, Rumania, Russia, Servia, Turkey and possessions and Venezuela. As a general rule it is wise for persons intending travelling abroad, outside of British dominions, where passports are never demanded, to provide themselves with passports before leaving the United States. Persons intending to enter Russian or Turkish territory should have their passports visé (countersigned) by a Russian or Turkish consular representative in this country before sailing. There is now mailed by the State Department, with each passport issued to a naturalized citizen, an unofficial statement showing what his status will be under the laws of the country of his origin if he returns.

TRADE-MARK LAWS.

The following classes may obtain registration: (a) Any person, firm or corporation domiciled in the United States or located in any foreign country which, by treaty, convention or law, affords similar privileges to citizens of the United States, and who is entitled to the exclusive use of any trade-mark and uses the same in commerce with foreign nations or with Indian tribes. (b) Any citizen or resident of this country wishing the protection of his trade-mark in any foreign country the laws of which require registration in the United States as a condition precedent. An application for the registration of a trade-mark will consist of a statement or specification, a declaration or oath, and drawing, which must follow rules laid down. These should be preceded by a brief letter of advice requesting registration and signed by the applicant. The statement should announce the full name, citizenship, domicile, residence, and place of business of the applicant (or, if the applicant be a corporation, under the laws of what State or nation incorporated), with a full and clear specification of the trade-mark. It should state from what time the trade-mark has been used by the applicant, the class of merchandise, and the particular goods comprised in such class to which the trade-mark is appropriated, and the manner in which the trade-mark has been applied to the goods. The declaration should be in the form of an oath by the person, or by a member of the firm, or by an officer of the corporation, making the application, to the effect that the party has at the time of filing his application a right to the use of the trade-mark described in the statement; that no other person, firm, or corporation has a right to such use, either in the identical form or in such near resemblance thereto as might be calculated to deceive; that such trade-mark is used in lawful commerce with foreign nations or Indian tribes, one or more of which should be particularly named; and that it is truly represented in the fac-simile presented for registry. The oath may be taken within the United States before a notary public, justice of the peace, or the judge or clerk of any court of record. In any foreign country it may be taken before the secretary of a legation or consular officer of the United States, or before any person duly qualified by the laws of the country to administer oaths, whose official character shall be certified by a representative of the United States having an official seal. A fee of $25 is required on filing application, except in cases named in the following: Owners of trade-marks for which protection has been sought by registering their in the Patent Office under the act of July 8, 1870 (declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of the United States), may register the same for the same goods, without fee, on compliance with the foregoing requirements. With each application of this character a specific reference to the date and number of the former certificate is required. Applicants whose cases were filed under the act of 1870, either prior to or since the decision of the Supreme Court declaring it unconstitutional, which are now pending before the office are advised to prepare applications in conformity with the law and foregoing rules. On the receipt of such an application, referring to the date of the one formerly filed, all fees thereon will be duly applied. Those who have paid only $10 as a first fee are advised that the law does not provide for a division of the legal fee of $25, and that the remainder of the entire fee is required before the application can be entertained.

THE BANKRUPTCY LAW.

The Bankruptcy Law passed by both houses of the LVth Congress and approved July 1, 1898, provides a complete system for the administration of the affairs of bankrupts and the distribution of their property among their creditors, uniform throughout the United States and administered by the United States courts, in place of the different systems formerly in existence in the various States administered by State courts. In bankruptcy proceedings a bankrupt debtor may turn over all his property to the court to be administered for the benefit of his creditors, and then get a complete discharge from his debts. A bankrupt may of his own motion offer to surrender his property to the administration of the United States court and ask for his discharge in voluntary bankruptcy, or creditors may apply to the court to compel a bankrupt to turn over his property to be administered under the act for the benefit of the creditors in voluntary bankruptcy. The bankrupt who has turned over all his property and conformed to the provisions of the act is entitled to a judgment of court discharging him from any future liability to his creditors.

Extended powers are given for taking possession of the assets, among others, to allow and disallow all claims against bankrupt estates, appoint receivers and take the necessary measures for the preservation and charge of the porperty of a bankrupt; to arraign, try and punish bankrupts, officers and other persons and the agents, officers, members of the board of directors or trustees or other similar bodies of corporations for violation of the act; to authorize the business of the bankrupt to be conducted for limited periods; to cause the assets to be collected and reduced to money and distributed, and substantially determine all controversies in relation thereto, to enforce obedience to lawful orders by fine or imprisonment, and to extradite bankrupts from one district to another. The proceeding once inaugurated by the filing of a petition by the bankrupt and the adjudication in bankruptcy having been made, the Court proceeds to take charge of the bankrupt's property, and administer the same for the benefit of the creditors, and determine all questions which may arise in regard to the rights of the bankrupt or the creditors, either as against the bankrupt or as between themselves in accordance with the above prescribed powers. A trustee is appointed, either selected by the creditors at a meeting called for that purpose or, in case they fail to select a trustee, one is appointed by the Court.

His duty is to collect the property, realize on it in such manner as may be for the best interests of all concerned, and ultimately distribute it among the creditors in such proportions as they may be adjudicated to be entitled thereto. As all questions, both of law and fact, in relation to the property or the rights of the various parties must be decided in the bankruptcy proceeding, it is provided that referees be appointed, who are charged with the duty of hearing the allegations and testimony of all parties and deciding all such questions that may arise. Each case, as it comes up, is assigned to some referee, whose duty it is to adjudicate and pass upon all such questions arising therein in the first instance, the right being reserved to any parties to appeal from the decision of the referee to the United States District Court. The duties of the referee are substantially of a judicial character, and he occupies much the position of a judge of primary resort, subject to an appeal to the Court, and is required to take the same oath of office as that prescribed for judges of the United States courts. By Section 38 of the act, the referee is invested with jurisdiction to consider all petitions referred to him by the clerks, make adjudications or dismiss the petition; exercise the powers vested in courts of bankruptcy for the administering of oaths to and the examination of witnesses, and for requiring the production of documents in proceedings before him, except the power of commitment, and in the absence of the Judge, to exercise all his powers for taking possession and releasing the property of a bankrupt, and to perform such part of the duties of the courts of bankruptcy as they may prescribe by rules and orders, excepting only questions arising on applications of bankrupts for compositions or discharges.

All questions in regard to the property or assets or rights of the creditors and persons interested come before the referee for determination, subject to the right of appeal. After the rights of all parties have been ascertained and determined, and the property has been realized upon, it is distributed among the creditors. Provision is made in the act for allowing bankrupts to compromise or settle with their creditors by a proceeding known as composition proceedings, whereby, if a bankrupt and a majority of his creditors agree upon some basis of settlement, the same, if approved by the Court, shall become binding upon all creditors. The decision of the question as to the approval of compositions and granting discharges to a bankrupt from his debts is specifically reserved by the act to the judges of the United States courts; but the Court, by virtue of its general powers, may refer such matters to the referee to take testimony and report to the Court his opinion thereon. The aim of the act has been to make the expense of the proceedings depend largely upon the amount of the property involved, and the compensation of the referees is fixed substantially at 1 per cent on the amount distributed to the creditors in ordinary cases, where the assets are distributed by the Court, and one-half of 1 per cent in composition cases, and the trustees who have charge of the actual management of the bankrupt's property receive as compensation such commissions on amounts paid out by them as dividends as the Court may allow, not to exceed, however, 3 per cent on the first $5,000, 2 per cent on the second $5,000, and 1 per cent on all sums in excess of $10,000. Detailed provisions are made in the act for giving notice to all creditors and other persons interested in the estate of the pendency of the proceedings, the payment and declaration of dividends and other matters, and providing methods whereby all parties interested may be heard on all subjects arising in the course of the proceedings.

Some minor modifications were made in the application of the bankruptcy system by the act of February 5, 1903, amending the act of July 1, 1898.

LABOR LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES.

The United States statutes at large provide for a Bureau of Labor in the Department of Commerce and Labor, said bureau to be in charge of an officer designated the Commissioner of Labor. The general design and duties of the Bureau of Labor are to acquire and diffuse among the people of the United States useful information on subjects connected with labor, in the most general and comprehensive sense of that word, and especially upon its relation to capital, hours of labor, the earnings of laboring men and women, and the means of promoting their material, social, intellectual and moral prosperity. The information collected by the Commissioner is given to the public through three vehicles—an annual report, special reports (when in the judgment of the Commissioner such reports are essential), and a bimonthly bulletin. Eighteen annual reports, ten special reports and fifty-five bulletins have been published. It is the duty of the Commissioner to collect and present in annual reports statistical details relating to all departments of labor in the Territory of Hawaii.

Labor Commissioner.

In an article entitled "Employer and Employe Under the Common Law," published in the U. S. Department of Labor Bulletin No. 1 pages 98 and 99, the common law on the subject of boycotting, as laid down by the courts, is stated as follows: "Every one has the right to work or to refuse to work for whom and on what terms he pleases, or to refuse to deal with whom he pleases; and a number of persons, if they have no unlawful object in view, have the right to agree that they will not work for or deal with certain persons, or that they will not work under a fixed price or without certain conditions The right of employes to refuse to work, either singly or in combination, except upon terms and conditions satisfactory to themselves, is balanced by the right of employers to refuse to engage the services of any one for any reason they deem proper. The master may fix the wages, and other conditions not unlawful, upon which he will employ workmen, and has the right to refuse to employ them upon any other terms. In short, both employers and employes are entitled to exercise the fullest liberty in entering into contracts of service, and neither party can hold the other responsible for refusing to enter into such contracts. It has been held, however, that employers in separate, independent establishments have no right to combine for the purpose of preventing workmen who have incurred the hostility of one of them from securing employment upon any terms and by the method commonly known as blacklisting debarring such workmen from exercising their vocation, such a combination being regarded as a criminal conspiracy. On the other hand, a combination of employes having for its purpose the accomplishment of an illegal object is unlawful; for instance, a conspiracy to extort money from an employer by inducing his workmen to leave him and deterring others from entering his service is illegal; and an association which undertakes to coerce workmen to become members thereof or to dictate to employers as to the methods or terms upon which their business shall be conducted by means of force, threats or intimidation, interfering with their traffic or lawful employment of other persons is, as to such purposes, an illegal combination. Unlawful interference by employes, or former employes, or persons acting in sympathy with them, with the business of a railroad company in the hands of a receiver renders the persons interfering liable to punishment for contempt of court."

Boycotting.

The U. S. Statutes at Large provide that the service and employment of all laborers and mechanics employed by the Government of the United States, by the District of Columbia, or by any contractor or sub-contractor upon any of the public works of the United States, or of the District of Columbia, shall be limited and restricted to eight hours in any one calendar day. Also, that it shall be unlawful for any officer of the United States or of the District of Columbia, or for any contractor or subcontractor as above described, to require or permit any such laborer or mechanic to work more than eight hours in any calendar day, except in cases of extraordinary emergency (Chap. 352, acts of Congress, 1891-'92.) In 1887 Congress provided by act that eight hours should constitute a day's work for letter carriers in cities or postal districts connected therewith, and if any letter carrier should be employed a greater number of hours per day he should be paid extra for the same. (Chap. 308, acts of Congress, 1887-'88.) Chap. 47, acts of Congress, 1887-'88, directs the Public Printer to enforce the eight-hour law in the department under his charge.

Hours of Labor.

Holiday Pay.

All persons of the Government service as per diem employes are allowed the following holidays, for which they shall receive pay the same as on other days: January 1, February 22, May 30 (Memorial Day), July 4, first Monday in September, Labor Day (to employees of the Government Printing Office only), December 25, and such days as the President may appoint as days for national thanksgiving. (Resolution No. 5, acts of Congress, 1884–'85, and Resolution No. 6, acts of Congress, 1886–'87.) An act of January 12, 1895, Chap. 23, Sec. 46, 28 Stat. 607, provides that Inauguration Day shall be a holiday, with pay, for employes of the Government Printing Office.

Arbitration of Labor Disputes.

Chap. 370, acts of Congress, 1897–'98, provides that when a controversy arises between a common carrier, engaged in interstate or foreign commerce, and its employes, which interrupts or threatens to interrupt its business, the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Commissioner of Labor shall, upon the request of either party, communicate with the parties and try by mediation and conciliation to settle the controversy, and if their efforts are unsuccessful they shall then try to bring about an arbitration of said controversy; that if the effort at mediation as above does not succeed the controversy may, by the consent of the parties, be submitted to the arbitration of a board of three persons, one to be named by the employing carrier, one to be named by the employes, and the third to be chosen by the two first named, or, if they cannot agree on any one, then by the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Commissioner of Labor; that a majority of said arbitrators may make a valid and binding award, which must be found and filed in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of the United States for the district wherein the controversy arose or the arbitration was entered into, within thirty days from the date of the appointment of the third arbitrator; that the submission of the controversy shall be in writing and signed by both parties, and must be filed with the award and with a transcript of all the testimony; that these papers so filed in court with the award shall have the force and effect of a bill of exceptions; that the award shall be final and conclusive upon both parties unless set aside by the court for error of law apparent on the record; that the award shall go into practical operation and judgment shall be entered thereon at the expiration of ten days from the filing unless, within said ten days, either party shall file exceptions thereto for matter of law apparent upon the record; that at the expiration of ten days from the judgment of the Circuit Court upon exceptions taken as above, judgment shall be entered in accordance with the decision of the court unless, within said ten days, either party shall appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals; the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals shall be final; that employes dissatisfied with the award must not quit the employer before the expiration of three months from and after the making of the award without giving thirty days' notice in writing of their intention, and that an employer so dissatisfied must not, on account of said dissatisfaction, dismiss an employe before the expiration of said three months without giving the same notice; that during the pendency of such arbitration it shall not be lawful for the employer party to such arbitration to discharge employes parties thereto, except for inefficiency, violation of law or neglect of duty, nor for the employes to unite in, aid or abet strikes against said employer, and that for a period of three months after an award under such an arbitration it shall not be lawful for an employer to discharge employes, except for the causes aforesaid, without giving thirty days' notice in writing of his intention so to do, nor for any employes, during a like period, to quit the service of the employer without just cause without giving a like notice; that each member of such board of arbitration shall receive a compensation of $10 per day for the time he is actually employed and also his travelling and other necessary expenses.

COPYRIGHT IN THE UNITED STATES.

Under the International Copyright act (approved March 3, 1891; took effect July 1, 1891) any United States citizen, or any citizen or subject of a foreign nation which grants copyright to United States citizens on substantially the same basis with its own citizens, may secure for twenty-eight years the sole liberty of printing, reprinting, publishing, completing, copying, executing, finishing and vending his work; and, in case of a dramatic composition, of publicly performing or representing it, or causing it to be performed or represented by others. This term of security is renewable for fourteen years more. The right of citizens or subjects of a foreign nation to copyright in the United States, on January 1, 1896, had been extended by Presidential proclamations to Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Belgium, Denmark and Switzerland. On February 27, 1896, copyright benefits were extended to citizens of Mexico by proclamation of the President; on May 25, 1896, to citizens of Chili; on October 19, 1899, to those of Costa Rica, and on November 20, 1899, to those of the Netherlands (Holland) and possessions. A bill of Congress, signed by the President January 6, 1897, makes an injunction against the unlawful production of a play obtained in a United States District Court operative in all districts, instead of only in the one in which it is granted, as formerly. It also makes the unlawful production of a play punishable by imprisonment, under certain conditions. To aid in having the law strictly complied with, so that no question can arise as to the validity of the entry recorded, and that the application shall be in such a form that the Copyright Office can, upon its receipt, promptly make the entries desired, and thus avoid delay through the necessity for correspondence, an application form has been prepared, which can be obtained by addressing "Register of Copyrights, Library of Congress, Washington, D. C."

By application to the same office a pamphlet giving directions for securing copyrights, etc., may be obtained. The law imposes a penalty of $100 upon any person who shall insert the notice of copyright, or words of the same purport, upon any book or other article which has not been copyrighted, whether such article be subject to copyright or otherwise; or who shall knowingly issue or sell any article bearing a notice of United States copyright which has not been copyrighted in the United States; or who shall import any book, photograph, chromo or lithograph, or other article bearing such notice of copyright or words of the same purport, which is not copyrighted in this country. The president of the American Copyright League is Edmund Clarence Stedman, and the secretary is R. U. Johnson. No. 33 East 17th-st., New-York City, N. Y.

WEATHER BUREAU FORECASTS AND STORM WARNINGS.

The Weather Bureau furnishes, when practicable, for the benefit of all interests dependent upon weather conditions, the "Forecasts" which are prepared daily at the Central Office in Washington, D. C., and certain designated stations. These forecasts are telegraphed to stations of the Weather Bureau, railway officials, postmasters, and many others, to be communicated to the public by means of flags or steam whistles. The flags adopted for this purpose are five in number, and of the forms and colors indicated below:

EXPLANATION OF WEATHER FLAGS.

No. 1. White Flag. Clear or fair weather.

No. 2. Blue Flag. Rain or Snow.

No. 3. White and Blue Flag. Local Rain or Snow.

No. 4. Black Triangular Flag. Temperature.

No. 5. White Flag with bl'k sq. in centre. Cold Wave.

When No. 4 is placed above No. 1, 2, or 3, it indicates warmer; when below, colder; when not displayed, the temperature is expected to remain about stationary. During the late spring and early fall the cold wave flag is also used to indicate anticipated frosts.

EXPLANATION OF WHISTLE SIGNALS.

A warning blast of from fifteen to twenty seconds' duration is sounded to attract attention. After this warning the longer blasts (of from four to six seconds' duration) refer to weather, and shorter blasts (from one to three seconds' duration) refer to temperature; those for weather are sounded first.

Blasts.	Indicate.	Blasts.	Indicate.
One long	Fair weather.	One short	Lower temperature.
Two long	Rain or snow.	Two short	Higher temperature.
Three long	Local rain or snow.	Three short	Cold wave.

By repeating each combination a few times, with intervals of ten seconds, liability to error in reading the signals may be avoided. As far as practicable, the forecast messages will be telegraphed at the expense of the Weather Bureau; but if this is impracticable, they will be furnished at the regular commercial rates and sent "collect." In no case will the forecasts be sent to a second address in any place, except at the expense of the applicant. Persons desiring to display the flags or sound the whistle signals for the benefit of the public should communicate with the Weather Bureau officials in charge of the climate and crop service of their respective States, the central stations of which are as follows: Montgomery, Ala.; Phœnix, Ariz.; Little Rock, Ark.; San Francisco, Cal.; Denver, Col.; Jacksonville, Fla.; Atlanta, Ga.; Boise, Idaho; Springfield, Ill.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Des Moines, Iowa; Topeka, Kan.; Louisville, Ky.; New-Orleans, La.; Baltimore, Md. (for Delaware and Maryland); Boston, Mass. (for New-England); Grand Rapids, Mich.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Vicksburg, Miss.; Columbia, Mo.; Helena, Mont.; Lincoln, Neb.; Carson City, Nev.; Atlantic City, N. J.; Santa Fe, N. M.; Ithaca, N. Y.; Raleigh, N. C.; Bismarck, N. D.; Columbus, Ohio; Oklahoma, Okla. (for Oklahoma and Indian Territories); Portland, Ore.; Philadelphia, Penn.; Columbia, S. C.; Huron, S. D.; Nashville, Tenn.; Galveston, Tex.; Salt Lake City, Utah; Richmond, Va.; Seattle, Wash.; Parkersburg, W. Va.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Cheyenne, Wyo

There are also storm and hurricane warnings, the combinations being made with a white triangular flag, a red triangular flag and a square red flag with a black square in the centre. The combinations follow:

violence is expected. The pennants displayed with the flags indicate the direction of the wind—red, easterly (from northeast to south); white, westerly (from southwest to north). The pennant above the flag indicates that the wind is expected to blow from the northerly quadrants; below, from the southerly quadrants. By night a red light indicates easterly winds, and a white above a red light, westerly winds.

Hurricane warning—Two red flags with black centres displayed one above the other indicate the expected approach of a tropical hurricane, or one of those extremely severe and dangerous storms which occasionally move across the lakes and Northern Atlantic Coast. No night hurricane warnings are displayed.

RAINFALL AND TEMPERATURE IN THE UNITED STATES.

POPULATION OF CITIES OF 25,000 OR MORE.

The following statistics, prepared under the direction of William C. Hunt, chief statistician for population of the Census Bureau, give the population of the 159 cities having 25,000 inhabitants or more in 1900, according to the official count of the returns of the Twelfth Census, taken as of June 1, 1900. The 159 cities combined have a population in 1900 of 19,694,625, as compared with a population for the same cities of 14,855,489 in 1890, and of 9,933,927 in 1880. The absolute increase in the population of these cities from 1890 to 1900 was 4,839,136, or 82,426 less than the absolute increase from 1880 to 1890, when it was 4,921,562. The percentage of increase in population of the 159 cities from 1890 to 1900 was 32.5, as against 49.5 from 1880 to 1890. In 1880 there were but twenty cities which contained more than 100,000 inhabitants, but in 1890 this number had increased to twenty-eight, and in 1900 to thirty-eight. In 1900 there are seventy-eight cities of 50,000 inhabitants or more as compared with fifty-eight in 1890 and thirty-five in 1880. The combined population in 1900 of the nineteen cities of the first class (above 200,000) is 11,795,809, as against a population in 1890 of 8,879,105, representing an increase during the ten years of 2,916,704, or 32.8 per cent. The same cities showed an increase from 1880 to 1890 of 2,587,452, or 40.6 per cent. The nineteen cities of the second class (between 100,000 and 200,000) have a combined population in 1900 of 2,412,538, and show an increase of 33.3 per cent from 1890 to 1900, as against an increase of 79.2 per cent from 1880 to 1890. The forty cities of the third class (between 50,000 and 100,000) have a combined population in 1900 of 2,709,328, as against a population in 1890 of 2,067,169, which is equivalent to an increase during the decade of 31 per cent, as compared with an increase of 51 per cent during the preceding ten years. The eighty-one cities of the fourth class (between 25,000 and 50,000) have a combined population in 1900 of 2,776,940, having gained since 1890 676,381 in number, or 32.2 per cent, as against an increase of 68.7 per cent from 1880 to 1890.

Note.—Specie payments were suspended from January 1, 1862, to January 1, 1879.

During the greater part of that period gold and silver coins were not in circulation except on the Pacific Coast, where, it is estimated, the specie circulation was generally about $25,000,000. This estimated amount is the only coin included in the above statement from 1862 to 1875, inclusive.

In 1876 subsidiary silver again came into use, and is included in this statement, beginning with that year.

The coinage of standard silver dollars began in 1878, under the act of February 28, 1878.

Specie payments were resumed January 1, 1879, and all gold and silver coins, as well as gold and silver bullion in the Treasury, are included in this statement from and after that date.

Currency certificates, act of June 8, 1872, are included in the amount of United States notes in circulation in the table for the year 1873 to 1891, inclusive; since 1891 they are reported separately. For redemption of outstanding certificates an exact equivalent in amount of the appropriate kinds of money is held in the Treasury, and is not included in the account of money held as assets of the government.

VARIOUS MONEYS OF CIRCULATION.

There are ten different kinds of money in circulation in the United States, namely: Gold coins, standard silver dollars, subsidiary silver, gold certificates, silver certificates, Treasury notes issued under the act of July 14, 1890; United States notes (also called greenbacks and legal tenders), National bank notes, and nickel and bronze coins. These forms of money are all available as circulation. Gold coin is legal tender at its nominal or face value for all debts, public and private, when not below the standard weight and limit of tolerance prescribed by law; and when below such standard of tolerance it is legal tender in proportion to its weight. Standard silver dollars are legal tender at their nominal or face value in payment of all debts, public and private, without regard to the amount, except where otherwise expressly stipulated in the contract.

Subsidiary silver is legal tender for amounts not exceeding $10 in any one payment. Treasury notes of the act of July 14, 1890, are legal tender for all debts, public and private, except where otherwise expressly stipulated in the contract. United States notes are legal tender for all debts, public and private, except duties on imports and interest on the public debt. Gold certificates, silver certificates and National bank notes are not legal tender, but both classes of certificates are receivable for all public dues, while National bank notes are receivable for all public dues except duties on imports, and may be paid out by the Government for all salaries and other debts and demands owing by the United States to individuals, corporations and associations within the United States, except interest on the public debt and in redemption of the National currency. All National banks are required by law to receive the notes of other National banks at par. The minor coins of nickel and copper are legal tender to the extent of 25 cents.

The coinage of legal tender gold was authorized by the first coinage act, passed by Congress April 2, 1792. The gold unit of value is the dollar, which contains 25.8 grains of standard gold 900 fine. The amount of fine gold in the dollar is 23.22 grains, and the remainder of the weight is an alloy of copper. The total coinage of gold by the mints of the United States from 1792 to June 30, 1902, was $2,328,134,400 50, of which it is estimated that $1,068,311,784 is still in existence as coin in the United States, while the remainder has been exported or consumed in the arts. In the United States, while the remainder has been exported or consumed in the arts.

The silver unit is the dollar, which contains 412½ grains of standard silver 900 fine. The amount of fine silver in the dollar is 371¼ grains, and there are 41¼ grains of copper alloy. The standard silver dollar was first authorized by the act of April 2, 1792. The coinage of the standard silver dollar was discontinued by the act of February 12, 1873, and it was restored by the act of February 28, 1878. The total amount coined from 1792 to 1873 was $8,031,238, and the amount coined from 1878 to June 30, 1902, was $542,197,865. The coinage ratio between gold and silver under the act of 1792 was 15 to 1, but by the act of 1837 it was changed to 15.988 to 1 (commonly called 16 to 1).

[1]Exclusive of Alaska and islands belonging to the United States. [2]No official figures in other than census years. [3]True valuation of real and personal property. [4]Estimated. [5]Total debt prior to 1855. [6]Figures for the years 1840 and 1850 include the total public debt. [7]Gold and silver cannot be stated separately prior to 1876. From 1862 to 1875, inclusive, gold and silver were not in circulation except on the Pacific Coast, where it is estimated that the average specie circulation was about $25,000,000, and this estimate is continued for the three following years under the head of gold. After that period gold was available for circulation. [8]Total specie in circulation. Gold and silver not separately stated prior to 1876. [9]Includes notes of Bank of United States State bank notes, demand notes of 1862 and 1863; fractional currency, 1863 to 1878; Treasury notes of 1890, 1891 to date, and currency certificates, act of June 8, 1872, 1892 to 1900. [10]"Net ordinary receipts" include receipts from customs, internal revenue, direct tax, public lands, and "miscellaneous," but do not include receipts from loans, premiums, or Treasury notes, or revenues of Postoffice Department. [11]"Net ordinary expenses" include expenditures for war, navy, Indians, pensions and "miscellaneous," but do not include payments for interest, premiums, or principal of public debt, or expenditures for postal service. [12]Imports for consumption after 1860. [13]Domestic exports only after 1860. [14]Dr. Soetbeer's estimate averaged for the period. [15]Pennsylvania anthracite shipments, 1820–1860; entire coal product 1870 to date. [16]Last six months of 1891. [17]1845. [18]1870 to 1900 from Rowell's Newspaper Directory. [19]1840 and 1850 include aliens not immigrants. Year 1850, ending September 30; 1840 and 1860, calendar years; 1870 to date, years ending June 30.

The island of Porto Rico, thitherto a Spanish colony, was formally ceded to the United States under the Treaty of Paris of December 10, 1898. A civil government was established on May 1, 1900. On July 25, 1901, it became a Territory of the United States on a basis in some respects similar to that of the Territories on the North American Continent, but with these important differences, that citizens of Porto Rico are not ipso facto citizens of the United States, and that the present status of the Territory is not considered to be preliminary to Statehood. Free trade exists between the island and the United Stetes. A decision of the United States Supreme Court on December 2, 1901, sustained the "Foraker act" and the validity of the tariff system established by the United States Government with respect to Porto Rico, and confirmed the principle that Porto Ricans are not citizens of the United States. On August 2, 1902, the Commissioner General of Immigration issued an order to the effect that Porto Ricans coming to the United States were to be regarded as aliens. This decision has been sustained by the United States Supreme Court.

By the terms of the Foraker Act practical autonomy was granted to the Insular Government for which it provides, and a large majority of all the officials throughout the island are left to the unrestricted choice of its own citizens. The Governor and the heads of the various executive departments are chosen by the President with the approval of the Senate, and the Executive Council, which constitutes one of the branches of the Legislative Assembly, consists of the six executive department heads so chosen, the Secretary, Attorney General, Treasurer, Auditor, Commissioner of Education and Commissioner of the Interior, with five natives of Porto Rico, who are also appointed by the President. The House of Delegates, or popular branch of the Legislative Assembly, consisting of thirty-five members, is elected by the voters from the seven election districts into which the island is divided; and in the Judicial Department the Supreme Court, consisting of five members, is appointed by the President, but a majority of the members chosen for that tribunal of last resort are native citizens of the island; and of the judges of the various district courts who are appointed by the Governor, the large majority are also selected from among the native population. The internal revenue laws of the United States do not apply to Porto Rico.

Commerce between the United States and Porto Rico during the calendar year 1903 amounted, in round terms, to $22,000,000. In 1897, the year prior to annexation, it amounted to $4,162,912. Of this total of $22,000,000 between Porto Rico aand the United States, $11,424,313 was domestic products of the United States shipped to Porto Rico, $9,986,782 domestic products of Porto Rico shipped to the United States, $395,582 foreign products shipped from the United States to Porto Rico, and $166,141 foreign products shipped from Porto Rico to the United States. To other parts of the world Porto Rico sent domestic products to the value of $4,267,910 and foreign products to the value of $127,932, while from other parts of the world Porto Rico imported $2,119,523 worth of merchandise.

Comparing the commerce of 1903 with the preceding year, the figures show that the trade between the United States and Porto Rico slightly increased, the exact figures for 1903 being $21,972,818 and for 1902 $21,828,224. Shipments from the United States to Porto Rico in 1902 amounted to $12,194,073 and in 1903 to $11,819,895. Shipments from Porto Rico to the United States amounted in 1902 to $9,634,151 and in 1903 to $10,152,923.

Of the shipments from the United States to Porto Rico the more important items were: Breadstuffs, $1,199,052, of which total the value of flour was $1,071,265; cotton manufactures, $1,950,803, of which cotton cloths, colored and uncolored, amounted to $1,307,728; manufactures of iron and steel, $1,156,273, the largest items being boilers and parts of engines, $133,822; sewing machines, $96,804; other machinery, $141,106; pipes and fittings, $112,891; builders' hardware, saws and tools, $70,468, and sheets and plates, $68,633; and provisions, $1,403,634, of which salted and pickled pork amounted to $395,363; lard, $198,870; bacon and hams, $192,679; cheese, $98,662, and butter, $77,497.

Of the articles shipped from Porto Rico to the United States, brown sugar amounted to $6,813,854; cigars, $1,441,196; leaf tobacco, $255,814; oranges, $314,694, and coffee, $610,982. Porto Rican coffee is evidently growing in favor in the United States, the total quantity shipped in 1903 being 5,461,631 pounds, against 1,906,106 pounds in 1902. Porto Rican tobacco is also apparently enjoying increased popularity, the total quantity of leaf tobacco shipped to the United States in 1903 being 1,268,060 pounds, against 417,478 pounds in 1902.

Porto Rico's commerce with foreign countries amounted in 1903 to $6,515,365, of which $2,119,523 was imports and $4,267,910 domestic exports, the remaining $127,932 being re-exportations of foreign products.

The census of 1900 reported the population of Porto Rico as 953,243, a figure more than two-thirds of the Cuban total. It showed an increase of 16 per cent over the population given in the census of 1887, and a density of occupation of 264 souls to the square mile. Of the population 589,426, or 61.8 per cent, are so-called white; 38.2 per cent, or 363,817, are colored. Only 13,872, or 1.5 per cent, are of foreign nationality, of whom 11,422 are white. Of the white aliens 7,690 are Spanish, scarcely any of whom renounced their nationality on the American occupation.

The population of the island by Departments is as follows:

The Philippine Islands came into the possession of the United States as a result of the war with Spain and under the terms of the Treaty of Paris of December 10, 1898. The provisional military government was superseded by a civil government on July 1, 1901. The chief officers of the latter are appointed by the President of the United States. Provincial and municipal officers are elected by the people. On December 2, 1901, the Supreme Court of the United States decided that free trade must prevail between the Philippines and the United States until Congress should enact a special tariff law for the islands. Accordingly a Philippine tariff bill was introduced into Congress and became a law on March 8, 1902. It was followed on July 1, 1902, by a Civil Government act for the Philippines. (For summaries of these laws see The Tribune Almanac for 1903.)

A general amnesty for all except criminals under the common law and rebels remaining in arms was proclaimed on July 4, 1902. The vexed question of the friars' lands was amicably settled in December, 1903. After protracted negotiations, in the course of which Governor Taft visited Rome, an agreement was made with the Church authorities by which the insular government acquired the friars' holdings at a cost of $7,239,784. The purchase included 391,000 acres. These lands will be eventually sold by the insular government.

During the year 1903 the Philippines enjoyed an exceptional measure of tranquillity. Some desultory firing occurred in the Moro country; but elsewhere resistance to American rule died away completely. In accordanace with the provisions of the Civil Government act of July 1, 1902, a census of the inhabitants of the archipelago was taken under the direction of Brigadier General Joseph P. Sanger. The results of this census were published in 1904. Next year the Philippine Commission is to call a general election in the islands (excluding the Sulu group) for the choice of delegates to the popular assembly, to be known as the Philippine Assembly, and with the Philippine Commission to constitute the legislative branch of the insular government.

By the Act of March 2, 1903, Congress provided a system of coinage for the Philippines. The unit of value is the gold peso, of twelve and nine-tenths grains of gold, nine-tenths fine. The Philippine Commission is authorized to coin $75,000,000 in silver pesos, each pesos of 416 grains, 900 parts fine metal and 100 parts copper alloy. These silver coins are redeemable at the rate of two for one in gold pesos, and are legal tender in the Philippine Islands for all debts, public or private, unless otherwise specifically provided by contract. Some new subsidiary coins are also provided for. (For complete details of the Coinage Act, see The Tribune Almanac for 1904, under title "Fifty-seventh Congress, Public Acts and Resolutions of Second Session").

In 1904 there were again occasional disturbances in the Moro country, but elsewhere tranquillity has been unbroken. The insular military forces have been organized as a constabulary. Its five ranking officers are by provision of an act of Congress detailed from among the general officers of the United States Army. The majors and captains assigned to field work with the companies and regiments have been drawn from the officers who went to the Philippines with the volunteer soldiers and desired to remain there after their terms of enlistment had expired. A number of graduates from American military colleges have also received commissions.

[1]Comandancia is the Spanish word for military district. At the date of the census the civil organization had not been extended to all parts of the archipelago and certain districts were therefore returned as comandancias which have since become civil districts.

On March 2, 1904, the United States Government abrogated the Bates treaty of 1899 with the Sultan of Sulu.

The trade of the Philippines continues to show a gratifying increase. The following figures indicate the trade of the Philippines, exclusive of gold and silver and government supplies, during each of the five fiscal years of American administration as compared with the average annual trade for periods prior thereto:

Years.	Imports.	Exports.	Totals.
Average annual, 1880-1884	$19,560,274	$20,838,325	$40,338,599

To the Philippines the shipments from the United States in the nine months ended with March, 1904, were $3,651,940, against $2,903,692 in the corresponding months of 1903, and the merchandise received from those islands was valued at $9,863,183 in the nine months ended with March, 1904, compared with $9,236,972 in the same months of 1903.

GUAM.

CAPITAL ..... Agana
GOVERNOR ..... Commander George L. Dyer, U. S. N.

The island of Guam, or Guahan, in the Marianne Archipelago, was ceded to the United States by Spain under the Treaty of Paris of December 10, 1898. It is used by the United States as a naval station, and may also afford a landing place for a transpacific cable. Supreme governmental authority is vested in a United States naval officer who is appointed Governor of the island, but the natives retain a large part of their old municipal systems. Under American rule a monogamous marriage system has been established and non-sectarian public instruction has been provided.

Commercial returns of Guam are grouped with those of Tutuila, which see. At the end of September and first of October, 1902, much damage was done on the island by a succession of earthquake shocks. For description of Guam see Tribune Almanac for 1902.

TUTUILA AND MANUA.

CAPITAL.....Pago Pago
GOVERNOR.....Commander Edward B. Underwood, U. S. N.

Tutuila, Manua and some insignificant islets of the Samoan group came into the possession of the United States in January, 1900, as a result of the treaty of November 14, 1899, between Great Britain and Germany, in the terms of which the United States acquiesced. Under that treaty Great Britain withdrew altogether from the islands, Germany took the largest two, Upolu and Savaii, and the United States took possession of Tutuila and Manua, the former containing at Pago Pago the finest harbor in that part of the world and the only good one in the Samoan group. A United States naval officer was appointed Governor of Tutuila and Manua in February, 1900, and possession was taken of them on April 17, 1900. On October 22, 1902, it became known that King Oscar of Sweden and Norway, acting as arbitrator, had decided in favor of Germany and against the United States and Great Britain in the matter of the dispute over armed intervention in Samoa by the latter two powers in 1899, holding them responsible for indemnity for damages done by the bombardment at Apia. The area of Tutuila and Manua is about 35,000 acres, much of which is rugged and mountainous. The total population of the two islands is less than 6,000, about twenty being whites and as many more half-breeds. The imports from the United States into these islands, and also into Guam and the islet of Wake, in the first nine months of 1902 amounted in value to $33,143. For the first nine months of 1903 they amounted to $70,413, and for the first eight months of 1904 to $188,878.

THE ISTHMIAN CANAL STRIP.

Isthmian Canal Commissioners—Rear Admiral John G. Walker, U. S. N. (retired), chairman; Major General George W. Davis, U. S. A. (retired); William Barclay Parsons, New-York; William H. Burr, New-York; Benjamin H. Harrod, Louisiana; Carl Ewald Grimsby, California; ———, ———.
Secretary to the Commission.—Dominic I. Murphy, District of Columbia.
General Counsel to the Commission.—Charles E. Magoon, Nebraska.
Chief Engineer.—John E. Wallace, Illinois.
Governor of the Canal Strip.—Maj. Gen. George B. Davis, U. S. A. (retired).

The United States Senate ratified on March 17, 1903, an Isthmian Canal Treaty with Colombia, drawn to vest in the United States perpetual control for canal purposes of a strip of land 30 miles in width stretching across the Isthmus of Panama. On August 12, 1903 the Colombian Senate rejected the treaty, and on September 12 the time fixed for exchanging ratifications expired. On November 3 the Department of Panama revolted and an independent republic was proclaimed. A canal treaty between this new republic and the United States was signed on November 18, 1903, ratified by Panama on December 2, and by the United States Senate on February 23, 1904.

The full text of this treaty is given under "Treaties Ratified," second session LVIIITH Congress, page 87 of this volume. By the terms of Articles II and III the Republic of Panama granted to the United States in perpetuity the use, occupation and control of the zone of land and land under water for the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and protection of said canal of the width of ten miles, extending to the distance of five miles on each side of the central line of the route of the canal to be constructed; the said zone beginning in the Caribbean Sea three marine miles from mean low water mark, and extending to and across the Isthmus of Panama into the Pacific Ocean to a distance of three marine miles from mean low water mark, with the proviso that the cities of Panama and Colon and the harbors adjacent to said cities, which are included within the boundaries of the zone above described, shall not be included within this grant. The Republic of Panama further granted to the United States in perpetuity the use, occupation and control of any other lands and waters outside of the zone above described which may be necessary and convenient for the construction and maintenance, operation, sanitation and protection of the said canal or any auxiliary canals or their works necessary and convenient for the construction, mantenance, operation, sanitation and protection of the said enterprise. Panama further gave to the United States in perpetuity the use, occupation and control of all islands within the limits of the zone above described, and in addition thereto the group of small islands in the Bay of Panama, named Perico, Naos, Culebra and Flamenco.

The Republic of Panama yielded to the United States all the rights, power and authority within the zone mentioned and described in Article II of this agreement, and within the limits of all auxiliary lands and waters mentioned and described in said Article II, which the United States would possess and exercise if it were the sovereign of the territory within which said lands and waters are located to the entire exclusion of the exercise by the Republic of Panama of any sovereign rights, power and authority.

To provide for the temporary government of this zone Congress passed an act approved April 28, 1904, providing that "until the expiration of the LVIIIth Congress, unless provision for the temporary government of the canal zone be sooner made by Congress, all military, judicial and civil powers, as well as the power to make all rules and regulations necessary for the government of the canal zone, and all the rights, powers and authority granted by the terms of said treaty to the United States, shall be vested in such person or persons and shall be exercised in such manner as the President shall direct, for the government of said zone and maintaining and protecting the inhabitants thereof in the free enjoyment of their liberty, property and religion. Under the terms of this act the Isthmian Canal Commission was created and a temporary government was set up in the canal strip, with Major General George B. Davis, as Governor.

The Canal Strip Act.

On May 9 the President issued these instructions to the Commission: "Subject to the limitations of law and the conditions herein contained, the Isthmian Canal Commission are authorized and directed: First—To make all needful rules and regulations for the government of the zone and for the correct administration of the military, civil and judicial affairs of its possessions until the close of the LVIIIth session of Congress. Second—To establish a civil service for the government of the strip and construction of the canal, appointments to which shall be secured as nearly as practicable by a merit system. Third—To make or cause to be made all needful surveys, borings, designs, plans and specifications of the engineering, hydraulic and sanitary works required, and to supervise the execution of the same. Fourth—To make and cause to be executed after due advertisement all necessary contracts for any and all kinds of engineering and construction works. Fifth—To acquqire by purchase or through proper and uniform expropriation proceedings, to be prescribed by the Commission, any private lands or other real property whose ownership by the United States is essential to the excavation and completion of the canal. Sixth—To make all needful rules and regulations respecting an economical and correct disbursement and an accounting for all funds that may be appropriated by Congress for the construction of the canal, its auxiliary works and the government of the canal zone; and to establish a proper and comprehensive system of bookkeeping showing the state of the work, the expenditures by classes and the amounts still available. Seventh—To make requisition on the Secretary of War for funds needed from time to time in the proper prosecution of the work and to designate the disbursing officers authorized to receipt for the same.

Instructions to the Commission.

"The inhabitants of the isthmian canal zone are entitled to security in their persons, property and religion and in all their private rights and relations. They should be so informed by public announcement. The people should be disturbed as little as possible in their customs and avocations that are in harmony with principles of well ordered and decent living.

"The municipal laws of the canal zone are to be administered by the ordinary tribunals substantially as they were before the change. Police magistrates and justices of the peace and other officers discharging duties usually devolving upon these officers of the law will be continued in office if they are suitable persons. The Governor of the zone, subject to approval of the Commission, is authorized to appoint temporarily a judge for the canal zone, who shall have the authority equivalent to that usually exercised in Latin countries by a judge of a court of first instance; but the Isthmian Canal Commission shall fix his salary and may legislate respecting his powers and authority, increasing or diminishing them in their discretion, and also making provision for additional or appellate judges, should the public interest require.

"The laws of the land with which the inhabitants are familiar, and which were in force on February 26, 1904, will continue in force in the canal zone and in other places on the isthmus over which the United States has jurisdiction, until altered or annulled by the Commission; but there are certain great principles of government which have been made the basis of an existence as a nation which we deem essential to the rule of law and the maintenance of order, and which shall have force in said zone:

Guarantees and Rights.

"The Commission may legislate on all rightful subjects of legislation not inconsistent with the laws and treaties of the United States so far as they apply to said zone and other places; and the said power shall include the enactment of sanitary ordinances of a preventive or curative character to be enforced in the cities of Colon and Panama. Such legislative power shall also include the power to raise and appropriate revenues. All taxes, judicial fines, custom duties and other revenues levied and collected in said zone by or under the authority of the Commission shall be retained, accounted for and disbursed by the Commission for its proper purposes. All laws, rules and regulations of a governmental character enacted by the Commission are to be submitted to the Secretary of War for approval. Gambling is prohibited in the canal strip."

On June 24 an order was issued extending the Dingley Tariff law to the canal zone. Two collection districts were created. Nine postoffices were also opened. The establishment of a zone port at Ancon, near Panama, brought a protest from the Panama Government, which held that the commerce of the city of Panama would be injured by the opening of new and rival ports of entry. Other slight administrative difficulties having arisen, Secretary Taft was sent to Panama in November to compose outstanding differences. Preliminary work on the canal is making satisfactory progress.

CONVENTION PROCEEDINGS.

REPUBLICAN.

The Republican National Convention was held in Chicago, June 21-23. Nine hundred and ninety-four delegates—including two from the Philippines and two from Porto Rico—were put on the convention role. Elihu Root, of New-York was chosen temporary chairman on June 21, and Joseph G. Cannon permanent chairman on June 22. The first day's session was devoted chiefly to the delivery of Mr. Root's speech. On the second day Mr. Cannon made a speech and the platform was reported and adopted. Balloting for Presidential and Vice-Presidential candidates occurred on June 23. Theodore Roosevelt, of New-York, was nominated for President on the first ballot, receiving 994 votes. Charles W. Fairbanks, of Indiana, was nominated for Vice-President by acclamation and without a rollcall. The convention then adjourned.

The Platform.

The platform, adopted unanimously on June 22, was as follows:

Party Achievements.

Fifty years ago the Republican party came into existence, dedicated, among other purposes, to the great task of arresting the extension of human slavery. In 1860 it elected its first President. During twenty-four of the forty-four years which have elapsed since the election of Lincoln the Republican party has held complete control of the government. For eighteen more of the forty-four years it has held partial control through the possession of one or two branches of the government, while the Democratic party during the same period has had complete control for only two years. This long tenure of power by the Republican party is not due to chance. It is a demonstration that the Republican party has commanded the confidence of the American people for nearly two generations to a degree never equalled in our history, and has displayed a high capacity for rule and government which has been made even more conspicuous by the incapacity and infirmity of purpose shown by its opponents.

Returning Prosperity.

The Republican party entered upon its present period of complete supremacy in 1897. We have every right to congratulate ourselves upon the work since then accomplished, for it has added lustre even to the traditions of the party which carried the government through the storms of civil war. We then found the country, after four years of Democratic rule, in evil plight, oppressed with misfortune and doubtful of the future. Public credit had been lowered, the revenues were declining, the debt was growing, the administration's attitude toward Spain was feeble and mortifying, the standard of values was threatened and uncertain, labor was unemployed, business was sunk in the depression which had succeeded the panic of 1893, hope was faint and confidence was gone.

We met these unhappy conditions vigorously, effectively and at once. We replaced a Democratic tariff law based on free trade principles and garnished with sectional protection by a consistent protective tariff, and industry, freed from oppression and stimulated by the encouragement of wise laws, has expanded to a degree never before known, has conquered new markets and has created a volume of exports which has surpassed imagination. Under the Dingley tariff labor has been fully employed, wages have risen and all industries have revived and prospered.

We firmly established the gold standard, which was then menaced with destruction. Confidence returned to business, and with confidence an unexampled prosperity.

National Credit Re-established.

For deficient revenues supplemented by improvident issues of bonds we gave the country an income which produced a large surplus, and which enabled us only four years after the Spanish war had closed to remove over $100,000,000 of annual war taxes, reduce the public debt and lower the interest charges of the government.

The public credit, which had been so lowered that in time of peace a Democratic administration made large loans at extravagant rates of interest in order to pay current expenditures, rose under Republican administration to its highest point, and enabled us to borrow at 2 per cent, even in time of war.

We refused to palter longer with the miseries of Cuba. We fought a quick and victorious war with Spain. We set Cuba free, governed the island for three years, and then gave it to the Cuban people with order restored, with ample revenues, with education and public health established, free from debt, and connected with the United States by wise provisions for our mutual interests.

Wise Foreign Policies.

We have organized the government of Porto Rico, and its people now enjoy peace, freedom, order and prosperity.

In the Philippines we have suppressed insurrection, established order, and given to life and property a security never known there before. We have organized civil government, made it effective and strong in administration, and have conferred upon the people of those islands the largest civil liberty they have ever enjoyed. By our possession of the Philippines we were enabled to take prompt and effective action in the relief of the legations at Peking and a decisive part in preventing the partition and preserving the integrity of China.

The possession of a route for an isthmian canal, so long the dream of American statesmanship, is now an accomplished fact. The great work of connecting the Pacific and Atlantic by a canal is at last begun, and it is due to the Republican party.

We have passed laws which will bring the arid lands of the United States within the area of cultivation. We have reorganized the army and put it in the highest state of efficiency. We have passed laws for the improvement and support of the militia. We have pushed forward the building of the navy, the defence and protection of our honor and our interests. Our administration of the great departments of the government has been honest and efficient, and wherever wrongdoing has been discovered the Republican administration has not hesitated to probe the evil and bring the offenders to justice without regard to art or political ties.

Domestic Problems Met.

Laws enacted by the Republican party which the Democratic party failed to enforce, and which were intended for the protection of the public against the unjust discrimination or the illegal encroachment of vast aggregations of capital, have been fearlessly enforced by a Republican President, and new laws insuring reasonable publicity as to the operations of great corporations and providing additional remedies for the prevention of discrimination in freight rates have been passed by a Republican Congress.

In this record of achievement during the last eight years may be read the pledges which the Republican party has fulfilled. We promise to continue these policies and we declare our constant adherence to the following principles:

Party Pledges, Protection.

Protection, which guards and develops our industries, is a cardinal policy of the Republican party. The measure of protection should always at least equal the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad. We insist upon the maintenance of the principles of protection, and therefore rates of duty should be readjusted only when conditions have so changed that the public interest demands their alteration, but this work cannot safely be committed to any other hands than those of the Republican party. To intrust it to the Democratic party is to invite disaster.

Whether, as in 1892, the Democratic party declared the protective tariff unconstitutional, or whether it demands tariff reform or tariff revision, its real object is always the destruction of the protective system. However specious the name, the purpose is ever the same. A Democratic tariff has always been followed by business adversity; a Republican tariff by business prosperity. To a Republican Congress and a Republican President this great question can be safely intrusted. When the only free trade country among the great nations agitates a return to protection, the chief protective country should not falter in maintaining it.

We have extended widely our foreign markets, and we believe in the adoption of all practicable methods for their further extension, including commercial reciprocity wherever reciprocal arrangements can be effected consistent with the principles of protection, and without injury to American agriculture, American labor or any American industry.

Reciprocity.

We believe it to be the duty of the Republican party to uphold the gold standard and the integrity and value of our national currency. The maintenance of the gold standard, established by the Republican party, cannot safely be committed to the Democratic party, which resisted its adoption, and has never given any proof since that time of belief in it or fidelity to it.

Gold Standard.

While every other industry has prospered under the fostering aid of Republican legislation, American shipping engaged in foreign trade, in competition with the low cost of construction, low wages and heavy subsidies of foreign governments, has not for many years received from the government of the United States adequate encouragement of any kind. We therefore favor legislation which will encourage and build up the American merchant marine, and we cordially approve the legislation of the last Congress, which created the Merchant Marine Commission to investigate and report upon this subject.

Shipping, Navy.

A navy powerful enough to defend the United States against any attack, to uphold the Monroe Doctrine and to watch over our commerce is essential to the safety and the welfare of the American people. To maintain such a navy is the fixed policy of the Republican party.

We cordially approve the attitude of President Roosevelt and Congress in regard to the exclusion of Chinese labor and promise a continuance of the Republican policy in that direction.

Civil Service, Pensions. The Civil Service law was placed on the statute books by the Republican party, which has always sustained it, and we renew our former declarations that it shall be thoroughly and honestly enforced.

We are always mindful of the country's debt to the soldiers and sailors of the United States, and we believe in making ample provision for them and in the liberal administration of the pension laws.

We favor the peaceful settlement of international differences by arbitration.

Rights Abroad. We commend the vigorous efforts made by the administration to protect American citizens in foreign lands, and pledge ourselves to insist upon the just and equal protection of all our citizens abroad. It is the unquestioned duty of the government to procure for all our citizens, without distinction, the rights to travel and sojourn in friendly countries, and we declare ourselves in favor of all proper efforts tending to that end. Our great interests and our growing commerce in the Orient render the condition of China of high importance to the United States. We cordially commend the policy pursued in that direction by the administrations of President McKinley and President Roosevelt.

Disfranchisement. We favor such Congressional action as shall determine whether by special discriminations the elective franchise in any State has been unconstitutionally limited, and if such is the case, we demand that representation in Congress and in the electoral colleges shall be proportionally reduced as directed by the Constitution of the United States.

Trusts. Combinations of capital and of labor are the results of the economic movement of the age, but neither must be permitted to infringe upon the rights and interests of the people. Such combinations, when lawfully formed for lawful purposes, are alike entitled to the protection of the laws, but both are subject to the laws, and neither can be permitted to break them.

McKinley and Roosevelt. The great statesman and patriotic American, William McKinley, who was re-elected by the Republican party to the Presidency four years ago, was assassinated just at the threshold of his second term. The entire nation mourned his untimely death, and did that justice to his great qualities of mind and character which history will confirm and repeat.

The American people were fortunate in his successor, to whom they turned with a trust and confidence which have been fully justified. President Roosevelt brought to the great responsibilities thus sadly forced upon him a clear head, a brave heart, an earnest patriotism and high ideals of public duty and public service. True to the principles of the Republican party and to the policies which that party had declared, he has also shown himself ready for every emergency, and has met new and vital questions with ability and with success.

The confidence of the people in his justice, inspired by his public career, enabled him to render personally an inestimable service to the country by bringing about a settlement of the coal strike, which threatened such disastrous results at the opening of winter in 1902.

The Roosevelt Administration. Our foreign policy under his administration has not only been able, vigorous and dignified, but in the highest degree successful. The complicated questions which arose in Venezuela were settled in such a way by President Roosevelt that the Monroe Doctrine was signally vindicated, and the cause of peace and arbitration greatly advanced.

His prompt and vigorous action in Panama, which we commend in the highest terms, not only secured to us the canal route, but avoided foreign complications which might have been of a very serious character.

He has continued the policy of President McKinley in the Orient, and our position in China, signalized by our recent commercial treaty with that empire, has never been so high.

He secured the tribunal by which the vexed and perilous question of the Alaskan boundary was finally settled.

Whenever crimes against humanity have been perpetrated which have shocked our people, his protest has been made and our good offices have been tendered, but always with due regard to international obligations.

Under his guidance we find ourselves at peace with all the world, and never were we more respected or our wishes more regarded by foreign nations.

Pre-eminently successful in regard to our foreign relations, he has been equally fortunate in dealing with domestic questions. The country has known that the public credit and the national currency were absolutely safe in the hands of his administration. In the enforcement of the laws he has shown not only courage, but the wisdom which understands that to permit laws to be violated or disregarded opens the door to anarchy, while the just enforcement of the law is the soundest conservatism. He has held firmly to the fundamental American doctrine that all men must obey the law; that there must be no distinction between rich and poor, between strong and weak; but that justice and equal protection under the law must be secured to every citizen without regard to race, creed or condition.

His administration has been throughout vigorous and honorable, high minded and patriotic. We commend it without reservation to the considerate judgment of the American people.

DEMOCRATIC.

The Democratic National Convention met in St. Louis on July 6. Nine hundred and ninety-eight delegates were admitted to seats, including six from Porto Rico. No delegates were admitted from the Philippine Islands. John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, was chosen temporary chairman, and Champ Clark, of Missouri, permanent chairman. The first day's session—on July 6—was devoted chiefly to the delivery of Mr. Williams's speech. On the second day a fight was made by W. J. Bryan against the seating of the Hopkins delegation from Illinois, but the report of the Committee on Credentials, confirming the title of that delegation, was approved by a vote of 647 to 299. The Committee on Resolutions failed to come to an agreement until the evening of July 8, when a platform was reported and adopted unanimously. Candidates for the Presidential nomination were presented and voting began at about 4 a. m., July 9. Alton B. Parker, of New-York, was chosen on the first ballot. On the rollcall he received 658 votes, to 204 for William R. Hearst, 42 for Francis M. Cockrell, 38 for Richard Olney, 27 for Edward C. Wall, 8 for George Gray, 8 for John S. Williams, 3 for George B. McClellan, 3 for Nelson A. Miles, 2 for Charles A. Towne, 2 for Arthur P. Gorman, 1 for Robert E. Pattison, and 1 for Bird W. Coler. Idaho and Nevada, with 12 votes, changed from Hearst to Parker, and the latter's nomination was then made unanimous. Early in the morning of July 10 Henry G. Davis, of West Virginia, was nominated for Vice-President. He received on the first ballot 652 votes, against 165 for James R. Williams, of Illinois, 100 for George Turner, of Washington, and 58 for W. A. Harris, of Kansas.

The Platform.

The platform of 1904 can be properly interpreted only in the light of certain events which led up to and followed its adoption. As approved it contained no declaration on the money question. A sub-committee of the Committee on Resolutions, of which John W. Daniel, Benjamin F. Shively, Henry G. Davis, Fred. T. Dubois, Francis G. Newlands, John S. Williams, Robert E. Pattison, Ben. T. Cable, Charles S. Hamlin, William J. Bryan, John P. Poe and David B. Hill were members, submitted the following declaration:

"The discoveries of gold within the last few years and the great increase in the production thereof, adding two thousand million dollars to the world's supply, of which seven hundred millions falls to the share of the United States, have contributed to the maintenance of a money standard of value no longer open to question, removing that issue from the field of political contention."

The full committee, by a vote of 35 to 15, struck out this plank and agreed to ignore the money and currency issue entirely, and the convention unanimously ratified this decision.

Twelve hours after Judge Parker had been nominated, and on the eve of adjournment, the convention received this notice by telegraph from its Presidential candidate:

"I regard the gold standard as firmly and irrevocably established, and shall act accordingly if the action of the convention to-day shall be ratified by the people. As the platform is silent on the subject, my view should be made known to the convention, and if it is proved to be unsatisfactory to the majority, I request you to decline the nomination for me at once, so that another may be nominated before adjournment."

This message provoked an excited debate, contravening, as it did, assurances previously given by Judge Parker's sponsors and managers. The convention finally approved by a vote of 774 to 191 this answer to Judge Parker's telegram:

"The platform adopted by this convention is silent on the question of a monetary standard because it is not regarded by us as a possible issue in this campaign, and only campaign issues were mentioned in the platform. Therefore, there is nothing in the views expressed by you in the telegram just received which would preclude a man entertaining them from accepting a nomination on said platform."

The text of the platform follows:

The Democratic party of the United States, in national convention assembled, declares its devotion to the essential principles of the Democratic faith which brings us together in party communion.

Fundamental Principles.

Under them, local self-government and national unity and prosperity were alike established. They underlaid our independence, the structure of our free Republic, and every Democratic extension from Louisiana to California and Texas to Oregon, which preserved faithfully in all the States the tie between taxation and representation. They yet inspire the masses of our people, guarding jealously their rights and liberties and cherishing their fraternity, peace and orderly development.

They remind us of our duties and responsibilities as citizens and impress upon us, particularly at this time, the necessity of reform and the rescue of the administration of government from the headstrong, arbitrary and spasmodic methods which distract business by uncertainty, and pervade the public mind with dread, distrust and perturbation.

The application of these fundamental principles to the living issues of the day is the first step toward the assured peace, safety and progress of our nation. Freedom of the press, of conscience and of speech; equality before the law of all citizens; the right to trial by jury; freedom of the person defended by the writ of habeas corpus; liberty of personal contract untrammelled by sumptuary laws; supremacy of the civil over military authority; a well disciplined militia; the separation of church and state; economies in expenditures; low taxes, that labor may be lightly burdened; prompt and sacred fulfilment of public and private obligations; fidelity to treaties; peace and friendship with all nations, entangling alliances with none; absolute acquiescence in the will of the majority, the vital principle of republics—these are doctrines which Democracy has established as proverbs of the nation, and they should be constantly invoked and enforced.

Capital and Labor. We favor the enactment and administration of laws giving labor and capital impartially their just rights. Capital and labor ought not to be enemies. Each is necessary to the other. Each has its rights, but the rights of labor are certainly no less "vested," no less "sacred" and no less "inalienable" than the rights of capital.

Constitutional Guarantees. Constitutional guarantees are violated whenever any citizen is denied the right to labor, acquire and enjoy property or reside where interest or inclination may determine. Any denial thereof by individuals, organizations or governments should be summarily rebuked and punished.

We deny the right of any executive to disregard or suspend any constitutional privilege or limitation. Obedience to the laws and respect for their requirements are alike the supreme duty of the citizen and the official.

The military should be used only to support and maintain the law. We unqualifiedly condemn its employment for the summary banishment of citizens without trial or for the control of elections. We approve the measure which passed the United States Senate in 1896, but which a Republican Congress has ever since refused to enact, relating to contempts in Federal Courts and providing for trial by jury in cases of indirect contempt.

Waterways. We favor liberal appropriations for the care and improvement of the waterways of the country. When any waterway like the Mississippi River is of sufficient importance to demand special aid of the government such aid should be extended with a definite plan of continuous work until permanent improvement is secured.

We oppose the Republican policy of starving home development in order to feed the greed for conquest and the appetite for national "prestige" and display of strength.

Economy of Administration. Large reductions can easily be made in the annual expenditures of the government without impairing the efficiency of any branch of the public service, and we shall insist upon the strictest economy and frugality compatible with vigorous and efficient civil, military and naval administration as a right of the people too clear to be denied or withheld.

We favor the enforcement of honesty in the public service, and to that end a thorough legislative investigation of those executive departments of the government already known to teem with corruption, as well as other departments suspected of harboring corruption, and the punishment of ascertained corruptionists without fear or favor or regard to persons. The persistent and deliberate refusal of both Senate and House of Representatives to permit such investigation to be made demonstrates that only by a change in the executive and in the legislative departments can complete exposure, punishment and correction be obtained.

Federal Government and Trusts. We condemn the action of the Republican party in Congress in refusing to prohibit an executive department from entering into contracts with convicted trusts or unlawful combinations in restraint of interstate trade. We believe that one of the best methods of procuring economy and honesty in the public service is to have public officials, from the occupant of the White House down to the lowest of them, returned as nearly as may be to Jeffersonian simplicity of living.

Executive Usurpation. We favor the nomination and election of a President imbued with the principles of the Constitution, who will set his face sternly against executive usurpation of legislative and judicial functions, whether that usurpation be veiled under the guise of executive construction of existing laws or whether it take refuge in the tyrant's plea of necessity or superior wisdom.

Imperialism. We favor the preservation, so far as we can, of the open door for the world's commerce in the Orient, without an unnecessary entanglement in Oriental and European affairs and without arbitrary, unlimited, irresponsible and absolute government anywhere within our jurisdiction.

We oppose, as fervently as did George Washington himself, an indefinite, irresponsible, discretionary and vague absolutism and a policy of colonial exploitation, no matter where or by whom invoked or exercised. We believe with Thomas Jefferson and John Adams that no government has a right to make one set of laws for those "at home" and another and a different set of laws, absolute in their character, for those "in the colonies." All men under the American flag are entitled to the protection of the institutions whose emblem the flag is. If they are inherently unfit for these institutions, then they are inherently unfit to be members of the American body politic.

Wherever there may exist a people incapable of being governed under American laws, in consonance with the American Constitution, the territory of that people ought not to be part of the American domain. We insist that we ought to do for the Filipinos what we have already done for the Cubans, and it is our duty to make that promise now, and upon suitable guarantees of protection to citizens of our own and other countries resident there at the time of our withdrawal, set the Filipino people upon their feet free and independent to work out their own destiny.

The endeavor of the Secretary of War by pledging the government's indorsement for "promoters" in the Philippine Islands to make the United States a partner in speculative legislation of the archipelago, which was only temporarily held up by the opposition of the Democratic Senators in the last session, will, if successful, lead to entanglements from which it will be difficult to escape.

The Tariff.

The Democratic party has been and will continue to be the consistent opponent of that class of tariff legislation by which certain interests have been permitted through Congressional favor to draw heavy tribute from the American people. This monstrous perversion of those equal opportunities which our political institutions were established to secure, has caused what may once have been infant industries to become the greatest combinations of capital that the world has ever known. These especial favorites of the government have, through trust methods, been converted into monopolies, thus bringing to an end domestic competition which was the only alleged check upon the extravagant profits made possible by the protective system. These industrial combinations by the financial assistance they can give, new control the policy of the Republican party. We denounce protection as a robbery of the many to enrich the few and we favor a tariff limited to the needs of the government, economically administered and so levied as not to discriminate against any industry, class or section, to the end that the burdens of taxation shall be distributed as equally as possible.

We favor a revision and a gradual reduction of the tariff by the friends of the masses and for the common weal, and not by the friends of its abuses, its extortions and its discriminations, keeping in view the ultimate ends of "equality of burdens and equality of opportunities" and the constitutional purpose of raising a revenue by taxation—to wit, the support of the federal government in all its integrity and virility, but in simplicity.

Trusts and Combinations.

We recognize that the gigantic trusts and combinations designed to enable capital to secure more than its just share of the joint products of capital and labor, and which have been fostered and promoted under Republican rule, are a menace to beneficial competition and an obstacle to permanent business prosperity. A private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable. Individual equality of opportunity and free competition are essential to a healthy and permanent commercial prosperity, and any trust combination or monopoly tending to destroy these, by controlling production, restricting competition or fixing prices should be prohibited and punished by law. We especially denounce rebates and discrimination by transportation companies.

As the most potent agency in promoting and strengthening these unlawful conspiracies against trade, we demand an enlargement of the powers of the Interstate Commission to the end that the travelling public and shippers of this country may have prompt and adequate relief for the abuses to which they are subjected in the matter of transportation. We demand a strict enforcement of existing civil and criminal statutes against all such trusts, combinations and monopolies, and we demand the enactment of such further legislation as may be necessary to effectually suppress them.

Any trust or unlawful combination engaged in interstate commerce which is monopolizing any branch of business or production should not be permitted to transact business outside of the State of its origin. Whenever it shall be established in any court of competent jurisdiction that such monopolization exists, such prohibition should be enforced through comprehensive laws to be enacted on the subject.

Reclamation of Arid Lands.

We congratulate our Western citizens upon the passage of the Newlands irrigation act for the irrigation and reclamation of the arid lands at the West, a measure framed by a Democrat, passed in the Senate by a non-partisan vote and passed in the House against the opposition of almost all the Republican leaders by a vote the majority of which was Democratic.

We call attention to this great Democratic measure, broad and comprehensive as it is, working automatically throughout all time, without further action of Congress, until the reclamation of all the land in the arid West capable of reclamation is accomplished, reserving the lands reclaimed for homeseekers in small tracts, and rigidly guarding against land monopoly, as an evidence of the policy of domestic development contemplated by the Democratic party should it be placed in power.

Isthmian Canal.

The Democracy when intrusted with power will construct the Panama Canal speedily, honestly and economically, thereby giving to our people what Democrats have always contended for—a great interoceanic canal, furnishing shorter and cheaper lines of transportation and broader and less trammelled trade relations with the other peoples of the world.

We pledge ourselves to insist upon the just and lawful protection of our citizens at home and abroad and to use all proper measures to secure for them, whether native born or naturalized and without distinction of race or creed, the equal protection of laws and the enjoyment of all rights and privileges open to them under the covenants of our treaties of friendship and commerce, and if under existing treaties the right of travel and sojourn is denied the American citizen, or recognition is withheld from American passports by any countries on the ground of race or creed, we favor the beginning of negotiations with the govevrnments of such countries to secure by treaties the removal of these unjust discriminations.

American Citizenship.

We demand that all over the world a duly authenticated passport issued by the government of the United States to an American citizen shall be proof of the fact that he is an American citizen and shall entitle him to the treatment due him as such.

Election of Senators. We favor the election of United States Senators by the direct vote of the people.

We favor the admission of the Territories of Oklahoma and the Indian Territory. We also favor the immediate admission of Arizona and New-Mexico as separate States, and a Territorial government for Alaska and Porto Rico. We hold that the officials appointed to administer the government of any Territory as well as the district of Alaska should be bona fide residents at the time of their appointment for the Territory or district in which their duties are to be performed.

Statehood for Territories.

We demand the extermination of polygamy within the jurisdiction of the United States and the complete separation of church and state in political affairs.

Polygamy.

We denounce the ship subsidy bill recently passed by the United States Senate as an iniquitous appropriation of public funds for private purposes and a wasteful, illogical and useless attempt to overcome by subsidy the obstructions raised by Republican legislation to the growth and development of American commerce on the sea. We favor the upbuilding of a merchant marine without new or additional burdens upon the people and without bounties from the public treasury.

Merchant Marine.

We favor liberal trade arrangements with Canada and with peoples of other countries where they can be entered into with benefit to American agriculture, manufactures, mining or commerce.

Reciprocity.

Monroe Doctrine. We favor the maintenance of the Monroe Doctrine in its full integrity.

We favor the reduction of the army and of army expenditure to a point historically demonstrated to be safe and sufficient.

The Democracy would secure to the surviving soldiers and sailors and their dependents generous pensions, not by an arbitrary executive order, but by legislation which a grateful people stand ready to enact.

Army, Pensions.

Our soldiers and sailors who defend with their lives the Constitution and the laws have a sacred interest in their just administration. They must therefore share with us the humiliation with which we have witnessed the exaltation of court favorites, without distinguished service, over the scarred heroes of many battles, of their aggrandizement by executive appropriation out of the treasuries of a prostrate people in violation of the act of Congress which fixed the compensation of allowances of the military officers.

The Democratic party stands committed to the principles of Civil Service Reform, and we demand their honest, just and impartial enforcement. We denounce the Republican party for its continued and sinister encroachments upon the spirit and operation of Civil Service rules, whereby it has arbitrarily dispensed with examinations for office in the interests of favorites and employed all manner of devices to overreach and set aside the principles upon which Civil Service was established.

Civil Service.

The race question has brought countless woes to this country. The calm wisdom of the American people should see to it that it brings no more.

To revive the dead and hateful race and sectional animosities in any part of our common country means confusion, distraction of business and the reopening of wounds now happily healed.

Race Question.

North and South, East and West have but recently stood together in line of battle from the walls of Peking to the hills of Santiago, and as sharers of a common glory and a common destiny we should share fraternally the common burdens.

We therefore deprecate and condemn the Bourbonlike, selfish and narrow spirit of the recent Republican Convention at Chicago, which sought to kindle anew the embers of racial and sectional strife, and we appeal from it to the sober common sense and spirit of the American people.

The existing Republican Administration has been spasmodic, erratic, sensational, spectacular and arbitrary. It has made itself a satire upon the Congress, the courts and upon the settled practices and usages of national and international law.

The Republican Administration.

It summoned the Congress into hasty and futile extra session and virtually adjourned it, leaving behind its flight from Washington uncalled calendars and unaccomplished tasks.

It made war, which is the sole power of Congress, without its authority, thereby usurping one of its fundamental prerogatives.

It violated a plain statute of the United States, as well as plain treaty obligations, international usages and constitutional law, and has done so under pretence of executing a great public policy which could have been more easily effected lawfully, constitutionally and with honor.

It forced strained and unnatural constructions upon statutes, usurping judicial interpretation and substituting Congressional enactment.

It withdrew from Congress their customary duties of investigation which have heretofore made the representatives of the people and the States the terror of evildoers.

It conducted a secretive investigation of its own and boasted of a few sample convictions, while it threw a broad coverlet over the bureaus which had been their chosen field of operative abuses and kept in power the superior officers under whose administration the crimes had been committed.

It ordered assaults upon some monopolies, but, paralyzed by its first victory, it flung out the flag of truce and cried out that it would not "run amuck," leaving its future purposes beclouded by its vacillations.

Conducting the campaign upon this declaration of our principles and purposes, we invoke for our candidates the support, not only of our great and time honored organization, but also the active assistance of all of our fellow citizens, who, disregarding past differences, desire the perpetuation of our constitutional government as framed and established by the fathers of the Republic.

PROHIBITION.

The Prohibition National Convention met in Indianapolis on June 29-30. Homer L. Castle, of Pittsburg, was made temporary chairman, and A. G. Wolfenbarger, of Omaha, permanent chairman of the convention. On June 30, Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles having declined to stand as a Presidential candidate, Silas C. Swallow, of Pennsylvania, was nominated for President. George W. Carroll, of Texas, was nominated for Vice-President.

The Platform.

The platform, adopted on June 30, was as follows:

The Paramount Issue.

The widely prevailing system of the licensed and legalized sale of alcoholic beverages is so ruinous to individual interests, so inimical to public welfare, so destructive to national wealth, and so subversive to the rights of great masses of our citizenship, that the destruction of the traffic is and for years has been the most important question in American politics.

We denounce the lack of statesmanship exhibited by the leaders of the Democratic and Republican parties in their refusal to recognize the paramount importance of this question and the cowardice with which the leaders of these parties have courted the favor of those whose selfish interests are advanced by the continuation and augmentation of the traffic, until to-day the influence of the liquor traffic practically dominates national, State and local government throughout the nation.

We declare the truth, demonstrated by the experience of half a century, that all methods of dealing with the liquor traffic which recognize its right to exist, in any form, under any system of license, or tax, or regulation, have proved powerless to remove its evils and as useless as checks on its growth, while the insignificant public revenues which have accrued therefrom have seared the public conscience against a recognition of its iniquity.

We call public attention to the fact, proved by the experience of more than fifty years, that to secure the enactment and enforcement of prohibitory legislation, in which alone lies hope of the protection of the people from the liquor traffic, it is necessary that the legislative, executive and judicial branches of the government should be in the hands of a political party in harmony with the prohibition principles and pledged to its embodiment in laws and to the execution of those laws.

We pledge the Prohibition party, wherever given power by the suffrage of the people, to the enactment and enforcement of laws prohibiting and abolishing the manufacture, importation, transportation and sale of alcoholic beverages.

We declare that there is not only no other issue of equal importance before the American people to-day, but that the so-called issues on which the Democratic and Republican parties seek to divide the electorate of the country are in large part subterfuges under the cover of which they wrangle for the spoils of office.

Recognizing that the intelligent voters of the country may properly ask our attitude on other questions of public concern, we declare ourselves in favor of:

Other Declarations of Policy.

The impartial enforcement of all law.

The safeguarding of the people's rights by a rigid application of the principles of justice to all combinations and organizations of capital and labor.

A more intimate relation between the people and government by a wise adaptation of the principle of the initiative and referendum.

The safeguarding to every citizen in every place under the government of the people of the United States of all the rights guaranteed by the laws and the Constitution.

International arbitration; and we declare that our nation should contribute in every manner, consistent with national dignity, to the permanent establishment of peace between all nations.

The reform of our divorce laws, the final extirpation of polygamy, and the total overthrow of the present shameful system of illegal sanction of the social evil (with its unspeakable traffic in girls) by the municipal authorities of almost all our cities.

We declare ourselves in favor of recognition of the fact that the right of suffrage should depend on the mental and moral qualification of the citizens.

We declare ourselves in favor of such changes in our laws as will place tariff schedules in the hands of an omnipartisan commission.

We declare ourselves in favor of the application of uniform laws for all our country and dependencies.

We declare ourselves in favor of the extension and honest administration of the civil service laws.

We declare ourselves in favor of the election of United States Senators by vote of the people.

SOCIALIST.

The Socialist National Convention met in Chicago May 4-6. On May 5 Eugene V. Debs, of Indiana, was nominated for President, and Benjamin Hanford, of New-York, was nominated for Vice-President. Both nominations were made unanimously.

The Platform.

The platform, adopted on May 5, was as follows:

We, the Socialist party, in convention assembled, make our appeal to the American people as the defender and preserver of the idea of liberty and self-government, in which the nation was born; as the only political movement standing for the programme and principles by which the liberty of the individual may become a fact; as the only political organization that is democratic, and that has for its purpose the democratizing of the whole of society.

Party Fundamentals.

To this idea of liberty the Republican and Democratic parties are equally false. They alike struggle for power to maintain and profit by an industrial system which can be preserved only by the complete overthrow of such liberties as we already have, and by the still further enslavement and degradation of labor.

Our American institutions came into the world in the name of freedom. They have been seized upon by the capitalist class as the means of rooting out the idea of freedom from among the people. Our State and national legislatures have become the mere agencies of great propertied interests. These interests control the appointments and decisions of the judges of our courts. They have come into what is practically a private ownership of all the functions and forces of government. They are using these to betray and conquer foreign and weaker peoples, in order to establish new markets for the surplus goods which the people make, but are too poor to buy. They are gradually so invading and restricting the right of suffrage as to take unawares the right of the worker to a vote or voice in public affairs. By enacting new and misinterpreting old laws, they are preparing to attack the liberty of the individual even to speak or think for himself or for the common good.

By controlling all the sources of social revenue, the possessing class is able to silence what might be the voice of protest against the passing of liberty and the coming of tyranny. It completely controls the university and public school, the pulpit and the press, and the arts and literatures. By making these economically dependent upon itself, it has brought all the forms of public teaching into servile submission to its own interests.

Our political institutions are also being used as the destroyers of that individual property upon which all liberty and opportunity depend. The promise of economic independence to each man was one of the faiths upon which our institutions were founded. But under the guise of defending private property, capitalism is using our political institutions to make it impossible for the vast majority of human beings to ever become possessors of private property in the means of life.

Capitalism and Socialism.

Capitalism is the enemy and destroyer of essential private property. Its development is through the legalized confiscation of all that the labor of the working class produces above its subsistence-wage. The private ownership of the means of employment grounds society in an economic slavery which renders intellectual and political tyranny inevitable.

Socialism comes so to organize industry and society that every individual shall be secure in that private property in the means of life upon which his liberty of being, thought and action depend. It comes to rescue the people from the fast increasing and successful assault of capitalism upon the liberty of the individual.

As an American Socialist party, we pledge our fidelity to the principles of international socialism, as embodied in the united thought and action of the Socialists of all nations. In the industrial development already accomplished, the interests of the world's workers are separated by no national boundaries. The condition of the most exploited and oppressed workers, in the most remote places of the earth, inevitably tends to drag down all the workers of the world to the same level. The tendency of the competitive wage system is to make labor's lowest condition the measure or rule of its universal condition. Industry and finance are no longer national but international, in both organization and results. The chief significance of national boundaries and of the so-called patriotisms which the ruling class of each nation is seeking to revive is the power which these give to capitalism to keep the workers of the world from uniting and to throw them against each other in the struggles of contending capitalist interests for the control of the yet unexploited markets of the world, or the remaining sources of profit.

The Socialist movement therefore is a world movement. It knows of no conflicts of interest between the workers of one nation and the workers of another. It stands for the freedom of the workers of all nations; and, in so standing, it makes for the full freedom of all humanity.

A World Movement.

The Socialist movement owes its birth and growth to that economic development or world process which is rapidly separating a working or producing class from a possessing or capitalist class. The class that produces nothing possesses labor's fruits, and the opportunities and enjoyments these fruits afford, while the class that does the world's real work has increasing economic uncertainty and physical and intellectual misery for its portion.

The fact that these two classes have not yet become fully conscious of their distinction from each other, the fact that the lines of division and interest may not yet be clearly drawn, does not change the fact of the class conflict.

This class struggle is due to the private ownership of the means of employment, or the tools of production. Wherever and whenever man owned his own land and tools, and by them produced only the things which he used, economic independence was possible. But production, or the making of goods, has long ceased to be individual. The labor of scores, or even thousands, enters into almost every article produced. Production is now social or collective. Practically everything is made or done by many men—sometimes separated by seas or continents—working together for the same end. But this co-operation in production is not for the direct use of the things made by the workers who make them, but for the profit of the owners of the tools and means of production; and to this is due the present division of society into two distinct classes; and from it have sprung all the miseries, inharmonies and contradictions of our civilization.

Between these two classes there can be no possible compromise or identity of interests, any more than there can be peace in the midst of war, or light in the midst of darkness. A society based upon this class division carries in itself the seeds of its own destruction. Such a society is founded in fundamental injustice. There can be no possible basis for social peace, for individual freedom, for mental and moral harmony, except in the conscious and complete triumph of the working class as the only class that has the right or power to be.

The Socialist programme is not a theory imposed upon society for its acceptance or rejection. It is but the interpretation of what is, sooner or later, inevitable. Capitalism is already struggling to its destruction. It is no longer competent to organize or administer the work of the world, or even to preserve itself. The captains of industry are appalled at their own inability to control or direct the rapidly socializing forces of industry. The so-called trust is but a sign and form of the developing socialization of the world's work. The universal increase of the uncertainty of employment, the universal capitalist determination to break down the unity of labor in the trades unions, the widespread apprehensions of impending change, reveal that the institutions of capitalist society are passing under the power of inhering forces that will soon destroy them.

Trusts and Socialism.

Into the midst of the strain and crisis of civilization the Socialist movement comes as the only saving or conservative force. If the world is to be saved from chaos, from universal disorder and misery, it must be by the union of the workers of all nations in the Socialist movement. The Socialist party comes with the only proposition or programme for intelligently and deliberately organizing the nation for the common good of all its citizens. It is the first time that the mind of man has ever been directed toward the conscious organization of society.

Socialism means that all those things upon which the people in common depend shall by the people in common be owned and administered. It means that the tools of employment shall belong to their creators and users; that all production shall be for the direct use of the producers; that the making of goods for profit shall come to an end; that we shall all be workers together, and that opportunities shall be open and equal to all men.

To the end that the workers may seize every possible advantage that may strengthen them to gain complete control of the powers of government, and thereby the sooner establish the co-operative commonwealth, the Socialist party pledges itself to watch and work in both the economic and the political struggle for each successive immediate interest of the working class; for shortened days of labor and increases of wages; for the insurance of the workers against accident, sickness and lack of employment; for pensions for aged and exhausted workers; for the public ownership of the means of transportation, communication and exchange; for the graduated taxation of incomes, inheritances, and of franchise and land values, the proceeds to be applied to public employment and bettering the conditions of the workers' children, and their freedom from the workshop; for the equal suffrage of men and women; for the prevention of the use of the military against labor in the settlement of strikes; for the free administration of justice; for popular government, including initiative, referendum, proportional representation and the recall of officers by their constituents; and for every gain or advantage for the workers that may be wrested from the capitalist system, and that may relieve the suffering and strengthen the hands of labor. We lay upon every man elected to any executive or legislative office the first duty of striving to procure whatever is for the workers' most immediate interest, and for whatever will lessen the economic and political powers of the capitalist and increase the like powers of the worker.

But, in so doing, we are using these remedial measures as means to the one great end of the co-operative commonwealth. Such measures of relief as we may be able to force from capitalism are but a preparation of the workers to seize the whole powers of government, in order that they may thereby lay hold of the whole system of industry, and thus come into their rightful inheritance.

To this end we pledge ourselves, as the party of the working class, to use all political power, as fast as it shall be intrusted to us by our fellow workers, both for their immediate interests and for their ultimate and complete emancipation. To this end we appeal to all the workers of America, and to all who will lend their lives to the service of the workers in their struggle to gain their own, and to all who will nobly and disinterestedly give their days and energies unto the workers' cause, to cast their lot and faith with the Socialist party. Our appeal for the trust and suffrages of our fellow workers is at once an appeal for their common good and freedom, and for the freedom and blossoming of our common humanity. In pledging ourselves, and those we represent, to be faithful to the appeal which we make, we believe that we are but preparing the soil of the economic freedom from which will spring the freedom of the whole man.

POPULIST.

The Populist National Convention met at Springfield, Ill., on July 4. L. H. Weller, of Iowa, was elected temporary chairman, and J. M. Mallette, of Texas, permanent chairman. On July 5 Thomas E. Watson, of Georgia, was nominated for President on the first ballot. The vote stood 334 for Watson, 319 for William V. Allen, of Nebraska, and 45 for Frank H. Williams, of Illinois. After some changes to Watson he was declared the unanimous choice of the convention. T. B. Tibbles, of Nebraska, was nominated for Vice-President. He received on the first ballot 453 votes, to 74½ for George F. Burnham, of Massachusetts, and 53½ for Theodore B. Rynder, of Pennsylvania.

The Platform.

The platform, adopted on July 5, was as follows:

The People's party reaffirms its adherence to the basic truths of the Omaha platform of 1892, and of the subsequent platforms of 1896 and 1900. In session in its fourth national convention on July 4, 1904, in the city of Springfield, Ill., it draws inspiration from the day that saw the birth of the nation as well as its own birth as a party, and also from the soul of him who lived at its present place of meeting. We renew our allegiance to the old fashioned American spirit that gave this nation existence and made it distinctive among the peoples of the earth. We again sound the keynote of the Declaration of Independence that all men are created equal in a political sense, which was the sense in which that instrument, being a political document, intended that the utterance should be understood. We assert that the departure from this fundamental truth is responsible for the ills from which we suffer as a nation, that the giving of special privileges to the few has enabled them to dominate the many, thereby tending to destroy the political equality which is the cornerstone of democratic government.

Militarism.

We call for a return to the truths of the fathers, and we vigorously protest against the spirit of Mammonism and of thinly veiled monarchy that is invading certain sections of our national life, and of the very administration itself. This is a nation of peace, and we deplore the appeal to the spirit of force and militarism which is shown in ill advised and vainglorious boasting and in more harmful ways in the denial of the rights of man under martial law.

Transportation Monopoly.

A political democracy and an industrial despotism cannot exist side by side; and nowhere is this truth more plainly shown than in the gigantic transportation monopolies which have bred all sorts of kindred trusts, subverted the governments of many of the States, and established their official agents in the national government. We submit that it is better for the government to own the railroads than for the railroads to own the government, and that one or the other alternative seems inevitable.

We call the attention of our fellow citizens to the fact that the surrender of both of the old parties in corporative influences leaves the People's party the only party of reform in the nation.

Therefore we submit the following platform of principles to the American people:

Money and Banks.

The issuing of money is a function of government, and should never be delegated to corporations or individuals. The Constitution gives to Congress alone power to issue money and regulate its value.

We therefore demand that all money shall be issued by the government in such quantity as shall maintain a stability in prices, every dollar to be full legal tender, none of which shall be a debt redeemable in other money.

We demand that postal savings banks be established by the government for the safe deposit of the savings of the people.

We believe in the right of labor to organize for the benefit and protection of those who toil; and pledge the efforts of the People's party to preserve this right inviolate. Capital is organized and has no right to deny

Labor Questions. to labor the privilege which it claims for itself. We feel that intelligent organization of labor is essential; that it raises the standard of workmanship, promotes the efficiency, intelligence, independence and character of the wage earner. We believe with Abraham Lincoln that labor is prior to capital, and is not its slave, but its companion, and we plead for that broad spirit of toleration and justice which will promote industrial peace through the observance of the principles of voluntary arbitration.

We favor the enactment of legislation looking to the improvement of conditions for wage earners, the abolition of child labor, the suppression of sweat shops and of convict labor in competition with free labor, and the exclusion from American shores of foreign pauper labor.

We favor the shorter workday, and declare that if eight hours constitutes a day's labor in government service, eight hours should constitute a day's labor in factories, workshops and mines.

As a means of placing all public questions directly under the control of the people, we demand that legal provision be made under which the people may exercise the initiative, referendum and proportional representation and direct vote for all public officers with the right of recall.

Initiative and Referendum. Land, including all the natural sources of wealth, is a heritage of all the people, and should not be monopolized for speculative purposes, and alien ownership of land should be prohibited.

We demand a return to the original interpretation of the Constitution and a fair and impartial enforcement of laws under it, and denounce government by injunction and imprisonment without the right of trial by jury.

To prevent unjust discrimination and monopoly the government should own and control the railroads and those public utilities which in their nature are monopolies. To perfect the postal service, the government should Government Ownership. own and operate the general telegraph and telephone systems and provide a parcels post.

As to those trusts and monopolies which are not public utilities or natural monopolies we demand that those special privileges which they now enjoy, and which alone enable them to exist, should be immediately withdrawn. Corporations, being the creatures of government, should be subjected to such governmental regulations and control as will adequately protect the public. We demand the taxation of monopoly privileges, while they remain in private hands, to the extent of the value of the privileges granted.

We demand that Congress shall enact a general law uniformly regulating the power and duties of all incorporated companies doing interstate business.

SOCIALIST LABOR.

The Socialist Labor National Convention met in New-York City on July 6 and nominated Charles H. Corregan, of New-York, for President, and William W. Cox, of Illinois, for Vice-President.

Platform.

The Socialist Labor Party of America, in convention assembled, reasserts the inalienable right of man to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

We hold that the purpose of government is to secure to every citizen the enjoyment of this right; but taught by experience we hold furthermore that such right is illusory to the majority of the people, to wit, the working class, under the present system of economic inequality that is essentially destructive of their life, their liberty and their happiness.

We hold that the true theory of politics is that the machinery of government must be controlled by the whole people; but again taught by experience we hold furthermore that the true theory of economics is that the means of production must likewise be owned, operated and controlled by the people in common. Man cannot exercise his right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness without the ownership of the land and the tool with which to work. Deprived of these, his life, his liberty and his fate fall into the hands of the class that owns those essentials for work and production.

We hold that the existing contradiction between the theory of democratic government and the fact of a despotic economic system—the private ownership of the natural and social opportunities—divides the people into two

A Struggle of Classes. classes: The Capitalist Class and the Working Class; throws society into the convulsions of the class struggle; and perverts government to the exclusive benefit of the capitalist class.

Thus labor is robbed of the wealth which it alone produces, is denied the means of self-employment, and, by compulsory idleness in wage slavery, is even deprived of the necessaries of life.

Against such a system the Socialist Labor Party raises the banner of revolt, and demands the unconditional surrender of the capitalist class.

The time is fast coming when in the natural course of social evolution, this system, through the destructive action of its failures and crises, on the one hand, and the constructive tendencies of its trusts and other capitalist combinations, on the other hand, will have worked out its own downfall.

We, therefore, call upon the wage workers of America to organize under the banner of the Socialist Labor Party into a class conscious body, aware of its rights and determined to conquer them.

And we also call upon all other intelligent citizens to place themselves squarely upon the ground of working class interests, and join us in this mighty and noble work of human emancipation, so that we may put summary end to the existing barbarous class conflict by placing the land and all the means of production, transportation and distribution into the hands of the people as a collective body, and substituting the Co-operative Commonwealth for the present state of planless production, industrial war and social disorder—a commonwealth in which every worker shall have the free exercise and full benefit of his faculties, multiplied by all the modern factors of civilization.

ORGANIZATION OF LEADING CHURCHES.

STATISTICS OF RELIGIOUS DENOMINATIONS IN THE UNITED STATES.

The following table of statistics of the churches in the United States, for 1903, was compiled by H. K. Carroll, LL. D., and is reproduced by courtesy of "The Christian Advocate." The figures are obtained by deducting from the totals for the several denominations the returns for missions, etc., in other countries, and this is done to make the statistics conform to the United States Census of 1900, which is the only complete basis of comparison:

THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MOVEMENT.

Christian Science is a system of religious philosophy, originating with Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy in 1866. The headquarters of the movement are in Boston, Mass., where there is a publishing society, which issues all the denominational literature, including monthly and weekly magazines. The services of all Christian Science churches are uniform, and consist of correlative passages read from the Bible and the Christian Science text book, selected to elucidate the subject of the lesson sermon. The services are conducted by two readers, generally a man and a woman.

At the June, 1904, annual meeting of the Mother Church in Boston, the clerk announced an increase of 3,102 members for the previous year. The total membership is now put at 30,543. There are 850 branch churches and societies, with an aggregate membership of 35,000. In "The Christian Science Journal" for October, 1904, 102 institutes for teaching Christian Science, and upward of 4,000 practitioners of Christian Science Mind Healing are listed. In recent years Christian Science churches have been erected in Boston, New-York, Chicago, Denver, Kansas City, Concord, N. H., and many other cities.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR SOCIETY.

The headquarters of the United Society of Christian Endeavor are at Tremont Temple, Boston, Mass. Officers: Pres., Dr. Francis E. Clark; gen. sec., Von Ogden Vogt; treas., William Shaw. Organized at Portland, Me., Feb. 2, 1881. Motto: "For Christ and the Church." On July 1, 1904, there were 64,697 societies in the world. 44,302 of which are in the United States, with 3,881,820 members. Pennsylvania led with 5,931 societies; then New-York, with 4,424; Ohio, 3,835; Illinois, 3,528; Indiana, 2,003; Iowa, 1,933; Michigan, 1,622; California, 1,592; Kansas, 1,290; Massachusetts, 1,534; Missouri, 1,627; New-Jersey, 1,489.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS.

The Young Men's Christian Association was organized in London in 1844 by George Williams, a junior clerk in a large drygoods house. The first association in America was established at Montreal in 1851; the first in the United States at Boston later in the same year. The North American work is conducted under the following general departments: Office, Field, City and Town, Railroad, Student, Army and Navy, Colored and Indian, and sub-departments of Religious and Bible Study, Educational, Physical, Social and Junior Work. The aggregate membership of the 1,813 North American associations is (Sept. 1, 1904) 373,502, and the net value of their property is $29,676,807; 707 have libraries, aggregating 578,382 volumes. The following are the officers of the committees:

THE CARNEGIE INSTITUTION.

Endowed by Andrew Carnegie; headquarters, Washington, D. C. Objects: To promote original research by systematically sustaining projects of broad scope that may lead to the discovery and utilization of new forces for the benefit of man; projects of universal scope that fill in gaps of knowledge of particular things or restricted fields of research; the administration of a department of scientific research under a single director of competent methods; the appointment of research assistants; to increase the facilities for higher education by original research in universities and institutions of learning. The president is Daniel C. Gilman, the secretary Charles D. Wolcott. The other trustees are John S. Billings, S. P. Langley, Alexander Agassiz, William N. Frew, Lyman J. Gage, John Hay, Henry L. Higginson, Charles L. Hutchinson, William Lindsay, Wayne MacVeagh, D. O. Mills, S. Weir Mitchell, William W. Morrow, Elihu Root, Carroll D. Wright, E. A. Hitchcock, John L. Cadwalader, Cleveland H. Dodge, William Wirt Howe, Seth Low, John C. Spooner and Andrew D. White. The year book of the institution for 1904 showed that the institution had total assets of $10,101,560, and a balance on hand in the treasury on November 1, 1903, of $445,472. The administration expenses included $21,227 for honorariums, and $13,000 for salaries of officers. The assets comprise $10,000,000 of registered 5 per cent. bonds of the Steel Corporation, and $50,000 each in Northern Pacific land grant general mortgage 4s of 1997, and Santa Fé Railroad general 4s of 1993, both in the reserve fund, and an office outfit at Washington valued at $1,500. The appropriations made for 1904 were $100,000 for reserve funds, $40,000 for publication fund, $60,000 for administration, $130,000 for grants for larger projects, and $200,000 for grants for minor researches, and $43,000 for special grants. The institution has declined to make any grants in medicine or for preparing systematic treatises or essays in logic or philosophy.

RHODES OXFORD SCHOLARSHIPS.

The first elections of scholars in the United States under the bequests of Cecil J. Rhodes occurred in 1904. One scholar is chosen from each State and Territory to which scholarships have been assigned. All candidates in each State and Territory must pass an Oxford Responsions examination, and one competitor will be named for each by the committee or university charged with making appointments. Scholars must have reached at least the end of their sophomore or second year work at some recognized degree granting university or college of the United States. Scholars must be unmarried, must be citizens of the United States, and must be between nineteen and twenty-five years of age.

Any inquiries about Oxford, its colleges and the courses of study there should be addressed to F. J. Wylie, the Oxford agent of the Rhodes Trustees. Copies of Oxford Responsion papers for past years can be obtained from the Oxford University Press, Nos. 91 and 95 Fifth-ave., New-York.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION.

The American Society for the Extension of University Teaching was founded at Philadelphia in June, 1890, and incorporated in March, 1892. Present officers: President, Frederick B. Miles; treasurer, Charles A. Brinley; secretary, Charles D. Atkins. The office is in Philadelphia. The aim of University Extension is, first, to extend higher education to all classes of people; second, to extend education through the whole of adult life; third, to extend thorough methods of study to subjects of everyday interest. During the academic year 1903-'04 the society arranged for the delivery of 111 courses of lectures at 86 centres. The total course attendance at lectures was 141,412. The number of courses arranged by States was as follows: Pennsylvania, 48; New-York, 29; New-Jersey, 16; Maryland, 5; Connecticut, 7; Virginia, 4; Delaware, 1; Rhode Island, 1. The division by subject is as follows: Literature, 35; history, 30; music and art, 22; science, 13; ethics and philosophy, 10; political economy, 1.

The constantly widening use that is being made of the society's lectures and of the University Extension system is shown by the auspices under which the courses of 1903-'04 were delivered: Centres under control of women's clubs, educational institutions (schools, Brooklyn Institute, etc.), 12; New-York City Board of Education ("Free Lectures to the People"), 20; the University Extension Society and the Free Library of Philadelphia ("Free Lecture Courses to the People"), 11; regular University Extension Centres, 59. The society has just completed its fourteenth year of work. Since its organization there have been delivered under its direction 1,342 courses, comprising 7,863 lectures. The average attendance at each lecture has been 205, and the aggregate attendance 1,615,291. The most important work, outside of that of the general society in Philadelphia, is carried on through the University of Chicago, the Regents of the University of New York, Rutgers College, New-Brunswick; Columbia University, New-York, and in California. Sample syllabi and circulars descriptive of University Extension work can be obtained free of charge by addressing University Extension Society, No. 111 South Fifteenth-st., Philadelphia, Pa.

Order of Pequot and King Philip.

The preamble of the Order of Pequot and King Philip recites that it is conferred upon descendants of soldiers in those so-called wars, or of those who were subjected to and sustained the years of peril, privation and hardship which those struggles involved. No direct applications or credentials are considered or accepted, the sole eligibility being the receipt of the Invitation of the Order officially issued upon nomination by a member. Membership is for life or in perpetuity. The insignia is worn around the neck, instead of displayed upon the breast. Founded 1902. The officers are O. L. Frisbee, chairman for New-England, Portsmouth, N. H.; Charles A. Williams, chairman for Western States, Buffalo, N. Y.; George W. Freeman, chairman for Southern States, Morgantown, W. Va.; acting general registrar during vacancy, Appleton Morgan, Westfield, N. J.

Order of Veterans of Indian Wars of the United States.

Organized April 23, 1896. Objects: To perpetuate the faithful services, heroism and privations of the officers and soldiers of the Army of the United States, as well as of the auxiliary forces of the several States of the Union, in the campaigns against the Indians on the frontiers, in the interests of civilization and for the settlement and defence of the Territories; also to collect and preserve for publication a record of these services and other historical data relating thereto, as well as to unite in a fraternal bond of union all those who are entitled to membership. There are two classes of members. The first class includes commissioned officers of the Army, on the active or retired list, or those who have become honorably separated from the service, of good moral character and reputation, and who have served since January, 1784, or may hereafter serve in the army in an Indian war in a strictly military capacity; also any officer of a State National Guard or Militia meeting the above requirements, and who regularly served under a commission from the Governor of a State or Territory; also the male descendants of those above specified who would have been eligible for such membership, but died prior to becoming members. The second class includes lineal male descendants of living members of the first class. Upon the death of a companion of the first class, all descendants who are companions of the second class succeed to first class membership. The principal officers are: Commander, Brigadier General J. D. Bingham, U. S. A.; recorder and treasurer, Captain Henry Hobart Bellas, U. S. A., No. 421 South Forty-fourth-st., Philadelphia; historian, Brigadier General Charles King, U. S. CUBA.

THE CENTRAL GOVERNMENT.

Capital, Havana.

Vice-President.....

Secretary of Finance.....José Garcia Montes
Secretary of Justice.....Carlos Ortiz (acting)
Secretary of Agriculture, Commerce and Industries...Manuel Luciano Diaz (acting)
Secretary of Public Instruction.....Leopoldo Cancio
Secretary of Public Works.....Manuel Luciano Diaz

The Island of Cuba, for four hundred years a Spanish colony, was relinquished by the Spanish Government as a result of the war with the United States, under the Treaty of Paris of December 10, 1898. Thereafter for a time the island was occupied and administered by the United States through a Military Governor. Steps toward the formation of a native government began with the election of municipal officers on June 16, 1900. On September 15, 1900, delegates to a constitutional convention were elected, and on November 5, 1900, the convention began its labors. The work of the convention was completed on October 1, 1901. A general election for Governors of Provinces, Representatives in Congress and Senatorial and Presidential electors was held on December 31, 1901. The Presidential electors met on February 24, 1902, and chose Tomas Estrada Palma to be first President of the Republic of Cuba. Mr. Palma, who was at that time a resident of the United States, proceeded to Cuba in April, and made a tour of the island, being everywhere received with popular enthusiasm. On May 20 he was formally inaugurated as President, the last remains of United States control were withdrawn from the island, and the free and independent government of Cuba by the Cubans became an accomplished fact.

The attention of the Cuban Congress was largely occupied during its first session by financial questions. A public loan of $35,000,000 was authorized for the payment of wages to soldiers of the revolutionary army and for other urgent purposes. The President was authorized to oat the loan at such times and in such manner as he pleased, provided that it was to be redeemable in from ten to forty years, the minimum rate of issue to be 90 per cent, and the maximum rate of interest to be 5 per cent. A commission authorized to arrange for floating this loan visited the United States in 1903. In February, 1904, the loan was taken by an American syndicate, headed by Speyer & Co. The bonds run forty years at 5 per cent. To pay the interest on the army loan the Cuban Congress passed on February 27, 1903, a Stamp Tax act, which met with great criticism and opposition, and was modified by supplementary acts of May 7 and June 13. These provided for taxes on the importation of liquors, wines, beverages, matches and playing cards, on the exportation of cigars, cigarettes and tobacco, and on the manufacture, sale and consumption of liquors, wines, beers, beverages, matches, playing cards, cigars, leaf tobacco and sugar. The tax laws became effective on November 1. On February 5, 1904, a general increase was announced in the tariff rates on imports.

President Palma, in his message to Congress on November 7, 1904, drew an optimistic picture of Cuban progress. For the fiscal year ended June 30, 1904, the imports were $74,492,000, an increase of $11,872,000. The exports for the same period were $94,399,000, an increase of $16,000,000. Sugar alone accounted for $57,700,000, an increase of $14,000,000. The budget for 1905 showed total expenditures of $19,138,102, and receipts, $19,699,650, leaving a surplus of $561,745. The estimated receipts are as follows: From customs, $17,862,000; consular fees, $260,000; communication, $533,400; internal revenue, $583,000; State dues from properties, $257,250, and sundries, $202,000. The expenditures were stated thus: Ministry of State and Justice, $473,488; Government, $6,099,214; Finance, $2,253,003; Public Instruction, $3,901,993; Public Works, $4,813,854; Agriculture and Industry, $262,347; Judiciary, $1,265,813, and Executive, $68,390.

The American Congress having failed in 1901-'02 to pass any measure authorizing tariff concessions on Cuban products in return for similar concessions offered by Cuba on American imports, President Roosevelt authorized the negotiation of a commercial treaty with Cuba, which was signed in Havana on December 11, 1902. No action was taken on this convention during the life of the LVIIth Congress; but at a special session of the Senate, called March 5, 1903, it was considered, and, with amendments, was ratified on March 19. The Cuban Government ratified the amended instrument on March 28. (For full text of the convention see under "LVIIth Congress, Treaties with Foreign Countries," Tribune Almanac for 1904.) By its terms the treaty was not to become operative until "approved by Congress," and a special session of Congress was called by President Roosevelt to give this approval. The House of Representatives passed on November 19, and the Senate on December 16, a bill affirming the treaty.

A naval station cession was agreed on by the two governments by which Cuba granted sites for United States stations at Guantanamo and Bahia Honda. The former station was transferred to the United States in November, 1903. On July 2, 1903, a treaty was signed in Havana confirming Cuba's sovereignty over the Isle of Pines. This convention, which was renewed last winter, has not yet been ratified by the United States Senate. On May 22, 1903, Minister Squiers and Señor Zaldo, Cuban Secretary of State, signed in Havana a permanent treaty between the United States and Cuba embodying the terms of the Platt Amendment. A postal treaty was also concluded, and signed by Postmaster General Payne and President Roosevelt in August, 1903, perpetuating the regulations for the exchange of mails between the two countries, made when Cuba was under American control.

Commerce between the United States and Cuba is already showing a material increase under the operations of the new reciprocity treaty. That instrument went into force on December 27, 1903, and therefore all the commercial transactions between the two countries since January 1, 1904, reflect the influence of the treaty and furnish a measure of its effectiveness. Statistics covering the months of January, February and March, 1904, compared with figures of 1903, show the results of Cuban reciprocity thus far:

Copper and vegetable fibre form the largest individual items of American imports from Mexico, and iron and steel products constitute the largest American exports to that country

The custom house collections of the Republic of Mexico during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1904, show that the foreign trade of the country is in a flourishing condition. The collections are greater than those of the preceding year and are summarized as follows:

Import duties	$35,288,606
Export duties	966,091
Port dues	773,919
Arrears	103,669
Total	$37,132,285

The receipts for the three preceding fiscal years were as follows:

1900-'01	28,105,875

These figures show a steady yearly increase in the custom house receipts, the advance in four years amounting to $9,026,409. In the fiscal year 1897-'98 the total receipts amounted to $23,022,618, and compared with the receipts for 1903-'04 there is an indicated increase of $14,109,667 in seven years, an average of over $2,000,000 a year.

The regular army of Mexico on its present footing consists of eight major generals, fifty-three brigadier generals, 944 commissioned officers, 2,481 non-commissioned officers and 27,247 privates. In the navy are six steel gunboats or training ships. Two more gunboats are being constructed.

An amendment to the Federal Constitution was adopted in 1904 creating the office of Vice-President, and lengthening the term of the President (with that of the Vice-President) to six years.

Mexico now has a railway mileage of 10,078 miles.

On November 3, 1903, a revolution broke out in the City of Panama, which soon spread to other parts of the State of Panama, and resulted in the complete obliteration of Colombian sovereignty. Independence was proclaimed by a provisional junta composed of José Augustin Arjano, Federico Boyd and Tomas Arias. The Governor of Panama and the general commanding the Colombian military forces were arrested and deported, and within forty-eight hours the last vestige of Colombian authority on the Isthmus had vanished. Not a life was lost accomplishing the revolution.

The junta quickly sought recognition as a de facto and then as a de jure government. The United States recognized its de facto responsibility, and prepared to keep the line of Isthmian transit free from interruption in case Colombia should attempt to reimpose her sovereignty. Orders were given to allow no Colombian troops to be landed at points from which they would menace Isthmian transit. Colombia not making, and having no power to make, a serious effort to reconquer the Isthmus, the new republic soon asked and obtained complete political recognition. Philippe Bunau-Varilla was commissioned envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the United States. He reached Washington from New-York on November 7, and was formally received on November 13 by President Roosevelt. On November 17 the new government was recognized by France, and shortly afterward by Great Britain, Germany and Russia.

One of the first acts of the new Panama Government was to propose the conclusion of an Isthmian Canal treaty with the United States. A special commission, consisting of Federico Boyd, a member of the Provisional Junta, and Dr. Manuel Amador, Minister of Finance, was sent to Washington to conduct the negotiations. A canal treaty was drawn and signed in Washington on November 18. It was ratified by the Panama Government on December 2, 1903, and was submitted for ratification to the United States Senate by President Roosevelt on December 7. This convention, the full text of which can be found under "Treaties Ratified, 2d session LVIIIth Congress," page 87, was approved by the Senate on February 23, 1904.

On December 13 the provisional junta published a decree convoking a national convention for January 15, 1904. This convention, elected on December 28, 1903, met in Panama, framed a constitution and elected Manuel Amador President of the republic.

By a decree of the convention, which resolved itself into a legislative assembly, it was declared on March 4 that from December 31, 1904, the monetary unit of Panama should be the gold dollar.

The Republic of Panama has an area of 31,571 square miles and a population of 390,000. The principal ports are Panama, on the Pacific Coast, and Colon on the Atlantic side, and these ports are visited annually by more than one thousand vessels, which land over one million tons of merchandise and nearly 100,000 passengers, chiefly for transfer over the Panama Railway, forty-seven miles in length, connecting the Pacific port of Panama with the Atlantic port of Colon.

Colon, or Aspinwall, as it is sometimes called, has a population of about 3,000 persons. The city of Panama has a population of about 25,000. It was founded in 1519, burned in 1671, and rebuilt in 1673, while Colon is of much more recent date, having been founded in 1855.

Provinces.	Capitals.	Provinces.	Capitals.
Panama	Panama.	Los Santos	Los Santos.
Colon	Colon.	Veragua	Santiago.
Bocas del Toro	Bocas del Toro.	Cocle	Penonome.
Chiriqui	David.

The population of the republic is composed of various elements—Spanish, Indian, negro, and a limited number of persons from the European countries and the United States, especially those engaged in commerce and transportation and the operation of the Panama Railway. Another element is that of persons brought to the Isthmus as laborers for the construction of the canal, and their descendants. Since the abolition of slavery in Jamaica many blacks and mulattoes have settled on the Isthmus as small dealers and farmers.

Commerce.

Of the commerce of Panama, which reaches a value of $3,000,000 annually, the United States supplies a larger share than any other country. The importations at the port of Colon for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1903, as shown by the report of the United States consul, amounted to $952,684, of which $614,179 was from the United States, $119,086 from France, $118,322 from England, $76,386 from Germany. The figures of the fiscal year 1903 show a considerable increase from those of 1902, in which the value of the imports at Colon were $776,345. Of the $614,179 imports from the United States at Colon in 1903 $200,744 was drygoods, $189,333 provisions, $59,890 coal, $28,642 lumber, $32,900 kerosene, $30,400 liquors, and $31,940 hardware. The value of the importations from the United States in 1903 exceeded those of 1902 by about $160,000. The exports to the United States from Colon in 1903 amounted to $173,370, of which $75,432 was bananas, $54,960 cocoanuts, $12,472 turtle shells, $9,400 ivory nuts, $6,460 hides, and $5,924 coffee.

From the port of Panama the exports to the United States in the fiscal year 1903 amounted to $193,342, of which $56,767 was hides, $49,974 india rubber, $27,805 cocobolo nuts, $16,598 ivory nuts, $13,372 deerskins, and $6,908 coffee. The consul at Panama states that the imported articles come mostly from England, Germany, France, Italy and the United States, but gives no statistics of the imports.

Panama is connected with San Francisco by a weekly steamer schedule operated by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and with Valparaiso by a weekly steamer schedule operated by the Pacific Steam Navigation Company and South American Steamship Company. Two passenger and two freight trains leave Panama daily for Colon and Colon daily for Panama. The time for passenger trains over the forty-seven miles of railway is three hours.

From Panama there is one cable line north to American ports and one to the south. The actual time consumed in communicating with the United States and receiving an answer is stated by the consul to be usually about four hours. There are also cable lines from Colon to the United States and Europe.

Import duties average about 10 per cent gold. On liquors and beverages there are special taxes; these vary according to the kinds and qualities of the imports. Cigars, tobacco, cigarettes, salt and ice are government monopolies or are let out by the government to private parties. Postal charges are: Foreign, 20 cents Colombian silver per 15 grams; domestic, 10 cents per 15 grams. Packages from Colon to Panama pay 25 cents gold per package.

The Taft Settlement.

Certain differences having arisen between Panama and the United States because of the opening of ports in the canal zone, Secretary Taft paid a visit to the Isthmus in November, 1904, and on December 4 an executive order was issued by the Secretary announcing the terms of an agreement reached with President Amador. The order provides that no trade for the canal zone or the Republic of Panama can enter the ports established by the United States at either end of the canal, supplies for the construction of the canal and articles in transit being excepted. This turns the customs receipts of these ports over to the government of Panama. Panama agrees to reduce her tariff from 15 per cent ad valorem to 10 per cent. This reduction applies to all goods except wines, liquors, alcohol and opium. Panama also agrees to reduce her consular fees and port charges to 60 per cent of the rates at present charged.

Absolute free trade is to apply between the canal zone and the Republic of Panama. Vessels entering the canal ports have free entry to the ports of Colon and Panama, and vessels entering the latter ports have the same privileges in the canal ports. Complete jurisdiction is granted to the United States in the harbors of Colon and Panama as to sanitation and quarantine regulations.

Panama reduces her rate of postage to two cents, and is to furnish all stamps in the republic and in the canal zone. The zone authorities are to purchase stamps from Panama at 40 per cent of their face value..

The order of Secretary Taft is to be ineffective unless Panama shall put into effect the gold standard, according to the currency agreement of June 20, 1904. It also makes a stipulation regarding citizenship rights of Panamans in the canal zone, and provision is also made in the order for maintenance by the United States of important highways, partly in and partly out of the canal zone, and also the building of a hospital. The order was to become effective December 12, 1904.

Note.—See other matter about the canal zone under "The Isthmian Canal Strip."

[4]Quadrennial sessions. For terms of office, salaries, etc., of Governors and other State officers (including names of other officials) see under title "State Governments."

Note—If the forty-five States be arranged according to the mode of admission, excepting the thirteen original States, they would be grouped thus: Four were formed from other States—Vermont from New-York, Maine from Massachusetts, Kentucky and West Virginia from Virginia. One (California) had no previous Territorial government. One (Texas) was annexed; and the remaining twenty-six had been organized as Territories prior to their admission as States.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE IN THE UNITED STATES.

In the United States women possess suffrage upon equal terms with men at all elections in four States: In Wyoming, established in 1869; Colorado, in 1893; Utah, in 1895; Idaho, in 1896. In Kansas women possess school suffrage, established in 1861, and municipal suffrage, established in 1887. In 18 additional States women possess school suffrage: In Michigan and Minnesota, established in 1875; New-Hampshire and Oregon, 1878; Massachusetts, 1879; New-York and Vermont, 1880; Nebraska, 1883; Wisconsin, 1885; Washington, 1886; Arizona, Montana, New-Jersey, North Dakota and South Dakota, 1887; Illinois, 1891; Connecticut, 1893, Ohio, 1894. Two additional States permit women to vote upon the issuance of municipal bonds: Montana, established in 1887; Iowa 1894. Louisiana gave all women taxpayers the suffrage upon all questions of public expenditures in 1898. Either full or fractional suffrage for women exists in 26 States. The National American Woman Suffrage Association maintains headquarters at Warren, Ohio. Its officers are: President, the Rev. Anna H. Shaw, Philadelphia; vice-president-at-large, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, No. 206 West Fifty-seventh-st., New-York; corresponding secretary, Miss Kate M. Gordon, New-Orleans; recording secretary, Mrs. Alice Stone Blackwell, Boston; treasurer, Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, Warren, Ohio; auditors, Miss Laura Clay, Lexington, Ky., and Miss Cora Smith, Minneapolis.

U. S. SENATORS ELECTED—1904.

Louisiana.—The legislature of Louisiana on May 17 elected Murphy J. Foster (Dem.) United States Senator, to succeed himself for the full term ending March 3, 1913. In the Senate he received 38 votes and in the House of Representatives 107. No other candidate was voted for. Mr. Murphy was nominated for the Senatorship at a primary election held on January 19, defeating ex-Senator B. F. Jonas.

Maryland.—The legislature of Maryland on February 4 elected Isidor Rayner (Dem.) United States Senator to succeed Louis E. McComas (Rep.) for the six year term ending March 3, 1911. The election was made after a two weeks' deadlock. Efforts to hold a Democratic caucus proved fruitless, and on the first ballot in the separate houses on January 19 there was no choice. The vote on that day was: Senate—John Walter Smith (Dem.), 6; Isidor Rayner (Dem.), 4; Bernard Carter (Dem.), 5; Elihu E. Jackson (Dem.), 2; Joshua Miles (Dem.), 1; Edwin Warfield (Dem.), 1; Louis E. McComas (Rep.), 8. House of Delegates—Smith, 23; Rayner, 31; Carter, 4; Jackson, 3; Miles, 3; Warfield, 1; James B. Henderson (Dem.), 2; McComas, 30. In the joint assembly on January 20 the vote w Rayner, 38; Smith, 29; Carter, 11; J son, 5; Miles, 4; McComas, 38. P changes occurred on the succeed Corlots. Two Democratic caucuses John G. but did nothing, but on Febru presi- third caucus Rayner was nomi missioning 50 votes, against 29 for Smith and 10 for Carter. In the joint assembly on February 4 the vote was: Rayner, 88; McComas, 38.

Massachusetts.—On Oct. 12 Governor John L. Bates appointed Winthrop Murray Crane (Rep.) United States Senator, to fill ad interim the vacancy caused by the death of George F. Hoar.

Mississippi.—The legislature of Mississippi on January 19 elected Hernando de Soto Money (Dem.) United States Senator to succeed himself for the six year term ending March 3, 1911, and Anselm J. McLaurin (Dem.) United States Senator to succeed himself for the six year term ending March 3, 1913. The vote in both branches of the legislature was unanimous. At the Democratic State primary held August 6 Mr. McLaurin was nominated without opposition, and Mr. Money was nominated over A. H. Longino by a vote of 59,209 to 36,465.

Ohio.—The legislature of Ohio on January 12 elected Marcus A. Hanna (Rep.) United States Senator to succeed himself for the six year term ending March 3, 1911. Mr. Hanna's candidacy was indorsed by the Republican State Convention of 1903. There was no legislative caucus. The vote in the separate branches of the legislature was: Senate—Hanna, 29; John H. Clarke (Dem.), 4. House of Representatives—Hanna, 86; Clarke, 21; absent, 3—two Republicans and one Democrat. Senator Hanna died on February 15. On March 1 the legislature elected Charles Dick (Rep.) United States Senator to succeed Mr. Hanna for both the unexpired term ending March 3, 1905, and the full term ending March 3, 1911. Mr. Dick was nominated by acclamation in a Republican caucus, held February 24. The vote in the two branches of the legislature was: Senate—Dick, 27; John H. Clarke (Dem.), 4; absent, 2. House of Representatives—Dick, 87; Clarke, 21; absent, 2.

Pennsylvania. — Matthew S. Quay dying on May 28, Governor Pennypacker on June 10 appointed Philander C. Knox to serve as United States Senator until the legislature should chose a successor. Mr. Knox resigned as Attorney General to accept this commission on July 1.

Vermont.—The legislature of Vermont on Oct. 18 elected Redfield Proctor (Rep.) United States Senator to succeed himself for the full term ending March 3, 1911. In the State Senate Mr. Proctor received a unanimous vote. In the House of Representatives the vote was: Proctor, 205; John H. Seuter (Dem.), 31.

Virginia.—The legislature of Virginia on January 26 elected John W. Daniel (Dem.) United States Senator to succeed himself for the six year term ending March 3, 1911. The vote in the separate branches of the legislature was: Senate—Daniel, 28; Campbell Slemp (Rep.), 5. House of Representatives—Daniel, 71; Slemp, 13.

THE TRIBUNE FRESH AIR FUND.

Organized in 1877; incorporated in 1888. Its object is to send children of the New-York poor into the country for a summer vacation of two weeks. Hospitable country people receive them, not as boarders, but give them food and lodging and freedom of the country grounds. The fund is dependent upon voluntary contributions. The following table shows the condition of the work from the beginning:

GOVERNORS OF NEW-YORK STATE.

The following table gives the names and politics and the terms which the Governors of New-York State have served since the first election. Those marked with an asterisk served three year terms and the others served two year terms. On February 13, 1787, an act was passed for regulating elections, which provided that the Governor and the Lieutenant-Governor should enter on the duties of their respective offices on July 1 succeeding their election. The Constitution of 1821 provided that the terms should begin on January 1 succeeding the election. Those with "D. R." following the name were elected as Democratic Republicans, the leaders of that party being of the Thomas Jefferson class of politics, and from which the Democratic party claims direct descent. The present Republican party at its beginning enrolled most of the old Whigs.

STATE CIVIL SERVICE LAWS.

The merit system of appointment in the Civil Service was established in New-York by Chapter 354 of the Laws of 1883, which was amended from time to time in various important respects until, finally, a new act (Chapter 370 of the Laws of 1899) was passed, codifying and uniting all previous acts and extending the area of their operation.

The original act followed closely the form of the federal act. It provided for the classification of all State offices and for the various departments of cities of 50,000 and over. The application of the system to cities, however, was permissive merely. In 1884 the latter provision was made mandatory and was amended to include all cities in the State. This, with various amendments—principal among which were the reactionary provisions of the so-called "Black Act" of 1897—remained in force until suspended by the act of 1899. The general Civil Service statutes of the State were reinforced very materially by an amendment to the State Constitution prepared by the Constitutional Convention of 1894 and adopted by the people.

This provision, which embodies in the concisest terms the essential principles of the reform, is as follows: "Appointments and promotions in the Civil Service of the State, and of all the civil divisions thereof, including towns and villages, shall be made according to merit and fitness to be ascertained so far as practicable by examinations which, so far as practicable, shall be competitive; provided, however, that soldiers and sailors of the late Civil War shall be entitled to preference in appointment and promotion, without regard to their standing on any list from which appointments or promotions shall be made." The original rules and classification of New-York City were drawn under the permissive act of 1883 and under the supervision of a commission of experts appointed by Mayor Edson in 1884. Rules were adopted in the same manner and at about the same time in Buffalo and Brooklyn. In 1896, through the action of the Commission appointed by Mayor Strong, the application of the rules was greatly extended, until, excepting heads of departments, not more than sixty positions were omitted from the competitive classification. The system of labor registration was also adopted.

There were approximately 40,000 positions in the New-York municipal Civil Service on January 1, 1898, of which number 9,000 in the educational department were subject to a separate system. The classifications included 7,000 in the police force, 6,000 in the labor service under the registration system, and the remainder, for the most part, in the general competitive schedules. The competitive schedules embraced positions of every character, both clerical, technical and professional.

Examinations were conducted by a board of nine examiners, chosen with especial reference to their expert ability, and the examinations generally were of the most practical character. The rules required that the higher places should be filled by promotion, unless the appointing officer certified to the Civil Service Commission that none in the lower grades were fit for the higher duties to be performed. Through careful work the system had been well developed and placed on a highly satisfactory basis. During the period from January, 1898, until the passage of the general act of 1899, these rules were very much modified, under authority claimed to be derived from the greater New-York charter.

Much laxity was permitted in the matter of temporary appointments in the absence of eligible lists; persons dismissed at any time within the previous three years were permitted to be appointed without examination; the scope of selection from the eligible list was materially broadened. On July 11, 1899, the charter rules were superseded by rules framed in pursuance of the new law, which were put in force by the State Board after the failure of the Mayor to promulgate them.

These restore all of the essential features of the genuine merit system omitted from the charter rules, and are expected in future to keep the city service on a fairly competitive basis, open to all citizens. Stringent inhibitions upon payment of salaries to persons improperly appointed, reinforcing those previously in force, add to the effectiveness of the system. Since the adoption of the act of 1899 new rules have been framed for Buffalo, Albany and other large cities, which are well calculated to give effect to the existing constitutional and statutory provisions, and that will firmly maintain the "merit system" in these other parts of the State, and on June 16, 1900, through the action of the State Board and Governor Roosevelt, the offices in five of these were included: New-York, Kings, Queens, Richmond and Erie.

THE STATE LIBRARY.

The State Library, established by the Legislature in 1818, was made an integral part of the University of the State of New-York in 1889. It includes general, sociology, law, medical, education and history libraries. Its field covers, besides the usual work of a great reference library, compilations of catalogues, bibliographies, indexes, reference lists and other aids and guides for readers of the State not having direct access to the library; lending books to students and the promotion of the general library interests of the State. The total number of books, including travelling libraries and duplicates, is 504,525. In its home education department, which is carried on through travelling libraries and annotated book lists and the organization and maintenance of free libraries, the State expends about $60,000 yearly. The ... of the State Library is Melvil Dewey.

NEW-YORK CITY GOVERNMENT.

THE REVISED NEW-YORK CITY CHARTER.

A revision of the charter of the city of New-York, which was drawn up by the Charter Revision Commission and passed in an amended form April 4, 1901, by the legislature, was subsequently approved by Governor Odell, and therefore is now a law. After its passage several supplementary acts were passed by the legislature, and these also are laws.

The Board of Aldermen.

The legislative power of the city was vested in two houses, known respectively as the Council and the Board of Aldermen. The charter revision conferred all legislative power upon a Board of Aldermen. The aldermen, it was stated, were to be elected in November, 1901, and every two years thereafter. The president of the Board of Aldermen is to be elected by the city at large. There are seventy-three aldermanic districts, consisting of one in each Assembly district in the counties of greater New-York, with the exception that two representatives each are granted to the XXIst, XXIIId, XXXIst and XXXIVth Assembly districts of New-York County, four representatives to the XXXVth Assembly District of New-York, two to Chester, New-York County, two to the town of New-Utrecht, in the Borough of Brooklyn, two to the town of Newtown in Queens County, two to the town of Jamaica in Queens County, one to the town of Castleton, one to the towns of Middletown and Southfield, and one to the towns of Northfield and Westfield—the last five named towns all in Richmond County. The president of the Board of Aldermen possesses all the powers of the Mayor during his disability or absence.

Powers of the Board of Aldermen.

No ordinance can be passed except by a vote of a majority of all the members of the Board of Aldermen. The act says that "in case the ordinance or resolution involves the expenditure of money, the creation of a debt, or the laying of an assessment, it shall require a vote of three-fourths of all the members of the Board of Aldermen to pass it over the Mayor's veto; and if it involves the grant of a franchise, the Mayor's veto shall be final." It declares that "the Board of Aldermen shall have power to make, establish, alter, modify, amend and repeal all ordinances, rules, and police, health, park, fire and building regulations." Also that "the Board of Aldermen is authorized to grant from time to time to any corporation thereunto duly authorized the franchise or right to construct and operate railways in, upon, over, under and along streets, avenues, waters, rivers, public places, parkways or highways of the city, but no such grant shall be made except upon the limitations and conditions of this act elsewhere provided in respect of the grant by the Board of Aldermen of franchises and rights in or under the streets, avenues, waters, rivers, public places, parkways and highways of the city." The Board of Aldermen is given authority to pass ordinances in regard to theatres, the markets, the hotels, the fire limits, use of vaults, and to fix the annual fee, not exceeding $20, for each streetcar used in the city. The act further says: "It shall be the duty of the Board of Aldermen, upon the recommendation of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, to fix the salary of every officer or person whose compensation is paid out of the city treasury other than day laborers and teachers, examiners and members of the supervising staff of the Department of Education, irrespective of the amount fixed by this act, except that no change shall be made in the salary of an elected officer or head of a department during his tenure of office. The Board of Aldermen may reduce, but may not increase, any salary recommended by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment; but the action of the Board of Aldermen on reducing any salary so recommended shall be subject to the veto power of the Mayor, as provided in Section 40 of this act. In case the Board of Aldermen shall vote to reduce more than one salary, the Mayor may approve the reduction of one or more salaries, and may disapprove the reduction of others. In such case the reductions he shall approve shall become effective; and as to those which he shall not approve, the recommendations of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment shall become effective unless the reductions be again passed by a three-fourths vote of the Board of Aldermen."

Franchises.

In regard to franchises the act says: "After the approval of this act no franchise or right to use the streets, avenues, waters, rivers, parkways or highways of the city shall be granted by the Board of Aldermen to any person or corporation for a longer period than twenty-five years, except as hereinafter provided, but such grant may at the option of the city provide for giving to the grantee the right on a fair revaluation or revaluations to renewals not exceeding in the aggregate twenty-five years. Nothing in the foregoing provisions of this section contained shall apply to consents granted to tunnel railroad corporations, and the Board of Aldermen is hereby authorized in its discretion to grant a franchise or right to any railroad corporation to use any of said streets, avenues, waters, rivers, parkways or highways in the city of New-York for the construction and operation of a tunnel railroad underneath the surface thereof for any period not exceeding fifty years, and any such grant may at the option of the city provide for giving to the grantee the right, on a fair revaluation or revaluations, to renewals not exceeding in the aggregate twenty-five years, provided, however, that any grant to construct a tunnel railroad or renewal thereof shall only be made after an agreement has been entered into by such a tunnel corporation to pay to the city of New-York at least 3 per centum of the net profits derived from the use of any tunnel which it shall construct, after there shall have first been retained by such company from such net profits a sum equal to 5 per centum upon the sum expended to construct such tunnel."

Powers of the Mayor.

The Mayor of the city, the charter revision provided, should be elected in November, 1901, for a term of two years, and every two years thereafter for a like period. The salary of the Mayor is $15,000 a year. The Mayor may, whenever in his judgment the public interests shall so require, remove from office any public officer holding office by appointment from him, except members of the Board of Education, Aqueduct Commissioners, trustees of the College of the City of New-York, trustees of Bellevue and Allied Hospitals, "and except also judicial officers for whose removal other provision is made by this constitution."

Administrative Departments.

The administrative departments are as follows: Department of Finance, Law Department, Police Department, Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, Department of Street Cleaning, Department of Bridges, Department of Parks, Department of Public Charities, Department of Correction, Fire Department, Department of Docks and Ferries, Department of Taxes and Assessments, Department of Education, Department of Health, Tenement House Department. The head of the Department of Finance is the Controller, who is to be elected at the same time with the Mayor, and is to have like him a term of two years. All of the departments are single headed commissions, except the Park Department, which has three commissioners; the Department of Taxes and Assessments, which has five; the Department of Education, forty-six members of a Board of Education, and the Department of Health, which has three commissioners (two ex-officio).

Duties of the Mayor.

The Mayor must at least once a year submit to the Board of Aldermen a general statement of the finances, government and improvements of the city, keep himself informed as to the doings of the several departments and be vigilant in enforcing the ordinances of the city and the laws of the State. The Mayor appoints besides those already named all members of any board authorized to superintend the erection or repair of any building belonging to the city, inspectors of weights and measures, two commissioners of accounts and five Civil Service Commissioners.

Controller, Chamberlain, Sinking Fund.

The Controller has control of the fiscal concerns of the corporation. The accounts of every department are subject to his inspection and revision. All claims against the city, except certain specified ones, are subject to his audit. The assent of the Controller is necessary to all agreements for the acquisition of real estate. He receives a salary of $15,000 a year. He has charge of the Wallabout Market. The Mayor appoints the Chamberlain of the city, who receives all moneys paid into the treasury of the city. His salary is $12,000 a year. The Sinking Fund Commissioners consist of the Mayor, Controller, Chamberlain, president of the Board of Aldermen and chairman of the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen. This board administers the various sinking funds.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment consists of the Mayor, the Controller, the president of the Board of Aldermen, and the presidents of the boroughs of Manhattan, Brooklyn, The Bronx, Queens and Richmond. Except as specifically provided by the charter, every act of the board must be adopted, if adopted, by "a majority of the whole number of votes authorized by this section to be cast by said board. The Mayor, Controller and the president of the Board of Aldermen shall each be entitled to cast three votes, the presidents of the boroughs of Manhattan and Brooklyn shall each be entitled to cast two votes, and the presidents of the boroughs of The Bronx, Queens and Richmond shall each be entitled to cast one vote. A quorum of said board shall consist of a sufficient number of the members thereof to cast nine votes, of whom at least two of the members hereby authorized to cast three votes each shall be present." It is provided that this board shall annually "make a budget of the amounts estimated to be required to pay the expenses of conducting the public business of the city of New-York, and of the counties of New-York, Kings, Queens and Richmond for the next ensuing year. Such budget shall be prepared in such detail as to the titles of appropriations, the terms and conditions, not inconsistent with law under which the same may be expended, the aggregate sum and the items thereof allowed to each department, bureau, office, board or commission, as the said Board of Estimate and Apportionment shall deem advisable." The budget is submitted to the Board of Aldermen. The act then says: "The Board of Aldermen may reduce the said several amounts fixed by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, except such amounts as are now or may hereafter be fixed by law, and except such amounts as may be inserted by the said Board of Estimate and Apportionment for the payment of State taxes and payment of interest and principal of the city debt, but the Board of Aldermen may not increase such amounts nor vary the terms and conditions thereof, nor insert any new items. Such action of the Board of Aldermen on reducing any item or amount fixed by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment shall be subject to the veto power of the Mayor, as elsewhere provided in this act, and unless such veto is overridden by a three-fourths vote of the Board of Aldermen, the item or amount as fixed by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment shall stand as part of the budget." The Board of Estimate and Apportionment also is directed to include in its final estimate money for the support of a large number of charitable institutions, which are named.

Law Department.

The Corporation Counsel, who is the head of the Law Department, receives $15,000 a year. He has charge of all the law business of the corporation, all legal proceedings in opening, widening and closing streets, in acquiring property for the city by condemnation proceedings, and the preparation of all leases and contracts. He is the legal adviser of the Mayor, the presidents of the boroughs, the Board of Aldermen and every department.

Police Department.

The head of the Police Department is the Police Commissioner, whose term of office is five years. The act then says: "The said commissioner may, whenever in the judgment of the Mayor of said city or the Governor, the public interests shall so require, be removed from office by either, and shall be ineligible for reappointment thereto. The successor in office of the said commissioner shall also be appointed by the Mayor of the city within ten days after any vacancy shall occur, and shall be removed by either the Mayor or Governor whenever the public interests so require. The salary of said Police Commissioner shall be $7,500 a year. The said commissioner shall have the power to appoint, from citizens of the United States and residents of the said city, and at pleasure remove, three deputies, to be known as first deputy commissioner, second deputy commissioner and third deputy commissioner. The Police Department consists also of fifteen inspectors, one captain to each fifty of the total number of patrolmen, except in the rural part of the city, sergeants of police, not exceeding four in number to each fifty of the total number of patrolmen; roundsmen not exceeding four in number to each fifty patrolmen; detective sergeants to the number authorized by law; the members of the telegraph force as specified in Section 277 of this act; the superintendent and inspectors of boilers as specified in Section 342 of this act; doormen of police, not exceeding two in number to each fifty of the total number of patrolmen; surgeons of police, not exceeding forty in number, one of whom shall be chief surgeon, and patrolmen to the number of 6,382."

Borough Officers.

The president of each borough is elected for two years. He has the following powers: "He may appoint and at pleasure remove a Commissioner of Public Works for his borough, who may discharge all the administrative powers of the president of the borough relating to streets, sewers public buildings and supplies conferred upon him by this act; and who shall, in the absence or illness of such president, discharge all the duties of such president. He shall, within the borough for which he shall have been elected, have cognizance and control: (1) Of regulating, grading, curbing, flagging and guttering of streets and laying of crosswalks; (2) of constructing and repairing public roads; (3) of paving, repaving, resurfacing and repairing of all streets, and of the relaying of all pavements removed for any cause; (4) of the laying or relaying of surface railroad tracks in any public street or road, of the form of rail used, or character of foundation, and the method of construction, and of the restoration of the pavement or suface after such work; (5) of the filling of sunken lots, fencing of vacant lots, digging down lots, and of licensing vaults under sidewalks; (6) of the removal of encumbrances; (7) of the issue of permits to builders and others to use or open the streets; (8) of the construction and maintenance of all bridges and tunnels which are within his borough and form a portion of the highways thereof, except such bridges as cross navigable streams; (9) of all subjects relating to the public sewers and drainage of his borough, and shall initiate the making of all plans for the drainage of his borough, except as otherwise specifically provided in this act. He shall have charge of the construction of all sewers in accordance with said plans. He shall have in charge the management, care and maintenance of the sewer and drainage system of the borough of which he shall be president and the licensing of all cisterns and cesspools." The presidents of the boroughs of Queens and Richmond also have supervision of the street cleaning of their boroughs.

Bureau of Buildings.

The act says in regard to the Bureau of Buildings: "There shall be in the office of each borough president a bureau to be known as 'the Bureau of Buildings for the Borough of ————.' The presidents of the boroughs of Manhattan, The Bronx and Brooklyn shall, each within the borough for which he is elected, appoint a superintendent of buildings for the borough. The presidents of the boroughs of Queens and Richmond may, whenever appropriation is made therefor by the Board of Aldermen upon the recommendation of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, each within the borough for which he is elected, in like manner appoint a superintendent of buildings for the borough. Each superintendent of buildings shall, within the borough or boroughs in which he has jurisdiction, have charge of the administration of, and it shall be his duty, subject to and in accordance with the general rules and regulations established by the president of the borough, to enforce such rules and regulations and the provisions of this chapter and of such ordinances as may be established by the Board of Aldermen and of the laws relating to the construction, alteration or removal of buildings or other structures erected or to be erected within such borough."

Local Boards.

The act creates twenty-five districts of local improvements, divided as follows: 1. Richmond Borough. 2. Wards 1 and 2, Borough of Queens. 3. Wards 3, 4 and 5, Borough of Queens. 4. Third Senate District. 5. Fouurth Senate District. 6. Wards 8, 30 and 31, Borough of Brooklyn. 7. Wards 10 and 12, Borough of Brooklyn. 8. Sixth Senate District. 9. Seventh Senate District. 10. Eighth Senate District. 11. Ninth Senate District. 12. Tenth Senate District. 13. Eleventh Senate District. 14. Twelfth Senate District. 15. Thirteenth Senate District. 16. Fourteenth Senate District. 17. Fifteenth Senate District. 18. Sixteenth Senate District. 19. Fifteenth and Seventeenth Assembly districts of the county of New-York. 20. Eighteenth Senate District.

21. Nineteenth and Twenty-first Assembly districts of the county of New-York. 22. Thirty-first and Twenty-third Assembly districts of the county of New-York. 23. Twentieth Senate District and that part of the Twenty-first Senate District in the Borough of Manhattan, 24. That part of the Twenty-first Senate District in the Borough of The Bronx west of the Bronx River. 25. That part of the Twenty-second Senate District east of the Bronx River. Each local board of improvement has as its members the president of the borough wherein the district is situated, and each member of the Board of Aldermen "who represents an aldermanic district within such local improvement district." The members of the local board serve as such members without compensation. The act then says: "A local board, subject to the restrictions provided by this act, shall have power in all cases where the cost of the improvement is to be met in whole or in part by assessments upon the property benefited to initiate proceedings for the following purposes: To construct tunnels and bridges lying wholly within the borough; to acquire title to land for parks and squares, streets, sewers, tunnels and bridges, and approaches to bridges and tunnels; to open, close, extend, widen, grade, pave, regrade, repave and repair the streets, avenues and public places, and to construct sewers within the district; to flag or reflag, curb or recurb the sidewalks, and to relay crosswalks on such streets and avenues; to set or to reset street lamps; and to provide signs designating the names of streets. All resolutions affecting more than one local improvement district or the borough generally shall be adopted only at a joint meeting of all the local boards of the borough, and by a majority of the members of said boards."

Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity.

The Commissioner of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity has charge of the supply and distribution of water, and also has the following duties: "Of the making and performance of certain contracts when duly authorized in accord with the provisions of this act, and for the execution of the same in the matter of furnishing the city, or any part thereof, with gas, electricity, or any other illuminant, or of steam; of the selecting, locating and removing and changing of lights for the use of the city; of the inspecting and testing of gas and electricity used for light, heating and power purposes, electric meters, electric wires and of all lights furnished to said city; and of the use and transmission of gas, electricity, pneumatic power and steam for all purposes in, upon, across, over and under all streets, roads, avenues, parks, public places and public buildings; of the construction of electric mains, conduits, conductors, and subways in any such streets, roads, avenues, parks and public places, and the granting of the permission to open streets, when approved by the borough president, and to open the same for the purpose of carrying on therein the business of transmitting, conducting, using and selling electricity, steam, or for the service of pneumatic tubes."

Street Cleaning.

The Commissioner of Street Cleaning has charge of the sweeping and cleaning of the streets in the boroughs of Manhattan, The Bronx and Brooklyn, and of the removal of ashes and garbage in these boroughs.

Bridges, Parks.

The Commissioner of Bridges has charge of all the bridges and of the operation of the railroad on the New-York and Brooklyn Bridge, and of the construction and management of tunnels beneath navigable streams. The three Commissioners of Parks have charge of the parks in every borough; one has administrative jurisdiction in the boroughs of Manhattan and Richmond, one in the borough of The Bronx, and one in the boroughs of Brooklyn and Queens. Each Commissioner receives $5,000 salary.

Art Commission.

An Art Commission has as its members the Mayor, the president of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the president of the New-York Public Library, the president of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, one painter, one sculptor, one architect, and three other residents of the city of New-York. The act then says: "Hereafter no work of art shall become the property of the city of New-York, by purchase, gift or otherwise, unless such work of art or a design of the same, together with a statement of the proposed location of such work of art, shall first have been submitted to and approved by the commission."

Public Charities.

The Department of Public Charities has as its head one Commissioner of Public Charities, whose salary is $7,500 yearly. The commissioner has charge of all hospitals, asylums, almshouses and other institutions for the care of the feeble minded, the sick and the destitute, except certain specified institutions.

Bellevue Hospital—

Bellevue Hospital and allied hospitals are in charge of a board of trustees of seven persons, consisting of the Commissioner of Public Charities and six persons appointed by the Mayor.

Department of Correction.

The Department of Correction has as its head one commissioner at a salary of $7,500. He has charge of all institutions for the care and custody of criminals and misdemeanants, except certain specified institutions.

Fire, Docks and Ferries.

The Fire Department has one commissioner as its head, who receives $7,500 a year. He has charge of the government, management, maintenance and direction of the Fire Department of the city. The Department of Docks and Ferries has as its head one commissioner, who receives $6,000 a year salary. He has exclusive charge of the wharf property belonging to the city of New-York, and of the repairing, rebuilding, altering and leasing of this property. He cannot, however, make any contract or execute any deed for the wharf property unless it has first been approved by resolution in writing passed by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund. The Dock Commissioner also is authorized to lease the franchise of ferries.

Taxes and Assessments.

The Department of Taxes and Assessments has at its head five commissioners, one of whom is designated as the president. The salary of the president is $8,000 a year, while that of the other commissioners is $7,000 a year. The commissioners appoint forty deputy tax commissioners, whose duty it is to assess all the taxable property in the several districts to which they are assigned. The act then says: "There shall be kept in the several offices established by the Department of Taxes and Assessments books to be called 'the annual record of the assessed valuation of real and personal estate of the borough of ————,' in which shall be entered in detail the assessed valuations of such property within the limits of the several boroughs of the city of New-York as established by this act, which said books shall be open for public inspection, examination and correction from the second Monday in January until the first day of April in each year; but on said last mentioned day the same shall be closed to enable the Board of Taxes and Assessments to prepare assessment rolls of the several boroughs for delivery to the Board of Aldermen."

Board of Assessors.

The Mayor is authorized to appoint three persons to make assessments for local improvements. The Controller, the Corporation Counsel and the president of the Department of Taxes and Assessments by the terms of the act are the Board for the Revision of Assessments.

Department of Education.

The Department of Education has at its head a Board of Education of forty-six members, appointed by the Mayor. The forty-six members of the Board of Education are divided as follows: Borough of Manhattan, 22; Borough of The Bronx, 4; Borough of Brooklyn, 14; Borough of Queens, 4; Borough of Richmond, 2. The Board of Education has the management and control of the public schools of the city. The act further says: "The Board of Education shall administer all moneys appropriated or available for educational purposes in the city of New-York, subject to the general provisions of this act relating to the audit and payment of salaries and other claims by the Department of Finance. Prior to February 15, 1902, the Board of Education shall divide the boroughs under its charge into forty-six school board districts, of which twenty-two shall be wholly in the Borough of Manhattan, fourteen wholly in the Borough of Brooklyn, four wholly in the Borough of The Bronx, four wholly in the Borough of Queens and two wholly in the Borough of Richmond. There shall be in each of said districts a local school board consisting of seven members, as follows: Five persons to be appointed by the president of the borough, a member of the Board of Education designated by the president of that board, and the district superintendent assigned to duty in such district by the city superintendent. Subject to regulation by the bylaws of the Board of Education, the duties and powers of the local school boards shall be as follows: In their respective districts they shall visit, at least once in every quarter, all the schools in the district, and inspect the same, in respect to punctual and regular attendance of the pupils and teachers, the number and fidelity of the teachers, the studies, progress, order and discipline of the pupils, the cleanliness, safety, warming, ventilation and comfort of school premises, and the observance of the provisions of the school laws in respect to the teaching of sectarian doctrines or the use of sectarian books; and shall call the attention of the Board of Education, without delay, to every matter requiring official action. They shall also, on or before the first day of January and June of each year, make a written report to the Board of Education in respect to the condition of the schools, the efficiency of teachers, and wants of the district, especially in regard to schools and school premises. They shall report immediately to the Board of Education whenever additional accommodation is necessary for kindergarten or elementary school purposes, with a recommendation of the sites within their respective district which they consider it necessary to acquire for such purposes. They shall also recommend the erection of such buildings on said sites or on any other property owned by the city of New-York, and such repairs or alterations of school buildings as they deem necessary or desirable. They shall have power, and it shall be their duty, to try charges made by a principal, a district superintendent, or by any parent or guardian of a pupil, residing in the district, against a teacher employed within their respective districts, for gross misconduct, insubordination, neglect of duty or inefficiency. On receiving notice of said charges they shall immediately proceed to try and determine the case and shall fix the penalty or punishment to be imposed for the offence committed, which shall consist of a fine, suspension for a fixed time without pay, or dismissal. Their determination upon such charges and the penalty or punishment imposed therefor shall be reported immediately to the Board of Education, which may reject, confirm or modify the determinations of the local board, and the penalty or punishment imposed and the decision of the board shall be final except as to matters in relation to which, under the general school laws of the State, an appeal may be taken to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction."

Department of Health.

The Department of Health has at its head a Commissioner of Health, the Police Commissioner and the Health Officer of the Port. It is the duty of the Department of Health to enforce all the laws of the State in regard to the preservation of human life. This includes all laws relative to cleanliness, the sale of unwholesome food and the purity of the water supply. The Board of Health is authorized to establish and maintain hospitals for the care of persons sick with contagious diseases. Births, deaths and marriages are reported to the Board of Health, whose members keep a record of them.

The Tenement House Department has at its head a Tenement House Commissioner, whose salary is $7,500 a year. The department is divided into a new building bureau, an inspection bureau and a bureau of records. The building bureau examines plans for the light and ventilation of tenement houses, the inspection bureau inspects all completed tenement houses and records all violations of the tenement house laws and ordinances, and the bureau of records contains a record of every tenement house in the city.

Tenement House Department.

The City Court of New-York and the Municipal Court are continued. The several boroughs are divided into districts, in each of which sessions of the Municipal Court are held. In The Bronx, two districts; Manhattan, thirteen districts; Brooklyn, five districts; Queens, three districts; Richmond, two districts.

Inferior Local Courts.

For the purpose of the administration of criminal justice the city is divided into two divisions, the first division embracing the boroughs of The Bronx and of Manhattan and the second division embracing the boroughs of Brooklyn, Queens and Richmond. The Board of City Magistrates in the first division consists of twelve magistrates, while in the second division there are fifteen magistrates, ten of whom are residents of Brooklyn, three of Queens, and two of the Borough of Richmond. In the first division the magistrates are appointed by the Mayor. At the general city election of November, 1901, one City Magistrate was elected in each Congress District of Kings County, and two City Magistrates at Large, and this principle of electing the City Magistrates is hereafter to be continued in the Borough of Brooklyn. City Magistrates in the Borough of Brooklyn who were appointed after January 31, 1899, are to hold office until their successors are elected at a general election to be held in 1907. Magistrates are to be elected in the boroughs of Queens and Richmond in 1905 and 1907.

Inferior Courts of Criminal Jurisdiction.

Marshals.

The city publishes a City Record, in which are printed corporation notices relating to the various boroughs. When they relate to the Borough of Brooklyn they are also published in the newspapers of that borough.

Board of City Record.

The charter provides for the election of four coroners in the Borough of Manhattan, two in the Borough of The Bronx, two in the Borough of Brooklyn, two in the Borough of Queens, and one in the Borough of Richmond, all for a term of four years.

Coroners.

LEGISLATION FOR NEW-YORK CITY, 1904.

Chapter 409 increases generally the power of the Board of Aldermen to provide for public betterments and to issue bonds with the unanimous consent of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

Chap. 562 authorizes the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to approve expenditure above the $50,000,000 limit by the Rapid Transit Commission.

Chap. 627 creates the New-York City Reformatory of Misdemeanants on Hart's Island, and provides for the commitment thereto of male criminals and misdemeanants between the ages of sixteen and thirty years.

Chap 542 authorizes the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to enter into contracts with street railways for the transportation of school children.

Chap. 396 authorizes the Corporation Counsel to defend city employes in actions brought against them for acts done in the pursuance of duty.

Chap. 369 makes it a misdemeanor for any person not a city marshal to represent himself as such or perform a city marshal's duties.

Chap. 358 removes the limit to the power of the Police Commissioner, with the consent of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, to increase the number of the uniformed force.

Chap. 274 authorizes the accepting by the Controller of "all or none" bids for city bonds.

Chap. 108 authorizes the building of an extension to the Metropolitan Art Museum to cost not more than $1,250,000.

Chap. 264 authorizes the Mayor to delegate to his Secretary authority to hear evidence in actions for the suspension or removal of city marshals.

Chap. 684 fixes the compensation of chaplains of the Fire Department at $1,000.

Chap. 564 authorizes the Rapid Transit Commission to locate routes on bridges and viaducts.

Chap. 752 amends the general municipal law in relation to the acquisition of water rights so as to exclude New-York City from the watersheds of Wappinger's Falls and Fishkill Creeks.

Chap. 563 amends the criminal code in relation to the Courts of Special Sessions in the city of New-York, and their jurisdiction and practice therein.

A CONDENSED GUIDE TO NEW-YORK CITY.

General Plan of the City.

The outward aspect of New-York City is in a constant state of change because of the displacement of the smaller brick buildings in the business districts by the iron girded structures that make chasms of the most important streets, and because of the uptown march of offices and shops into spots formerly devoted to residence. But the general plan remains perforce unchanged. This is indeed the constant lament of students of the problems of transportation, who vainly regret that the rectangular city blocks have their long dimension east and west, and the short north and south. The reverse would have facilitated the daily movement of population up and down town. Little else, however, could be added to the rigid simplicity of the street arrangement. North of Fourteenth-st. the scheme has the sameness of bricks in a wall. The avenues run on the long axis of the island, north and south, and are given numbers for names, from First-ave. on the east to Twelfth-ave. on the west. To the east of First-ave., where much of the land has been made, are four more avenues, named A, B, C, D. North from Twenty-first-st., moreover, the long blocks are split between Third and Fourth aves. by Lexington-ave. North from Twenty-third-st. another supplementary avenue runs between Fourth and Fifth, called Madison-ave. Central Park occupies the space, originally planned for streets, between Fifty-ninth-st. and One-hundred-and-tenth-st. and Fifth and Eighth aves. Two of these boundaries, Eighth-ave. and Fifty-ninth-st. take its name along its length, and become Central Park West and Central Park South. Above the park Sixth-ave. appears as Lenox-ave. On the west the numbered avenues from Fifty-ninth-st. north change their names. Ninth-ave. becomes Columbus, Tenth, Amsterdam, and Eleventh, West End. Fourth-ave. above Thirty-fourth-st. is known as Park-ave. Above the park on the west this prim arrangement is disturbed by various diagonal and curving avenues cast in the mould of old country roads and village lanes. But on the whole the general arrangement above Fourteenth-st. on the west and Houston-st. on the east is extremely simple. Below this the city is laid out on various axes, like several checker boards shoved together on a table in an irregular group, due to the natural tendency in early days to a parallelism with the broken shore line. The one great variant in this plan of laying out the streets by the four points of the compass and four only is Broadway. This thoroughfare runs from the Battery diagonally west of north to One-hundred-and-sixth-st., where it reaches West End-ave. From the Battery to Tenth-st. it runs almost in the avenue axis, though a little to the eastward, but at Tenth-st. it deflects with a sharp turn to its diagonal direction, leaving the quieting spire and porch of Grace Church in the vista of Broadway from points below. After skirting Union Square Broadway continues aslant the avenues, cutting Fifth-ave. at Twenty-third-st. and Madison Square; Sixth-ave. at Thirty-fourth-st. and Herald Square; Seventh-ave. at Forty-third-st. and Long Acre Square; Eighth-ave. at Fifty-ninth-st. and Columbus Circle; Columbus-ave. at Sixty-fifth-st. and Amsterdam-ave. at Seventy-first-st. Running rather irregularly between Amsterdam-ave. and West End-ave. to One-hundred-and-sixth-st. it finally joins the latter there and converts it for the rest of its length to One-hundred-and-seventy-fifth-st. into Broadway. Another street strikingly out of harmony with the north and south uniformity is the Bowery. This wide and noteworthy avenue begins practically at Union Square in Fourth-ave. and sweeps down east of Broadway, bulging nearer to the river front, toward Brooklyn Bridge. Thus Lower Broadway to Tenth-st., in a straight line, and the long diagonal extension up town, and the Bowery curving down on the east, make a figure on the map much like the rim, handle and bowl of a huge spoon. The numbered cross streets run normally from river to river, but downtown they are squeezed into small space, getting shorter like the thread at the end of a wood screw. First-st. is extremely short. At Twelfth-st., however, they reach from shore to shore. The house numbers on these cross streets are counted east and west from Fifth-ave., except on the west of Central Park, where they are counted from its boundary, Eighth-ave. Even numbers are found on the south side of the cross streets, odd numbers on the north. Twenty cross streets make a mile. The numbers on the avenues have no absolute uniformity. It is possible, however, to find what street any avenue number is near by the following method. Write down the number. Cancel the last digit. Divide the remaining number by 2. Add the key number. The key numbers are as follows: Avenue D, 3; Avenue C, 3; Avenue B, 3; Avenue A, 3; First-ave., 3; Second-ave., 3; Third-ave., 10; Lexington-ave., 22; Fourth-ave., 8; Madison-ave., 26; Park-ave., 35; Fifth-ave., 17; Sixth-ave., 6; Seventh-ave., 12; Eighth-ave., 9; Ninth-ave., 13; Tenth-ave., 14; Eleventh-ave., 15; Columbus-ave., 59.

Buildings of Historic and Public Interest.

At the Battery, the Aquarium, where curious fishes now disport, otherwise Castle Garden, was once a music hall where Jenny Lind made her first great success in America. The Barge Office is also on the water front, with a view down the bay of the old fort on Governor's Island and the statue of Liberty, the gift of the French Republic. Near Bowling Green, where the famous statue of George II. was pulled down and melted, stands the Produce Exchange and the new Custom House. Further up Broadway, at Rector-st., stands Trinity Church, facing down Wall-st., where, on the site of the Sub-Treasury, in Federal Hall, Washington took the first oath of office as President. In Broad-st. is the new building of the Stock Exchange. In Fulton-st. and Broadway is the oldest church in the city, St. Paul's Chapel, where Washington attended when New-York was the capital. Beyond this is the Postoffice, and above this City Hall Park, with the old City Hall and the "Tweed" Courthouse. To the east is "Newspaper Row." Brooklyn Bridge rests on New-York near by. Up Centre-st is found the new Hall of Records, and a few blocks beyond the new City Prison a the Criminal Courts Building, connected by the storied Bridge of Sighs. In Washington Square, at the starting point of Fifth-ave., stands the arch erected at the time of the Washington Centennial and designed by Stanford White. On reaching Madison Square, at Twenty-third-st., the Garden looms up in warm tones, a building with a tower planned after the Giralda, in Seville, and capable of housing anything from a circus to a chamber concert. The impressive twin spires of St. Patrick's Cathedral, at Fiftieth-st. and Fifth-ave., may be seen from many points in the city. In the park, at East Eighty-second-st., is the Metropolitan Museum of Art, with its increasing treasures. On the other side of the park, between Seventy-seventh and Eighty-first sts., stands the Museum of Natural History. Further up, beyond One-hundred-and-tenth-st., on the prominence of Morningside Park, the Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Divine is building. St. Luke's Hospital is there, and the Library and other buildings of Columbia University. Over the way, in Central Park, near its northern limit, stands on a little rise of ground a small stone fort, where Washington's army made a stand, in its retreat from Long Island and New-York up the river and over into New-Jersey.

Parks and Public Monuments.

The city was not planned with much of an eye for its breathing places. In some cases restricted private property has survived in small squares of open air and vegetation, and in others land has been cleared, or tracts set aside in time to escape occupation by streets; but there is a regrettable lack of any original provision for a system of parks. Central Park, already mentioned, is one of the most beautiful pleasure grounds, however, to be found in any part of the world. Its area is 840 acres, and it has nine miles of carriage road attractively laid out, six miles of bridle path and thirty miles of footpath. With its rolling ground, its extensively planted trees and shrubs, and its natural woodlands and several lakes, it is not easily surpassed. Riverside Park, stretching along the Hudson shore from Seventy-second-st. to Grant's Tomb, at One-hundred-and-twenty-fifth-st., a long, narrow strip of handsome driveway, adds another feature of beauty to the city. Morningside Park, between Manhattan-ave. and Amsterdam-ave., is at the foot of a commanding bluff. Besides the large parks outside the island, Van Cortlandt, Bronx and Pelham Bay parks, there are a number of smaller ones at various points in the city. There is the Battery, with the sweep of a magnificent harbor in full view. Bowling Green, City Hall Park, Union Square, Madison Square, Washington Square, Stuyvesant Square, and in the northern part Mount Morris Park, are smaller pleasure grounds. Among the monuments, Grant's Tomb takes rank as an imposing memorial in a fitting situation, with the Hudson stretching away in either direction. The Soldiers' and Sailors' Memorial Monument, in Riverside Park, at Eighty-ninth-st., was dedicated with military ceremony May 30, 1902. The statue of Washington on the steps of the Sub-Treasury is the work of J. Q. A. Ward. That of Nathan Hale, in City Hall Park, is by MacMonnies, and Peter Cooper's, at the Cooper Union, by Augustus St. Gaudens.

Transportation Features.

The lines of transportation within the city are, generally speaking, operated by electricity. The cable, which took the place of the horse on some of the main thoroughfares, has been replaced with the electric underground trolley system, and the third rail system succeeds the steam locomotive on the elevated roads. There are elevated lines on Ninth, Sixth, Third and Second aves., running the length of the island. Trolley lines are found in the majority of the busy avenues, such as Broadway, Sixth-ave., Columbus-ave., Amsterdam-ave., Eighth-ave., Madison-ave., Lexington-ave., Third-ave., Second-ave. and the Bowery. Of the railroads the New-York Central and Hudson River and New-York, New-Haven and Hartford run their trains into the Grand Central Station at Forty-second-st. Many roads run into Jersey City and ferry their passengers and freight over. The Central Railroad of New-Jersey and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad are reached by the Whitehall-st. and Liberty-st. ferries. The Erie, Greenwood Lake, New-York and New-Jersey, and Northern Railroad of New-Jersey have ferries at Chambers-st. and Twenty-third-st. The ferries for the Pennsylvania, New-York, Susquehanna and Western, and Lehigh Valley roads leave Cortlandt-st., Desbrosses-st. and Twenty-third-st.; those of the West Shore, Franklin-st. and West Forty-second-st.; the New-Jersey Central at Liberty-st., and the New-York, Lackawanna and Western and the Delaware and Western, at Barclay-st. and Christopher-st. The Long Island ferries leave East Thirty-fourth-st and Whitehall-st. Ocean steamship lines, such as the Holland-America, American, Red Star, Cunard, White Star and North German Lloyd have piers along West-st. In addition to the Brooklyn Bridge, three new bridges are to cross the East River—the Williamsburg Bridge, at Delancey- and Clinton sts., opened for traffic early last year; the Manhattan Bridge, reaching the shore at Pike Slip and connecting with the Second-ave. elevated road at Canal-st., and the Blackwell's Island Bridge, at Fifty-ninth-st., the middle piers of which stand on the island.

The Rapid Transit Subway.

Regular passenger service in the subway began on October 27, 1904. The contract for construction was signed on February 24, 1900, and ground was broken in front of the City Hall by Mayor Van Wyck on March 24. The contract price was $35,000,000, and the contractor agreed, after building the road, to operate it for fifty years. Security of $7,000,000 was furnished through the organization of the Rapid Transit Subway Construction Company, August Belmont, president. The contractor divided the work into sections and sublet them to under-contractors, one of whom, Major Ira A. Shaler, was mortally injured by falling rock on June 17, 1902, while inspecting the progress of work in his section in Park-ave., near Thirty-ninth-st. This was one of several accidents in this section, No. 4, including the Park-ave. cave-in of March 21, 1902, and at other points, notably in the Washington Heights excavation, where five men were killed by a fall of rock. But on the whole the work has been remarkably free from accident and calamity, when the many engineering difficulties encountered, such as the prevalent bedrock and the troublesome tidewater sand, are considered. The chief engineer is William Barclay Parsons, to whom much of the credit of obviating delays is due. Another man who has given much of his energies to the task is Alexander E. Orr, president of the Rapid Transit Board. The route adopted begins at City Hall and runs up Elm-st. to Lafayette Place, thence on to Fourth-ave., to Forty-second-st., through Forty-second-st. to Broadway, and up Broadway to One-hundred-and-fourth-st. Here it branches. One tunnel proceeds to Fort George and beyond to Marble Hill near Kingsbridge. The other turns off to the east of Lenox-ave., then up to One-hundred-and-forty-first-st., where it dips under the Harlem River and reaches Bronx Park. Thirty-five stations are planned from the City Hall on the west line, and thirteen above the branching at One-hundred-and-fourth-st. to The Bronx.

An extension to Brooklyn was adopted by the Rapid Transit Commission September 27, 1900, and was approved by the Municipal Assembly on May 1, 1901, and by Mayor Van Wyck on June 1. The route is as follows: From City Hall down Broadway to Bowling Green and Whitehall-st., to South Ferry, under the East River to Joralemon-st., Brooklyn, to Fulton-st., to Flatbush-ave. and to Atlantic-ave.

An extension that would serve the part of the city on the East side above Forty-second-st. and below the eastern branch at One-hundred-and-Tenth-st. was urged by The Tribune. On April 24, 1902, the Rapid Transit Commission authorized a survey for such a route to be constructed when proper funds became available. An extension is also proposed to run down Broadway below Forty-second-st.

The main power house which supplies the electricity occupies nearly the whole block bounded by Fifty-eighth-st. and Fifty-ninth-st. and Ninth-ave. and Tenth-ave. Electricity is used for lighting as well as motive power and to operate a block signal system, in which the blocks are 2,500 feet, or nearly half a mile apart.

Such an underground system has been proposed for the city for many years, but the execution of the design was blocked from time to time by legislative checks and the opposition of property owners along proposed routes. In 1888 Mayor Hewitt sent a bill to the legislature providing for building an underground railroad, but in May of the next year the bill was killed. In April, 1890, a bill was signed by Governor Hill providing for rapid transit railways in cities of over one million inhabitants. Mayor Hugh J. Grant named a commission to decide upon routes, which recommended a four-track underground road. George R. Read and others applied for a franchise. A new commission was appointed, and perfected plans were submitted to the Board of Aldermen and approved by it on October 21, 1891. The franchise was offered for sale, but had no bidders because of the threats of litigation. The legislature in 1894 created a new Rapid Transit Board. The Commission was composed of Alexander

E. Orr, John H. Starin, William Steinway, John H. Inman, Seth Low and John Claflin, and the Mayor and Controller ex officio. Mr. Low resigned June 2, 1896. His place was taken by Woodbury Langdon. On November 30, 1896, William Steinway died, and Charles Stewart Smith, who had served on the commission of 1890, took his place. Another member, John H. Inman, died on November 5, 1895, and was succeeded by George L. Rives. On May 5, 1899, Morris K. Jesup entered the board, having been elected president of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Orr, who resigned from the presidency of the Chamber of Commerce, was enabled to continue on the board by the resignation of John Claflin, May 10, 1899. This commission finally selected Broadway as the route. This raised a clamor of protest, and individual property owners carried the fight into the courts. A commission was appointed by the Appellate Court, First Department, by which the necessity of obtaining the individual consents of property owners along the route was overcome. The consent of the local authorities was obtained in 1897. The objections raised, however, to the Broadway route resulted in new plans being drawn.

MAYORS OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.

The following table gives a list of the Mayors of New-York since 1665, when Thomas Willett was appointed by the Governor of the Province. The office was filled by the same appointing power until 1784, when for six years the power was vested in the Appointing Board of the State of New-York. From 1820 to 1830, when the charter was amended, the Common Council was the appointing power. Robert A. Van Wyck was the first Mayor elected under the Greater New-York charter:

THE NEW-YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY, ASTOR, LENOX AND TILDEN FOUNDATIONS.

Established by consolidation of the trustees of the Astor Library, the trustees of the Lenox Library, and the Tilden Trust, on May 23, 1895, and by consolidation with the New-York Free Circulating Library on February 25, 1901. Since February, 1901, the library has absorbed the Library for the Blind, the Washington Heights Library, the Aguilar Library, the Harlem Free Library and the Tottenville Library. The libraries maintained by the East Side Settlement and the University Settlement have also been turned over to, and become branches of, the Public Library. The trustees of the library are John Bigelow, John L. Cadwalader, H. Van Rensselaer Kennedy, John S. Kennedy, Edward King, Lewis Cass Ledyard, Alexander Maitland, Stephen H. Olin, Alexander E. Orr, Henry C. Potter, George L. Rives, Philip Schuyler, George W. Smith, Frederick Sturges, Morgan J. O'Brien, Samuel Greenbaum, John M. Farley, Charles Howland Russell, William W. Appleton, Andrew Carnegie, J. Pierpont Morgan, and the Mayor, Controller and President of the Board of Aldermen of the City of New-York as ex-officio members.

LEWIS AND CLARK EXPOSITION.

In pursuance of an Act of Congress approved by President Roosevelt April 13, 1904, followed by an invitation issued by the Secretary of State, there will be held during 1905 in Portland, Ore., an international exposition, to be known as the Lewis and Clark Centennial and Oriental Fair. The exposition will commemorate the one-hundredth anniversary of the exploration of the Oregon Country by an expedition commanded by Captains Meriwether Lewis and William Clark and planned by President Jefferson. The Oregon Country comprised all of the present states of Oregon, Washington and Idaho and parts of Montana and Wyoming, an area of 300,000 square miles, and the acquisition of this region was one of the most important events in American history, because of the direct influence it had upon the subsequent territorial expansion of the United States.

The exposition will represent an expenditure approximating $5,000,000 when the gates are opened on June 1, 1905. It will occupy 402 acres adjoining the principal residence district of Portland on the slopes and terraces overlooking Guild's Lake and the Willamette River. Of the gross area 180 acres are on the mainland, including natural forest park and landscape gardens, while 60 acres form a peninsula in the lake. Guild's Lake is a natural fresh water body, 220 acres in extent, separated from the river by a narrow span of land. The grounds are twenty minutes' ride by electric car from the centre of the city. Five snow peaks in the distant mountain ranges are in plain view from all parts of the grounds.

Ten large exhibit palaces form the nucleus of the exposition. Around these cluster the State, Territorial and Concessions buildings, special pavilions, the Administration group, the Auditorium, and numerous smaller structures. The main exhibit palaces are: First, Agriculture; second, Liberal and Industrial Arts; third, Foreign Exhibits; fourth, Forestry; fifth, Horticulture; sixth, Mines and Metallurgy; seventh, United States Government Exhibit Building; eighth, Occanic Building; ninth, United States Fisheries, Forestry and Irrigation Building; tenth; Machinery, Electricity and Transportation. The Forestry Building is constructed entirely of huge logs felled in the Oregon forests. The United States Government Building will occupy the peninsula in the centre of Guild's Lake. It will occupy three acres, will cost $250,000, and will have two towers, each of which will be 260 feet high.

The United States Government officially participates in the centennial with complete exhibits. Japan and China and other nations of the Far East will be represented with comprehensive displays characteristic of these countries. The following States in the Union have made appropriations for their participation: New-York, Massachusetts, Virginia, Minnesota, North Dakota, Wyoming, Washington, Montana, Idaho, Utah, California, Oregon, Missouri and, provisionally, Colorado, Nevada and Arizona.

The chief officers of the exposition are: President, H. W. Goode; first vice-president, L. N. Fleischner; second vice-president, A. L. Mills; third vice-president, Samuel Connell; secretary, Henry E. INTER-LEAGUE GAMES.

The New-York American League team challenged the New-York National League champions just before the season closed, and later the Boston Americans challenged the winning "Giants" for a series of post-season games to decide the world's championship, but the National Leaguers refused to play. Since the Boston Americans won the World's Championship a year before in a deciding series with the Pittsburg National League champions, they were generally conceded this year to be the world's champions for the season of 1904, in default of another similar series.

Two other series of games were played between the National and American League teams, however. The two St. Louis teams started a series of seven games, but after each team had won three games the series was abandoned without a decision. The Pittsburg National League team also met the Cleveland American League players in a similar series, and the Cleveland team won by two games to one, with two games tied. The scores were as follows:

Oct. 10—At St. Louis: St. Louis (National), 3; St. Louis (American), 1.

Oct. 10—At Cleveland: Pittsburg (National) 2; Cleveland (American), 2.

Oct. 11—At St. Louis: St. Louis (American), 6; St. Louis (National), 3.

Oct. 11—At Cleveland: Pittsburg (National), 7; Cleveland (American), 4.

Oct. 12—At St. Louis: St. Louis (American), 2; St. Louis (National), 1.

Oct. 12—At Pittsburg: Pittsburg (National), 3; Cleveland (American), 3 (14 innings).

Oct. 13—At St. Louis: St. Louis (American), 3; St. Louis (National), 2.

Oct. 13—At Pittsburg: Cleveland (American), 3; Pittsburg (National), 2.

Oct. 14—At St. Louis: St. Louis (National), 8; St. Louis (American), 2.

Oct. 14—At Pittsburg: Cleveland (American), 4; Pittsburg (National), 1.

Oct. 15—At St. Louis: St. Louis (National), 10; St. Louis (American), 6.

LAWN TENNIS.

Championship Matches of 1904.

The annual championship tournament of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association was held at the Newport (R. I.) Casino, as usual, August 16 to 24. In the absence of the champions of the previous year in both singles and doubles, the Doherty brothers of England, the honors were left entirely to the American players. Holcombe Ward, of Orange, N. J., won the all-comers' singles after W. A. Larned, the previous holder and general favorite for the title, had been beaten in the semi-finals. Ward beat William J. Clothier, of Philadelphia, in the final round, by 10—8, 6—4, 9—7. In the doubles, Holcombe Ward and Beals C. Wright, champions of the East, beat Kriegh Collins and Raymond D. Little, champions of the West, in the final round at Newport, by 1—6, 6—2, 3—6, 6—4, 6—1.

The women's national championship tournament under the auspices of the U. S. N. L. T. A. was held at Philadelphia, June 21 to 26. In the final round Miss May Sutton, of Oakland, Cal., beat Miss Helen Homans, of New-York, by 6—1, 6—1. She then challenged Miss Elizabeth H. Moore, of Brooklyn, the previous holder of the title, and won by 6—1, 6—2. The women's doubles were won by Miss May Sutton and Miss Hall, both of California, and the mixed doubles by Miss Elizabeth Moore and W. C. Grant, of New-York.

The indoor championships of America were held at the 7th Regiment Armory, New-York, February 22 to 25. In the final round of the singles, Wylie C. Grant, of New-York, beat C. C. Kelley, of New-York, by 8—6, 6—3, 5—7, 6—8, 7—5. In the final round of doubles, W. C. Grant and Robert Le Roy beat B. C. Wright and R. D. Little, by 9—7, 2—6, 8—6, 4—6, 6—3.

The intercollegiate championship tournament was held as usual at Philadelphia, October 4 to 7. In the final round of the singles, Robert Le Roy, of Columbia, beat E. B. Dewhurst, of the University of Pennsylvania, by 4—6, 6—3, 7—5, 2—6, 6—0. In the final of the doubles, Behr and Rodman, of Yale, beat Sullaway and Larned, of Harvard, by 6—4, 4—6, 2—6, 6—3, 8—6.

International Matches.

The U. S. N. L. T. A. did not challenge last year, as expected, for the Davis International Cup, which was lost to the British challengers in 1903, and in the absence of an American team the international play for this trophy was confined to foreign players. France and Belgium each sent a team to England in July to try for the Davis Cup, and a preliminary match between the two challenging teams was necessary. In this Belgium beat France by three matches to two. The Belgians then met the British defenders of the trophy, and were badly beaten by five matches to none, 15 sets to 1.

The English championships were decided at Wimbledon, England, at the end of June. In the singles H. L. Doherty again won the title, beating his challenger, F. L. Riseley, rather easily, while the Doherty brothers won the doubles, and Miss D. K. Douglas won the women's singles.

Official Ranking for 1904.

The official ranking of the leading American players for last season was as follows: (1) Holcombe Ward, (2) William J. Clothier, (3) William A. Larned, owe 3–6 of 15; (4) Beals C. Wright, owe 2–6 of 15; (5) Kriegh Collins, (6) Raymond D. Little, (7) F. B. Alexander, (8) Richard Stevens, owe 1–6 of 15; (9) Alonzo E. Bell, (10) Edgar W. Leonard, (11) L. H. Waldner, (12) Robert Le Roy, (13) E. B. Dewhurst, (14) R. C. Seaver, scratch.

COURT TENNIS, RACQUETS AND SQUASH.

Championship Matches of 1904.

The annual tournament for the American championship at court tennis was held at the New-York Racquet and Tennis Club, April 4 to 9. Joshua Crane, Jr., of Boston, the previous holder of the title, won the championship once more, beating Charles E. Sands in the final round by 6—1, 6—5, 6—3. This was the fourth successive victory for Mr. Crane, who also won the championship in 1901, 1902 and 1903.

The English court tennis championship was held at the Queen's Club, London, ending March 28, when a victory for Van E. Pennell, who beat Eustace H. Miles three sets to two in the finals. Miles had held the title for five successive years prior to this.

The amateur racquet championship of America was decided in two sections again last year. The first tournament was held in Boston (for the singles) February 19 to 22. In the final round, George A. Brooke, Jr., of Philadelphia, beat Quincey A. Shaw, Jr., of Boston, the former champion by 18—15, 15—6, 15—12. The doubles were held at Philadelphia March 5 and 6. In the final round Quincey A. Shaw, Jr., and Matthew Bartlett, of Boston, beat Joshua Crane, Jr., and C. G. Winslow, also of Boston, by 15—10, 15—8, 15—9.

The third annual intercity match between the New-York and Philadelphia racquet players was held in two sections, at New-York January 2, and Philadelphia, January 9. In the first half of the match the New-Yorkers beat the Philadelphians by 15—13, 15—11, 15—9, 17—14, and 10—15, 15—7, 15—9, 6—15, 15—4, 15—10, eight games to two. In the second half of the match at Philadelphia, the New-Yorkers were again successful, winning by a similar score of eight matches to two. The scores: 15—6, 15—5, 15—6, 15—3, and 1–15, 15—6, 5—15, 15—10, 15—8, 15—4. All of the matches were doubles. New-York has now won two out of the three annual matches played.

The annual tournament for the squash championship of America was held at the Tuxedo Racquet and Tennis Club, Tuxedo Park, N. Y., February 20, 21 and 22. In the final round, Wendell P. Blagden beat George C. Scott, by 15—5, 15—4, 15—4. Blagden also won the championship in 1903.

ROQUE-CROQUET.

Championship Matches of 1904.

The annual tournament for the championship of America at roque-croquet was held at Norwich, Conn., during the week ending August 19. The players were divided into three classes as usual, there being eight players in the first division, twelve in the second and seven in the third.

The championship ultimately went to George C. Cox, of Malden, Mass., the winner for 1903, with a record of seven victories and no defeats. F. S. Janes, of New-London, Conn., was second, and C. G. Williams, of Washington, D. C., was third. In the second division, I. J. Baker, of Washington, D. C., won first honors with ten victories and one defeat, while W. H. Wahly, of Washington, and Alonzo Pyle, of West Chester, Penn., tied for first honors in the third division, each having won six games and lost one.

The roque-croquet championship has been won during the last ten years as follows: 1895, G. C. Strong, New-London, Conn.; 1896, E. C. Butler, Middletown, Conn.; 1897, S. C. Duryea, Washington, D. C.; 1898, W. H. Wahly, Washington, D. C.; 1899, 1900, G. C. Williams, Washington, D. C.; 1901, W. H. Wahly, Washington, D. C.; 1902, S. L. Duryea Washington, D. C.; 1903, G. C. Cox, Malden, Mass.; 1904, G. C. Cox, Malden, Mass.

GOLF.

Championship Tournaments of 1904.

The amateur championship tournament of the U. S. Golf Association was held at the Baltusrol Golf Club, Short Hills, N. J., during the week ending Sept. 10. After the questionable success of the innovation tried the previous year in the method of deciding the championship, it was decided to return to the old method of weeding out the poorer players in a qualifying round, and 18 holes were played the first day, the players with the lowest 64 scores to qualify, while this number of contestants was cut in half the second day by continuing the play for 36 more holes, and the best 32 scores (for the 54 holes of two days' play) qualified for match play. The low score prize was won by H. Chandler Egan, of Chicago, with a card of 41, 39, 42, 38, 42, 40—242 (for 54 holes).

All eyes were centred on the work of Walter J. Travis, the former champion, who had recently won the English championship on the other side. To the surprise of all he was beaten in the second round of match play by G. A. Ormiston, of Pittsburg, 3 up and 1 to play. Ormiston was in turn beaten by Frederick Herreshoff, of Bristol, R. I., and Herreshoff met H. Chandler Egan, of Chicago, in the finals, being beaten by 8 up and 6 to play.

The woman's championship tournament was held at the Merion Cricket Club, Philadelphia, Penn., during the week ending Oct. 15. A feature of the meeting was the appearance of Miss Lottie Dod, the English woman champion. There was a tie for the low score prize at 93, three cards bearing this total being turned in by Miss Dod, Miss Fannie Vanderhoef and Miss Harriet Curtis. In the play-off a second tie resulted between the Misses Dod and Vanderhoef, and the latter finally won at match play. The English champion was beaten in the first round of match play by Miss Pauline Mackey, 2 up and 1 to play. Miss Mackey was beaten in the semi-final round by Mrs. E. F. Sanford, and Miss Georgianna Bishop, of Boston, beat Mrs. Sanford in the final round by 5 up and 3 to play.

The open (professional) championship tournament was held at the Glenview Country Club, Chicago, July 8 and 9, with 69 contestants. The entire competition was decided by medal play, and 72 holes were played in two successive days. There were ten money prizes for the professionals, and they were won as follows: First and championship—Willie Anderson, Apawamis G. C., 303 strokes; second, Gilbert Nicholls, St. Louis, 308; third, Frederick McKenzie, Onwentsia C. C., 309; fourth, Bernard Nicholls, New-York, 314; fifth, Laurence Auchterlonie, Glenview C. C., 314; sixth, Stewart Gardner, Garden City G. C., 316; seventh, P. F. Barrett, Toronto, 316; eighth, Robert Simpson, Riverside G. C., 316; ninth, James Foulis, Chicago, 317; tenth, Donald Ross, Oakley C. C., 318. The prize for the lowest score made by an amateur was won by H. Chandler Egan, Exmoor C. C., Chicago, with a card of 329.

The amateur championship of Great Britain was played on the famous Sandwich links, of England, during the week ending June 3. It was of particular importance to Americans this year because Walter J. Travis, then the American champion, was among the competitors. Five other Americans also took part in the matches, including E. M. Byers, of Pittsburg; John Moller, jr., of New-York; Devereux Emmet, of New-York, and F. O. Horstman, of Washington. Several of the other Americans lasted for a round or two before being beaten, but Travis put out one opponent after another until the final round was reached, when he beat Edward Blackwell by 4 up and 3 to play, winning the English championship. His closest match was against H. E. Reade, the Irish champion, in the fourth round, whom he beat 2 up only by winning the last four holes in succession after being 2 down and 4 to go.

The Olympic championship tournament (for amateurs) at St. Louis, Sept. 19 to 24, was won by G. S. Lyon, of Toronto, who beat H. Chandler Egan, of Chicago, by 3 up and 2 to play in the finals.

The Metropolitan championship for men, at the Garden City G. C., May 25 to 28, was won by Harold Wilcox, of Montclair, N. J., who beat P. R. Pyne, jr., of Morris County, N. J., by 6 up and 4 to play.

The Metropolitan championship for women, at the Apawamis G. C., Rye, N. Y., June 14 to 18, was won by Mrs. E. A. Manice, of the Baltusrol G. C., who beat Mrs. M. D. Patterson, of Englewood, N. J., in the finals by 2 up and 1 to play.

The Intercollegiate championship tournament was held at the Myopia Hunt Club, Hamilton, Mass., Oct. 18 to 22. Four colleges sent teams, and it required two days to finish the team contest. In the first round Harvard beat the University of Pennsylvania by a score of 99 to 0, and Yale beat Princeton by 23 to 2. In the final round the next day Harvard beat Yale by 21 to 10. There were six men on each team. In the individual championship contest sixteen men qualified at 18 holes match play, W. E. Egan, of Harvard, winning the low score prize with a card of 80. In the final round of match play A. L. White, of Harvard, beat H. Chandler Egan, of Harvard, by 2 up in 36 holes.

POLO.

Championship Matches of 1904.

The annual tournament of the Polo Association for the championships, senior and junior, of America, was held at the Point Judith Country Club, Narragansett Pier, R. I., August 1 to 6. Only two teams were entered for the junior title, and only one game was necessary to decide it. In this, the Rockaway first team met the Bryn Mawr second team, from Philadelphia, and won by 14 goals to 9½. The winning team was composed of W. A. Hazard, D. Chauncey, jr., R. La Montagne, jr., and P. F. Collier.

The new junior champions did not enter the senior competition, as usual, and in the absence of Dedham Country Club's first team, the Myopia Hunt Club's first team won the opening by default, and met the Bryn Mawr Country Club's first team in the final game. Myopia had an easy victory in this meeting, however, and with a crack team carried off the senior championship by a score of 14 goals to 1¼. The winning team, now the senior champions, was composed of Maxwell Norman, R. G. Shaw, jr., R. L. Agassiz and Devereux Milburn.

A series of international games was played between teams representing Toronto and Buffalo, all three of which were won by the American players, as follows: First Game (at Buffalo, August 23)—Buffalo, 6¾ goals; Toronto, 1 goal. Second Game (at Buffalo, August 24)—Buffalo, 15 goals; Toronto, 1¾ goals. Third Game (at Toronto, October 1)—Buffalo, 6 goals; Toronto, 4 goals.

CRICKET.

Championship Matches of 1904.

The Metropolitan Cricket League held a successful season in 1904 with seven clubs in its championship schedule, which was fully played out. The championship for the season was won by a team representing the Livingstone Field Club, while the Brooklyn Cricket Club's Team A finished second and that representing Columbia Oval third.

The individual prizes for the best average for the season's play were won by C. P. Hurditch, of the Livingstone F. C., for batting; F. F. Kelly, of the Livingstone F. C., for bowling, and J. L. Pryor, of the Brooklyn C. C., for fielding.

The season's record was as follows:

Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Drawn.	Per Cent.
Livingstone F. C.	9	1	2	.900
Brooklyn C. C. (Team A.).....	8	1	3	.888
Col'bia Oval C. C.	8	2	2	.800
Paterson C. C....	5	6	1	.454
Manhattan C. C...	3	8	1	.272
Brooklyn C. C. (Team B.).....	3	9	0	.250
Kings County C. C.	1	10	1	.090

The thirty-sixth annual match between Canada and the United States was played at Philadelphia July 11, 12 and 13. The result was a victory for the home team by seven wickets, the score being: United States—329 and 28 (for three wickets), 357; Canada—182 and 172, 354.

The annual series of matches among the cricket clubs around Philadelphia for the "Halifax Cup" resulted in a victory for the team of the Belmont Cricket Club, with the following results:

Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Per ct.
Belmont C. C.....	9	4	.692
Merion C. C.....	16	9	.640
Philadelphia C. C.....	7	5	.583
Germantown C. C.....	9	15	.375
Frankfort C. C.....	2	10	.167

RIFLE AND REVOLVER SHOOTING.

Championships of 1904.

There was no international shooting match for the Palma trophy in 1904, but the famous prize caused considerable discussion nevertheless. The American team that won it in England the season before was accused by the English marksmen of having used special barrels in their guns and special ammunition for the trophy match. The result was protested on this ground, since the conditions call for the regulation arm of the country which a team represents, and, after a good deal of discussion in the public prints, the trophy was returned to the English association. The British marksmen refused to accept it under the circumstances, however, although their team finished second in the competition, and it was turned over to the Canadians, whose marksmen made the third best score.

The annual tournament of the New-Jersey Rifle Association at Sea Girt, N. J., August 31 to September 11, included again last year the championship competitions of the National Rifle Association and the United States Revolver Association. The results of the championship contests follow:

Wimbledon Cup—Won by Dr. George E. Cooke, of New-York, with a score of 88 (out of a possible 100); second, Lieut. W. A. Tewes, of 1st New-Jersey; Capt. W. B. Martin, 2d New-Jersey; Capt. C. B. Winder, of Ohio, and Harry M. Pope, of Massachusetts, tied for third, with 83 each.

Inspectors' Match—Won by Lieut. W. W. Cookson, Dist. of Columbia, with a score of 97 (out of a possible 100). Capt. C. B. Winder, of Ohio; Capt. W. B. Martin, 2d New-Jersey, and Lieut. K. K. V. Casey, 71st New-York, all tied, with 94 each.

Interclub Team Championship—Won by Ohio State Rifle Association team, with a score of 223 (out of a possible 250); Manhattan Rifle and Revolver Association, second, with 221; Ohio State Rifle Association, second team, third, with 219.

President's Match (for military championship of United States)—Won by Howard Gensch, Private 1st New-Jersey, with a score of 192 (out of a possible 225); with Lieut. W. A. Tewes, 1st New-Jersey, second, with 189. Lieut. Benjamin South, 1st Ohio; D. C. Meyer, 7th New-York; Major A. Rowland, 1st New-Jersey, and C. B. Winder, Ohio, tied for third, with 186 each.

Regimental Team Championship of United States—Won by 1st Regiment, New-Jersey, with a score of 528 (out of a possible 600); 2d Regiment, Ohio, second, with 517; 9th Regiment, New-York, third, with 502.

Dryden Trophy Interstate Team Match—Won by New-Jersey, with a score of 987 (out of a possible 1,200); Ohio second, with 978; United States Marine Corps third, with 969.

Revolver Team Championship—Won by Squadron A, New-York, with a score of 775 (out of a possible 1,250); Second Troop, Philadelphia, second, with 624; Third Battalion, Dist. of Columbia, third, with 594.

The first annual tournament of the New-York Rifle Association was held at Creedmoor, L. I., Sept. 11 to 18. The most important matches resulted as follows:

Individual Championship — Won by Lieut. K. K. V. Casey, 71st Regiment, with a score of 99 (out of a possible 105); Private G. H. Doyle, 71st Regiment, second, with 95; Lieut. E. A. Wills, 71st Regiment, third, with 93.

McAlpine Trophy Match—Won by New-York State team, with a score of 1,018 (out of a possible 1,200); United States Marine Corps, second, with 970.

Company Team Match—Won by 9th Regiment team, with a score of 365 (out of a possible 420); Company C, 7th Regiment, second, with 358; Company A, United States Marine Corps, third, with 357.

The United States Revolver Association held a simultaneous championship tournament in various cities in September. The New-York contingent shot at Creedmoor during the State tournament, but did not carry off the highest honors. The revolver championship was won by Dr. I. R. Calkins, at Springfield, with a score of 451 (out of a possible 500). C. F. Armstrong, of New-York, won second place at Creedmoor, and J. B. Crabtree won third at Creedmoor.

The pistol championship was won by Dr. E. H. Kessler, at St. Louis, with a score of 464 (out of a possible 500); Dr. I. R. Calkins, of Springfield, was second, and J. B. Crabtree, at Creedmoor, third.

The military revolver championship was won by Thomas Anderton, at Creedmoor, with a score of 585; Lieut. R. H. Sayre, of New-York, was second, with 548, and Lieut. H. M. Smith, of New-York, third, with 534.

The United States Revolver Association also held an indoor championship shooting tournament during the first week of March simultaneously in different cities. There were two competitions, with revolver and pistol, and both competitions were won by St. Louis marksmen. S. E. Sears, of St. Louis, won the revolver championship with a total of 477 (out of a possible 500), while E. H. Kessler, of St. Louis, won the pistol championship, with a score of 450 (out of a possible 500).

The New-York section of the competition was shot at the Manhattan Rifle and Revolver Club, and Dr. W. H. Luckett made the best score with a revolver, 447, while Lieut. R. H. Sayre made the best with a pistol, 436.

The all-round athletic championship was held at St. Louis, Mo., July 4, and was won by Thomas F. Kieley, of Ireland.

HANDBALL.

Championship Matches of 1904.

James Fitzgerald, of the Olympic Club of San Francisco, Cal., challenged Michael J. Egan, of Jersey City, the world's champion handball player, for a series of best-eight-in-fifteen games for the championship. This series was played in San Francisco, seven games on March 27, when Egan won six of the seven. The completion of the match required only three games more which were played April 3. Egan winning two of the three. The scores of the entire match were 21—18, 15—21, 21—5, 21—9, 21—2, 21—9, 21—8, 19—21, 21—13, 21—4. This victory confirms Egan's claim on the championship.

The rowing clubs along the Harlem River formed a league for handball games last year, and six clubs entered teams for the series of interclub championship games. The players of the Union Boat Club finally won first honors with a record of 52 games won and 8 lost. The full record of the season's series was as follows:

	Won.	Lost.		Won.	Lost.
Union	52	8	Crescent	16	44

ICE HOCKEY.

Championship Matches of 1904.

The annual championship series of the Amateur Hockey League was played as usual in the New York and Brooklyn skating rinks during the winter of 1903–'04. Most of the strongest players of the former New York A. C. team left that organization and formed a new team called the Wanderers' H. C., ultimately winning the league championship with a clean record of eight victories and no defeats. The final standing follows:

Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Per ct.
Wanderers' H. C.....	8	0	1.000
Crescent A. C.....	6	2	.750
Hockey Club of N. Y..	4	4	.500
New-York A. C.....	1	7	.125
Brooklyn S. C.....	1	7	.125

The annual series of games for the Intercollegiate Championship resulted in another victory for Harvard with a clean record of four victories. Results were:

Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Per ct.
Harvard	4	0	1.000
Yale	3	2	.600
Columbia	2	2	.500
Princeton	1	3	.250
Brown	0	3	.000

Two Canadian teams visited New-York during the season, but neither of them won a game from the local players. The Victorias played a tie game, 8 to 8, with the Wanderers, and were beaten by 6 to 4 by the Crescent A. C. The Montreal Hockey Club team were beaten by 3 to 0 by the Crescent A. C., and by 2 to 1 by the All-New-York selected team.

FENCING.

Championship Meetings of 1904.

The annual tournament for the senior fencing championships of the United States was held at the New-York Athletic Club, April 29 and 30. The competitions were divided into three classes, for foils, duelling swords and sabres, as usual. The results were as follows: Foils—Won by Charles G. Bothner, New-York A. C., after a tie; Charles Tatham, Fencers' Club of New-York, second. Duelling swords—Won by Charles G. Bothner, New-York A. C., after a tie; Charles Tatham, Fencers' Club of New-York, second. Sabres—Won by A. J. Anderson, New-York A. C.

The junior championships of the United States were held at the New-York A. C., January 26. Only one class was held, for foils, and the championship title in this was won by L. A. Micholoni, of the Brooklyn Fencers' Club, with G. T. Conti, international Fencers' Club, second, and W. Withrow, Columbia University, third.

The intercollegiate championship tournament was held at the New-York A. C., March 30 and 31. Seven colleges sent teams of three men each, and the scoring was by points, the West Point Military Academy team winning by a margin of eight points. The summary follows:

Team.	Won.	Lost.
West Point	41	13
Columbia	33	21
Cornell	33	21
Annapolis	29	25
Harvard	27	27
Yale	20	34
Pennsylvania	6	48

YACHTING.

THE SEASON OF 1904.

The yachting season of 1904 was an off year, and there was little of special interest outside of the club cruises and club regattas. There was no international race for the America's Cup, and although a challenge was expected from Sir Thomas Lipton for another international series in 1905, this did not materialize, and now there is no challenge in sight.

The Royal Canadian Yacht Club has challenged for the Canada's Cup, and an international small boat race will be held next season on the Great Lakes for this trophy. The Rochester Yacht Club, which holds the cup, will defend the trophy, and preliminary dates beginning August 12 have been chosen.

In the absence of international racing there were a number of interesting races among the crack schooners. Two or three were sailed across the ocean, and these added much interest to the otherwise dull season.

Commodore Morton F. Plant's handsome racing schooner Ingomar also made a trip to the other side in quest of the Cape May Cup and other trophies, and came home with a locker full of foreign prizes. The English were unable to defend the Cape May Cup, and it was handed over by default. The most important race she sailed in was for the German Emperor's Cup given for a race sailed June 18, from Dover to Heligoland. She finished first in this race, but lost on time allowance. The Ingomar also sailed in 21 other races, and captured 12 first prizes, 4 seconds and 1 third, making a total of 17 prizes in 22 starts a splendid record.

The Cape May Cup was raced for later in the season, after having been returned to this country, and it was then won by Wilson Marshall's schooner Atlantic. The same yacht also won the Brenton's Reef Cup.

A series of international races for the Seawanhaka Trophy was held last summer between small yachts representing the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club, of Montreal, the previous holder of the trophy, and the White Bear Yacht Club, of Minneapolis, the challenger. Again the Canadians won the trophy, which was originally offered by New-York yachtsmen. After this series was sailed, the Royal St. Lawrence Y. C. accepted a challenge from the Manchester (Mass.) Yacht Club, for another series of races for this trophy, in 1905.

CHESS.

International Cable Matches.

There were no international cable chess matches during 1904. The Russo-Japanese War kept the cables busy and the chess players were unable to secure the exclusive use of a wire, so the annual matches had to be given up.

The record of the series between the Brooklyn Chess Club (American) and the London Chess Club (Great Britain), stands five victories for the Americans, two for the Englishmen and one game drawn, as follows:

	Am.	Eng.		Am.	Eng.
1896	4½	3½	1900	6	4
1897	4½	5½	1901	5	5
1898	4½	5½	1902	5½	4½
1899	6	4	1903	5½	4½

There have been five international intercollegiate cable matches for the Rice trophy, of which the Americans have won one game, drawn one and lost three, as follows:

	Am.	Eng.		Am.	Eng.
1900	1½	4½	1903	2½	3½
1901	3	3

International Masters' Tournaments.

The annual masters' tournament at Monte Carlo ended Feb. 18, with a victory for Maroczy, who scored 7½ wins against 2½ games lost, the record being as follows:

Player.	Won.	Lost.	Player.	Won.	Lost.
Maroczy	7½	2½	Marco	3	7
Schlechter	7	3	Swiderski	2	8
Marshall	6½	3½
Gunsberg	4	6	Totals	30	30

A "Rice Gambit" tournament followed the annual masters' tournament at Monte Carlo, and the series resulted in a tie between Marshall and Swiderski, which was never played off. The record was as follows:

Player.	Won.	Lost.	Player.	Won.	Lost.
Marshall	6	4	Marco	5	5
Swiderski	6	4	Scheve	4½	5½
Mieses	5½	4½	Fleischmann.	3	7

The "Rice Gambit," to demonstrate the soundness of which this tournament was held, proved victorious in fourteen games won by White, against 12 games won by Black, and 4 games drawn.

The International Chess Masters' Association held a tournament at Cambridge Springs, Penn., in the spring, which ended in May with the following record:

Player.	Won.	Lost.	Player.	Won.	Lost.
Marshall	13	2	Fox	6½	8½
Janowski	11	4	Teichmann.	6½	8½
Lasker	11	4	Lawrence	5½	9½
Marco	9	6	Napier	5½	9½
Showalter	8½	6½	Barry	5	10
Schlechter	7½	7½	Hodges	5	10
Tschigorin	7½	7½	Delmar	4½	10½
Mieses	7	8
Pillsbury	7	8	Totals	120	120

W. E. Napier, the young Brooklyn expert, who is English by birth, took part in the English championship tournament of the British Chess Association at Hastings, England, in September, and tied with H. E. Atkins for first honors, each having won 9 games and lost 2.

Intercollegiate Matches.

The twelfth annual intercollegiate tournament was held in New-York, Dec. 27 to 30, 1903, and resulted in a victory for Harvard, with Yale second, by the following score:

	Won.	Lost.		Won.	Lost.
Harvard	9	3	Columbia	4½	7½
Yale	7	5	Princeton	3½	8½

In this league Harvard won the championship in 1894, 1895, 1896, 1897, 1898, 1899 and 1903; Columbia won in 1892, 1892, 1900 and 1902, and Yale won in 1901.

The Triangular Intercollegiate tournament was held in New-York, Jan. 1 and 2. The championship was won again by Cornell, with Pennsylvania second and Brown third, as follows:

	Won.	Lost.		Won.	Lost.
Cornell	5½	2½	U. of Penn..	3½	4½
Brown	3	5

Cornell won the championship of this league in 1900, 1901, 1902 and 1903, and Pennsylvania in 1899.

The representative players of the two intercollegiate leagues held an interleague match in New-York, Dec. 31, which resulted in a victory for the Cornell-Pennsylvania-Brown players over those representing Harvard, Yale, Columbia and Princeton by 3½ games to 2½.

BILLIARDS.

Best Performances on Record.

"Straight rail" billiards (with three balls)—Highest run made in match play (on 5x10 table), 1,531 points, by Maurice Vignaux, at Paris, 1880. Highest average for match play, 333⅓, by Jacob Schaefer, at Chicago, 1879.

Cushion carroms—Highest run made in tournament play, 85 points, by Frank C. Ives, at Boston, 1896. Highest average for tournament play, 10 (for 200 points), by Jacob Schaefer, at Chicago, 1887.

Fourteen-inch balkline — Highest run with "anchor nurse" allowed, 566 points, by Jacob Schaefer, at New-York, 1893. Highest run with "anchor nurse" barred 359 points, by Frank C. Ives, at Chicago, 1894. Highest average with "anchor nurse" allowed, 100, by Jacob Schaefer, at New-York, 1893, and by Frank C. Ives, at Chicago, 1894. Highest average with "anchor nurse" barred, 63 2-10, by Frank C. Ives, at New-York, 1894.

Highest amateur record run for tournament games, 139 points, by W. C. McCreery, at New-York, 1899. Highest amateur average for tournament games, 18 12-16, by Wilson P. Foss, at New-York, 1903.

Eighteen-inch balkline—Highest run for tournament play (with five shots allowed in "anchor spaces"), 290 points, by Frank C. Ives, at New-York, 1896. Highest run with "anchor nurse" barred, 200 points, by W. H. Sutton, at Paris, 1903. Highest average for tournament games (with five shots allowed in "anchor spaces"), 50, by Frank C. Ives, at New-York, 1896. Highest average for tournament games with "anchor nurse" barred, 40, by Jacob Schaefer, at Chicago, 1898.

Championship Matches of 1904.

There were no important professional tournaments during the season of 1903-4. The decision of the French courts over the dispute that arose from the last big professional tournament in Paris had awarded the world's championship at 18-inch balkline to Maurice Vignaux, and George Sutton, the American, challenged the Frenchman to a match for the title. This was divided into two games and played off in Paris on January 29 and March 4. In the first game the play was with two shots allowed in balk, and in the second with only one shot in balk.

Vignaux won the first game by a narrow margin, while in the second Vignaux was again the winner by 500 to 387. In the second game, with only one shot in balk, the Frenchman averaged 12 32-39 with a high run of 89, while Sutton's highest run was 79.

Wilson P. Foss, the American amateur champion, challenged M. Rerolle, of Paris, the French and Continental amateur champion, and an international championship match was played in Paris, March 29, 30 and 31. To the surprise of all, the American rushed off with a big lead, the score of the first evening's play being 400 against 338 for Rerolle, with high runs of 39, 73 and 53 for Foss, and 61, 34 and 129 for the Frenchman. In the second evening's play Foss increased his lead by 93 points, scoring 400 to 307 for Rerolle, the best runs being 39, 74 and 38 for the American, and 42, 54 and 51 for Rerolle, and the totals being Foss, 800; Rerolle, 645. The third night's play proved to be a Waterloo for the American, for the Frenchman finally won the match although far behind when the play began. The score for the last night was 555 against 353 for Foss, making the final totals 1,200 for Rerolle and 1,153 for the American champion. Rerolle's best runs for the last evening were 94 and 48.

The annual championship tournament of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players was held in February, at the Hanover Club, Brooklyn. This resulted in a tie for first honors between Ferdinand Poggenburg and Dr. L. L. Mial, both of New-York, for first honors, each having won five games and lost one. The record follows:

Player and home.	Won.	Lost.	High G'nd Run.	av.
F. Poggenburg, N. Y..	5	1	73	8.56
Dr. L. L. Mial, N. Y...	5	1	73	8.64

J. DeM. Smith, St. Louis	1	5	35	5.43
H. Marcotte, Montreal	1	5	35	4.64

The tie between Poggenburg and Mial was played off in a special game on February 13, in which Poggenburg won by 300 to 185, giving him the championship title for 1904.

Championship Races of 1904.

The annual championship swimming races of the Amateur Athletic Union were held at St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 5, 6 and 7, in connection with the World's Fair, and resulted as follows:

50 yards (straightaway)—Won by Zoltan Holmay, of Hungary; time, 0:28.

100 yards (straightaway)—Won by Zoltan Holmay, of Hungary; time, 1:02⅘.

220 yards (1 turn)—Won by C. M. Daniels, of New-York A. C.; time, 2:44⅘.

440 yards (3 turns)—Won by C. M. Daniels, of New-York A. C.; time, 6:16⅖.

880 yards (7 turns)—Won by Emil Rausch, of Germany; time, 13:11⅘.

One mile (15 turns)—Won by Emil Rausch, of Germany; time, 27:15⅕.

The figures for the 220 yards are a new world's record, and those for the 50, 100 and 880 yards and for one mile are new American records. The figures for the 440 yards would have created a new world's record had they been authenticated by the proper number of timers. Only two watches were held on this race.

THE RUSSO-JAPANESE WAR.

Hostilities between Japan and Russia began without formal notice on February 8, 1904, when a Japanese torpedo squadron made a night attack on the Russian ships of war lying in the roadstead outside Port Arthur. The immediate cause of the break in friendly relations between the two powers was a dispute over Russian concessions in Corea and Russia's general attitude toward the kingdom of Corea. But the real cause lay deeper—in Japan's determination to force a settlement of the Manchurian question and to establish more definitely her status as a factor in Asiatic politics and Asiatic diplomacy. Japan's plans for war had been carefully matured, while Russia had, apparently, neglected to arm herself for an early conflict. The first year of the war found Japan acting, therefore, everywhere on the offensive and Russia forced everywhere to accept the defensive.

On the sea Japanese supremacy was marked during this period. On land the success of the Japanese arms was less pronounced and less brilliant.

Naval Operations.

In the night attack on the Russian Port Arthur fleet on February 8 three vessels were torpedoed and seriously damaged—the battleships Czarevitch and Retvizan and the cruiser Pallada. All were subsequently repaired, however, in the inner harbor at Port Arthur. The Russian cruiser Variag and the gunboat Korietz were trapped in the harbor of Chemulpo by a Japanese squadron under Rear Admiral Uriu. The Variag was challenged to come out and fight, and to avoid being attacked in neutral waters, where other shipping might be damaged, undertook a duel with the Japanese fleet. After being crippled by the Japanese fire, the Variag returned to Chemulpo and was blown up by her crew. The Korietz was also blown up. Admiral Togo, who commanded the fleet blockading Port Arthur, made some long range attacks on that fortress early in February, and near the end of February, and again in March, sent in a number of fireships and transports to seal the channel. But all attempts to bottle the harbor failed.

In April, after the arrival of Admiral Makaroff, the Russian fleet made several sorties, but no general engagement occurred. On April 13, while manœuvring outside, Admiral Makaroff's flagship, the battleship Petropavlovsk, struck a floating mine and sank almost instantly, with virtually all on board. The Grand Duke Boris, who was on the battleship, was one of a handful of men who escaped. Vasili Verestchagin, the Russian painter, who was a guest of Admiral Makaroff, went down with the ship.

A month later Admiral Togo lost the battleship Hatsuse through an encounter with a floating mine and the cruiser Yoshino through a collision. The Russian cruiser Boyarin had struck a mine off Port Arthur a little earlier and had gone to the bottom.

No serious sea fighting occurred off Port Arthur till August 10, when the Russian fleet made a sortie and engaged the Japanese. Most of the Russian ships returned to their home port after the fight. But the battleship Czarevitch, badly injured, put in at Tsing-Chau and was there dismantled. The cruiser Askold reached Shanghai and was dismantled. The cruiser Novik, after touching at Tsing-Chau, ran north for Vladivostok. After putting in at Korsakovsk, Saghalien Island, she was overtaken by two Japanese cruisers, the Chitose and the Tsushima. A battle ensued, and the Novik, after being disabled, was abandoned by her crew and sunk. The cruiser Diana reported at Saigon, China, and was also laid up and dismantled. The fleet left in Port Arthur was reduced to the battleships Retvizan, Peresviet, Sevastopol, Pobieda and Poltava, and the cruisers Bayan and Pallada.

At the outbreak of the war a Russian squadron of four ships, the armored cruisers Rossia, Rurik and Gromoboi and the cruiser Bogatyr, lay in the harbor of Vladivostok. The town was bombarded by the Japanese in February, but was never blockaded. The Russian cruisers made two dashes during the spring into Corean waters and one cruise down the east coast of Japan, sinking and capturing transports and merchant ships. On August 14, while on another cruise, the Rurik, Rossia and Gromoboi were overtaken and attacked off the Corean coast by two squadrons of six ships operating under Admiral Kamimura. The Rurik was sunk, and the other two Russians escaped to Vladivostok badly damaged. The Bogatyr had earlier run on the rocks near Vladivostok, and was laid up in that port for repairs.

After many delays the Russian Admiralty dispatched a squadron from St. Petersburg for the Far East. The first division, under Admiral Rogestvensky, consisted of the battleships Kniaz Suvaroff, Navarin, Sissoi Veliky, Borodino, Alexander III, Orel and Osliabia, the armored cruisers Admiral Nakhimoff, Dimitri Donskoi, Aurora, Almaz, Jemtchug and Svetland, and a complement of transports, colliers, destroyers and torpedo boats. It left Libau on October 16.

The Baltic Squadron.

Passing through the North Sea on October 21, a part of this division fired on a fleet of English fishing smacks, acting under the belief, according to Admiral Rogestvensky's statements, that Japanese torpedo boats were attempting to sink the Russians. The British government made a vigorous demand for reparation, and after protracted negotiations, it was agreed to appoint a joint commission to investigate. Two English fishermen were killed by the Russian fire.

A second squadron sailed from Libau on November 16. It consisted of the cruisers Oleg, Izmurud, Rion and Dnieper, the auxiliary cruisers Kuban, Orel and Terek, and five destroyers.

One part of the first division took the route around Cape Horn and the other, with the second division, used the Suez Canal and Red Sea route. This section, commanded by Vice-Admiral Voelkersam, coaled at the island of Crete and sailed for Port Said on November 21. About the end of November it traversed the Suez Canal and on December 2 was sighted off Perim, in the Strait of Bab-el-Mandeb. It was headed toward French Somaliland, where the second division was to overtake it. A part of this second division passed through the Mediterranean early in December. The main body of the first section of the first division, going down the Atlantic coast, was reported on December 14 at Angrapaquena, a part of the lower part of German West Africa. Some advance ships of this division reached Cape Town on December 12. The different sections of the two divisions are expected to unite in the Indian Ocean some time in January.

Land Operations.

The Japanese land operations began with the occupation of Corea. No resistance was offered by the Coreans, or by the Russians, who held the line of the Yalu River weakly, with a few advance posts beyond it. On the approach of spring a Japanese army under General Kuroki moved north to force a passage across the Yalu. After some skirmishing in front of Antung the Japanese (April 29-May 2) crossed the river higher up and turned the Russian left flank. General Sassulitch, who commanded the Russian forces, failed to extricate his left promptly and suffered some losses in guns and men on the retreat. The relative strength of the Japanese and Russians at the Yalu was about 40,000 or 50,000 to 10,000 or 12,000. The Russian losses were probably 2,000 and the Japanese 1,000 to 1,500. General Kuropatkin, the commander in chief of the Russian forces, reached Moukden on March 27. He gave his first attention to provisioning and equipping Port Arthur for a siege. He then made Liao-Yang his first base, expecting to meet a Japanese advance from three directions—from the Yalu, from the coast north and east of Port Arthur and from New-Chwang.

While Kuroki, after May 2, worked slowly through the mountainous region between the Yalu and Liao-Yang, the Japanese made preparations to support him from the south and also to isolate and invest Port Arthur. The railroad into the Regent's Sword Peninsula was cut about the middle of May, and by May 26 Japanese troops under General Oku had obtained a footing across the peninsula, having won the battles of Kin-Chow and Nan-Shan. The Port Arthur garrison under General Stoessel retired to the outer perimeter of the city's defences. On May 30 the Japanese occupied Dalny, which had been abandoned by the Russians.

Early in June General Kuropatkin ordered a reconnoissance in force toward Port Arthur by a column under General Stackelberg. General Oku moved north and the two armies met on June 14-15 at Wafangkao and Telissu, on the line of the railroad, General Stackelberg was outnumbered and outmanœuvred, and was forced to retire toward Liao-Yang. The losses on each side were probably about 6,000 or 8,000. New-Chwang was abandoned by the Russians on July 25 and was immediately occupied by the Japanese as an additional base.

During July and August Kuroki continued to press slowly forward from the east and armies under Generals Oku and Nodzu pushed north, marching parallel with the Manchurian railway. General Kuropatkin held extended positions in a semicircle from northeast to southwest of Liao-Yang, and slowly drew in his forces as the Japanese advanced. Between August 25 and September 5 the Japanese forces attacked him in his main position about his base, Oku and Nodzu making fierce frontal assaults from the south, while Kuroki engaged in a wide turning movement north to encircle Kuropatkin and cut his line of retreat to Moukden. To meet this turning movement Kuropatkin withdrew the bulk of his army from Liao-Yang across the Tai-Tse River, intending to isolate and crush Kuroki. But his attack on Kuroki failed, and he then decided to evacuate Liao-Yang and to retire toward Moukden. The fighting had lasted five days and was exceedingly bloody. The Japanese attacked intrenched positions and suffered heavy losses. Though attaining their tactical object, they paid an excessive cost for it; for the result was in every respect indecisive. The Japanese losses before Liao-Yang were probably nearly 30,000. The Russians probably lost something under 20,000. The Japanese had about 200,000 men in the field to perhaps 165,000 Russians.

General Kuropatkin fell back to Moukden and there reinforced and rested his army. On October 4 he began a forward offensive movement, which resulted in another week-long struggle, from October 12 to October 19, on the line of the Shake River. The results of the fighting were again highly indecisive, both sides claiming the advantage. Each probably lost about 25,000 men.

Siege of Port Arthur.

The siege of Port Arthur made slow progress. The Japanese resorted to storming tactics at the outset, but suffered staggering losses and finally settled down to an inch-by-inch investment. Between May 30 and November 30 the besiegers took many outlying Russian positions, but they were never able to drive an attack home. It is estimated that the Japanese sacrificed 30,000 to 40,000 men before Port Arthur in those five months.

Though failing to take the fortress by assault, the Japanese persistently broke down one by one its outer lines of defence. Their efforts and sacrifices were in a measure rewarded when early in December they got possession of 203-Metre Hill, the highest point to the westward of the city, from which guns can reach nearly every part of the inner harbor. Mounting heavy naval artillery on this hill, the Japanese directed their fire on the disabled Russian warships anchored in the inner part. The commander of the naval battery on 203-Metre Hill reported on December 8: "The battleship Pobieda's middle funnel is seriously damaged. The vessel is listing aft and is submerged to the stern walk. The battleship Peresviet's upper deck is submerged. The battleship Retvizan is listing to the starboard, and her upper deck is nearly submerged. The protected cruiser Pallada, which is lying between the Retvizan and the mine ship Amur, cannot be distinctly seen, but there seems to be a slight sinking astern. The armored cruiser Bayan is now burning to her foredeck."

On December 12 he again reported: "Four Russian battleships, two cruisers, one gunboat and one torpedo store ship, lying in Port Arthur harbor, are completely disabled. There is no further necessity for bombarding the Russian naval force. Am now engaged shelling the town of Port Arthur, which is being heavily damaged."

The battleship Sevastopol, to escape the Japanese fire, moved out into the outer harbor. Japanese torpedo boats made night attacks on her on December 15, and she was reported to have been seriously damaged. The Japanese lost one torpedo boat. The Japanese issued this statement of the result of the attack: "Our torpedo flotilla attacked the Russian battleship Sevastopol several times during a heavy snowstorm on the 14th and 15th. The observation station reports the bow of the Sevastopol sunk, with torpedoes immersed. This proves that she is completely disabled. Thus by the loss of the only remaining ship of the Russian fleet at Port Arthur, the whole Russian fleet at Port Arthur has been either destroyed or disabled."

On November 30, while off Port Arthur, the Japanese cruiser Saiyen struck a floating mine and sank, with Captain Tajima and 38 men. Fifteen officers and 175 men were rescued.

No serious military operations took place in Manchuria after the battles on the Shake River. General Kaulbars, commanding the Third Russian Army dispatched to the front, arrived at Harbin on December 15.

HEIGHT OF FAMOUS MOUNTAINS.

The height of few mountains has been ascertained with surveying instruments. Those which any one actually ascends are usually measured by the barometer, which is not infallible, and which at different times may give dissimilar results. The elevation of other mountains, which no explorer has yet climbed, is estimated by persons who scrutinized them from adjacent peaks. Here, again, equally good authorities disagree. Besides, in some instances—Ararat and Sinai, for instance—modern geographers cannot with certainty identify mountains of great historic interest. In a table like the following, therefore, it is impossible to do more than closely approximate the real facts. But Longmans, Green & Co.'s Gazetteer, which has been used in the main, is probably as safe a standard as can be found, although at the time when the last edition came out (1895) Fitzgerald had not ascended Aconcagua, the Duke of the Abruzzi had not visited Mount St. Elias, and Mount McKinley, now believed to be the loftiest peak in North America, had not even been discovered:

*Part of Arapahoe County in 1900.

VOTE ON STATE TICKET, 1904.

The declaration of the vote on the State ticket in Colorado has been delayed by an investigation, undertaken by the courts, of election frauds in Denver. Before these frauds were exposed and in part corrected, the vote for Governor stood apparently: James H. Peabody (R.), 106,329; Alva Adams (D.), 117,221; Herbert A. N. Wilson (Pro.), 2,715; A. H. Floaten (Soc.), 2,498; J. A. Knight (Soc. Lab.), 230; James Merwin (Pop.), 289. The vote of Pueblo County is estimated in this statement. The recount in Denver has so far greatly reduced the apparent plurality for Adams.

This recount will not affect the title of the other Republican candidates for State office, whose pluralities on the prima facie count range from 28,500 for James Cowie, for Secretary of State, to 4,500 for Miss Katherine L. Craig, for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The State officers, except Governor, elected are:

Lieutenant Governor—Jesse P. McDonald (R.).

Secretary of State—James Cowie (R.).

Auditor—Alfred E. Dent (R.).

Treasurer—John A. Holmberg (R.).

Attorney General—Nathan C. Miller (R.).

Superintendent of Public Instruction—Miss Katherine L. Craig (R.).

Regents of State University—Thomas D. Band (R.); Harold D. Thompson (R.).

VOTE ON STATE TICKET, 1903.

Supreme Court Judge—John Campbell (R.), 45,689; Adair Wilson (D.), 38,103; Frank W. Owens (Pop.), 9,599; Channing Sweet (Soc.), 2,790; T. A. Knight (Soc. Lab.), 865.

VOTE ON STATE TICKET, 1904.

The canvass of the vote for President and for Representatives in Congress was made promptly. But the canvass of the vote for State officers was greatly delayed. The officials chosen on Nov. 8 were:

Governor—Henry Roberts (R.).

Lieutenant Governor—Rollin S. Woodruff (R.).

Secretary of State—Theodore Bodewein (R.).

Treasurer—James F. Walsh (R.).

Controller—Ashael W. Mitchell (R.).

All received pluralities of 30,000 or over. For official returns on State ticket, if any, see under "Addenda and Errata."

Circulars can be mailed in these envelopes apparently SEALED with ONE CENT stamp. Such circulars will be OPENED and READ by the recipient; ordinary open envelopes are recognized as circulars and often thrown away unread. You will insure the opening of your circulars and also save $10.00 on each thousand by the use of the "Neostyle Sealed-Yet-Open" envelope.

The Neostyle Envelope is the only envelope which can be used for third class matter without breaking the seal, and which has the sanction of the P. O. Dept. of the U. S.

CAUTION ! ! !

The trade and consumers are cautioned against selling or using any "Sealed-Yet-Open" envelopes infringing the "Neostyle patent." Injunctions with costs and damages have already been granted by the U. S. Court against two manufacturers and several other infringement suits are pending, and all infringers will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

NEW

MOST ATTRACTIVE TERRITORY ON THE ATLANTIC COAST.

A FEW OF THE REASONS WHY:

ITEMS IN GENERAL—250 miles of coast line on the Atlantic Ocean and Long Island Sound. Magnificent beaches and sloping uplands to the ocean shore. Bluffs, hills and forest lands on the Sound shore. Unequaled opportunities in the rolling central section for farming and poultry raising.

HOTEL SITES, INDUSTRIAL LOCATIONS AND INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITIES—Not only to the west end, near the great cities of New-York and Brooklyn, but to Montauk at the extreme end—hotel sites are many with attractions varied to a striking degree.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES—A territory without peer for yachting, canoeing, bathing, fishing, hunting, golfing, riding, driving, automobiling or cycling.

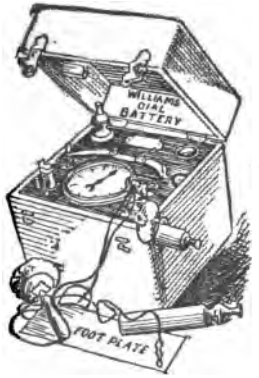
ELECTRICITY IS NATURE'S GREATEST TONIC



But to get the best results from electrical treatment you must have the right kind of an instrument and apply it properly. Our batteries are constructed from the best materials by expert mechanics. They are operated by dry cells, always ready for use, are very compact and durable and do not get out of order. They are used and recommended by hundreds of physicians. With each one of our batteries we send gratis a copy of "Suggestions and Directions for Treating Disease with Faradic Currents of Electricity," by J. J. Mackey, D. D. This little book gives full and explicit instructions for using the batteries at home. Paralysis, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Nervousness, etc., readily yield to the currents of electricity generated by our batteries applied under Dr. Mackey's methods. A mild current of faradic electricity, applied to the scalp, will remove dandruff, keep the scalp healthy and clean and promote the growth of the hair. It will very often instantly relieve nervous headache.

What WE OFFER YOU NEED:

HOME Medical, Marriage Mothers GUIDES;

SELF-INSTRUCTORS, SAFE ADVISERS, LIFE PRESERVERS.

IF YOU HAVE A LIFE TO LIVE, A WIFE TO LOVE, A CHILD TO RAISE, YOU WANT THEM

The First Book on Health and Disease, with Recipes, contains all that any one needs to know about right and wrong ways of living, the causes of disease, their prevention and cure, the symptoms and nature of common, chronic diseases, and the simplest, practicable, "common-sense" methods of cure, including even "Christian Science," and all hygienic resources, mental or physical. Over 250 "tried and true" recipes for all sorts of common complaints are alone worth the price of the book. The text is well illustrated with 260 clear-cut pictures, in addition to over showing the blood and nerves; the eye; the vital organs and their relations to special (pelvic) parts, skin, parasitic, venereal and throat diseases; varicocele, etc. These must be seen to be appreciated, they are the finest ever placed in a popular work—accurate, clear, and beautiful. Remember, too, this is a complete, unemasculated book. It ignores non-essential parts, propensities, vices, or errors of mankind, sheds light of truth on dark places, and enables the reader to know himself all through, and escape the pitfalls of ignorance. The chapters on prostitution, sexual isolation, unhappy marriage, contagious diseases, impotency, barrenness, "perverts," etc., are as Dr. Eadon well says, "original, startling, and very instructive, priceless in value, and calculated to regenerate society." Every sufferer from disease will find help somewhere in the 850 pages of this unequalled home counsellor, and to many persons it will easily save from $10 to $100 yearly.

These two books are companion volumes of about the same size, but each is complete in itself, useful and interesting, with or without the other. Families really ought to have both books. Individuals may care for only one of them. Try one and you'll surely want the other also.

The Second Book is Plain Home Talk, by Dr. Foote, together with Tocology for Mothers, by Dr. Westland. This is the book for every one who is married, or ever expects to be. It is, in short, plain talk about the sexual relations of mankind, marriage, its history in all countries, curious varieties and experiments, mistakes, reforms, and possible improvements in marriage. The opening chapters on the sexual system, and reproduction, present a fine series of

to illustrate "The Origin of Life," man from the egg, foetal development, or life before birth, and the "breast signs of pregnancy" (very useful). The uses and abuses of the great generative function are treated frankly and fully, with the hope of teaching "how to be happy though married;" and the later "essays for married people" present original ideas on sleeping apart, excess, moderation, jealousy, sexual indifference, confinence, contraception, signs of pregnancy, food during pregnancy, child-making, barrenness, excessive child-bearing, early marriage, control of sex, etc., etc. All who hesitate to consult home physicians about delicate questions will find them answered plainly in this work. Dr. Foote's celebrated book, revised and enlarged, is alone worth the price, but to cover the needs of mothers and instruct them how to bear children safely, with least possible discomfort and pain, and how to care for and raise fine children, Dr. Westland's thorough and practical Tocology for Mothers (350 pages) is bound in with Dr. Foote's book, making two in one, and the latter (besides numerous illustrations for the text) has a series of appropriate and pleasing pictures of the important events in maternity, by well-known artists, in the form of

If used within six months.

(Tribune Almanac 1905.)

The fair retail price of these fine new books is $1 50 each, low enough for well-made cloth-bound books so richly illustrated; but to introduce them quickly we offer the first editions thus: Use this "Clip-Slip" as 50 cents and send $1 for whichever book you want, or we accept the "Clip-Slip" for $1 if you order both books at once, and send $2. The books are large and heavy, and will be sent in cardboard box by express, unless you wish to send 16 cents each to prepay mailing.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS ABOUT

"CAREERS FOR THE COMING MEN."

"There are chapters on teaching, medicine, publishing, banking, the stage, railroading, the church, authorship and other fields of endeavor, all written by men well qualified to set an ambitious youth in the right path. These papers are brief, comprehensive, interesting and instructive. The book cannot but commend itself to parents of sons."—New-York Tribune.

"Series of practical discussions by noted men in various professions, telling of the advantages and disadvantages of each. Boys will learn of the difficulties to be encountered and the benefits to be derived from honest endeavor."—Kansas City World.

"Obviously the men who are best equipped to give advice to our sons are those who have gained the highest success themselves."—Boston Times.

"It is a book worth reading."—Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

"Many boys, with all the attributes of ability, energy, pluck, are misdirected in their choice of a career. The aim of this compendium of suggestion is to aid them in determining what calling is best suited to them."—Buffalo Courier.

"A good book to put in the hands of the youth who stands on the threshold of life."—Newark Evening News.

"Every young man should read this book—read it well, and think seriously over what its pages and its stories tell."—Providence News.

"The sketches in this collection give representative names of men prominent in the great professions. . . . The book is practically a symposium of what may actually be regarded as the equivalent of personal interviews accorded to an anxious guardian or an eager youth."—Denver Times.

"The writers are men whose right to speak with authority is unquestioned, and who, through their own experience, are well qualified to give counsel."—Detroit Free Press.

"No single volume issued in many years deserves such unqualified commendation. This work should be in every home, and should be a text book for innumerable ambitious young men and women. No youth, ambitious, anxious to rise, should neglect the reading and the absorbing study of this volume. The help to be derived from a close application to its interesting text is simply incalculable."—New-York American.

"It is sometimes difficult to estimate the value of the experience of others in life, yet there are information and advice in these pages that ought to be of some account."—Buffalo Express.

"Not to every parent is given the clarity of vision which will enable him to perceive the unwisdom of his boy's choice, or, perceiving it, the ability to lead him gently to the path which it were best he should take. Careers for the Coming Men is designed as a guide to supply the needed wisdom and suggestions."—St. Louis Republic.

"To young men selecting their life work this book will be found most helpful. Handsomely bound, and contains halftone portraits of the editors."—New-York World.

"The letters were written for the benefit of young men and their parents."—Louisville Post.

"All the papers are written with a view to help young men who are just entering life to choose wisely the line of work that they will pursue. The character of the writers of these articles makes any comment unnecessary."—Baltimore Herald.

Glenn's Sulphur Soap

If you haven't used Glenn's Sulphur Soap, try it.

No other soap has the same sweetening, healing and disinfecting properties.

It does not sweeten by covering up odors as scented soaps do. It makes the skin pure and odorless because sulphur disinfects.

It prevents skin eruptions; cures chafings and dandruff.

No soap is recommended by physicians so constantly as Glenn's Sulphur Soap.

For sale at all drug stores or mailed on receipt of 30c. by The Chas. N. Crittenton Company, 115 Fulton Street, New York.
